

PRONOUNCED SANITARY CAMPUS PRINT PLANT IS ASKED BY REGENTS

The following over the signature of a recognized authority, is of interest to every student who eats butter:

"I find that the Eugene Creamery is using every precaution to protect its butter from the danger of contamination. The cream is thoroughly pasteurized, and the washing is with boiled water, and all apparatus and utensils sterilized with live steam.—ALBERT R. SWEETSER.

We have been advertising that "Blue Bell" butter is pure, but that of itself can hardly be accepted as conclusive. Professor Sweetser spent much time inspecting our plant and our process from the standpoint of a thorough, scientific man. The fact that he volunteered his approval should satisfy every fair minded person that we are really doing what we advertise. The fact is, we are doing as much to insure the purity of our product as is being done by the faculty to protect the health of the student body. What we have shown Professor Sweetser, we are just as ready to show you. If you are interested in what you eat, come and see for yourself. Then specify "Blue Bell" when you order of your grocer.

Want $8,000 to Establish Shop for Varsity Work

If the legislature now in session grants the University the complete appropriation asked for, a printing plant will be one of the improvements on the campus.

At present, all University bulletins and publications are sent to Salem to the State Printer. The state law prohibits having them printed by local printing houses, unless the State Printer lets a special subcontract for the purpose. This cumbersome system necessarily entails an unpleasant amount of delay, as well as added expense.

If the appropriation is granted, and a printing plant is established on the campus, it would be possible to do all student work, and the added facilities would make possible a daily paper. A course in journalism would also be put in the curriculum, allowing students to obtain practical experience in every line of journalism. This would fit them for journalistic careers as soon as they leave college.

A printing plant of this nature has proved most successful in the University of Washington.

The Squaw Man is booked for the Eugene Theater, Tuesday, January 31st.

PAUL REID '08 SEES A SNAKE OF SOME SIZE

Boa Constrictor Very Nearly Ends Career of Athlete

In a letter of recent date to his brother, Paul W. Reid, '09, describes a thrilling experience in South America with a giant boa constrictor. Mr. Reid is employed by the Brazilian government constructing a transmission line on the Madeira and Mamora railroad from Brazil into Bolivia.

During construction work one day, Mr. Reid, with his native laborers, encountered a large snake, which disputed the right of way. Reid ordered his men to get clubs with which to beat the snake, but they fled in terror, leaving him to fight it out. Not realizing that he was alone, Reid fought the monster single handed, beating it over the head with his club. This did not seem to harm the snake, but rather made it more vicious. Attacking Reid, coiled itself about his body and was crushing him, when another electrician who had heard the fight ran up and shot it.

Mr. Reid is superintendent of construction of the electric department of the railroad, and is located at Porto Velho, Brazil. This place is about two thousand miles from the mouth of the Amazon, and practically the whole distance is travelled by water. At present, ocean steamers navigate the river for about one-half the distance, and river boats go the remaining 1,000 miles. Mr. Reid has been employed in Portland by the electric company, but two years ago an offer from the government took him to Brazil. The upperclassmen at the University remember Reid as one of the best 440 men Oregon ever turned out.

DRAMATIC CLUB HOLDS ITS REGULAR MEETING

Several Matters of Import are Considered and Settled

At a regular meeting of the Dramatic Club last Thursday evening, it was determined to give the boys of the University another tryout for places in the club, the tryout to take place shortly after examinations. It is hoped to secure a large number of enthusiastic contestants.

It was also decided to put on the sketch, "Playing the Game," written by Dean Collins, before exams if possible, and to give another playlet some time about the last of February or the first of March. The cast for this second production has not been selected as yet, but will be announced in the near future. A general admission of ten cents per will be charged for these sketches.

Another item of interest is the fixing of the date for the big play given annually by the Dramatic Club, which has been set for the Thursday of Junior Week End. Early next semester a suitable play will be selected and the cast picked, so that plenty of time will be given for the perfection of a finished production.

Track training at Stanford commenced Monday. The training season opened with a monster rally last Friday to work up enthusiasm in that line of sport, and to induce more candidates to turn out for training. Track prospects at Stanford are not very bright this season, and it will take the utmost efforts to get a team in shape for the big California meet in April.

LOCAL ALUMNAE WOMEN MEET AT DELTA HOUSE

The local association of University of Oregon alumnae met Friday afternoon at the Delta Delta house.

President Campbell addressed the meeting upon the advisability and the ways and means of raising a student's loan fund, and upon means for lowering the cost of living at the University. Light refreshments were served by Miss Hair and Miss Kuykendall. The next meeting will be held at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

They have been having pretty high times along the river banks lately.

Tom Hoover was married recently at Fossil, Oregon, to Miss Bessie Rinehart. The bride's brother, Lester Rinehart, ex-'12, was best man, and Miss Mary Steiwer was bridesmaid. Both gentlemen are members of the local chapter of Alpha Tau Omega. Mr. Rinehart is taking a course in pharmacy at W. S. C. this year.

Bill Fiser will return tonight to re-enter college.
