

NEW MEN CONTEST IN ANNUAL INDOOR MEET

KELLY IS VICTORIOUS OVER FAST GREEK GRAPPLER

LAMM COLLIDES WITH BARREL IN DIVE

Hayward Gets Line on Frosh Track Material by Contests in Gymnasium

An indoor track meet was pulled off Wednesday night in the Gym, in which, with the exception of Kellogg, only new men took part. The obstacle race was won by Robinson, with Skei a close second. Lamm seriously injured the barrel in making the tunnel dive, but finished third regardless of the handicap.

The main wrestling match between Kelly and Gerogas, the Greek, was won by the former in two straight falls. This was the classiest exhibition of the evening, and both men put up a good scrap for the grappling honors. Kelly was in much better condition than the Greek, as was shown by the fact that the first bout was the faster of the two. Kelly took the first fall in eight minutes on an arm lock and an off Nelson. The second fall he secured after twelve minutes of wrestling on a combination toe hold and arm lock.

The results of the races were as follows: 25 yard dash, Ford, Fowler, Hudson; 300 yard dash, Oldfield, Mercer and Bower; 100 yard dash, Williamson, Ford and Powell; 660 yard dash, Mercer, Haugen and King; high jump, Hawkins, Brooks and Oleson; high dive, McCornack, Oleson and Otten; long dive, Otten Oleson and McCornack; pole vault, Robinson and McCornack; shot put, Kellogg, Grout and Ferguson; obstacle race, Robinson, Skei and Williamson.

In wrestling, Washburne won from Ryder, two straight; Hawkins won from Oleson, two straight; Robinson won from King, two straight; and Kelly won from Gerogas, two straight.

VARSITY BOOK STORE DOES BIG BUSINESS

Last September the University of Oregon started its own book store, with the Librarian and student help in charge.

So far the store has handled between $7,000 and $8,000 worth of text books to the satisfaction of both faculty and students.

Mr. Douglas, the Librarian, in speaking of the matter, said: "The idea in starting the store was to solve the difficulties of the professors in securing the text books which they needed promptly and without the usual delay. We already had utilities for getting in touch with the publishing companies, and it made the work in that respect less trouble, though of course it means added work for the Librarian. We hope by the end of the year to come out with a balance on the side of the book store."

"At the present supplies, such as pencils, note-books, etc., are not handled here. The down town merchants wished to still handle those supplies. And I think being located as it is on the campus, the book store fills a needed want."

The women of the University of Minnesota have started a campaign to secure the right of voting in the athletic association elections.

The staff of the University of Washington Daily will present the play "Gentleman Joe" in the near future.

DOUGHNUT COUNCIL WILL MEET SUNDAY

A special meeting of the Doughnut Board of Directors has been called for Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the Emerald room at the boys' dormitory. The question of admitting the Oregon Club to the League will be taken up again and discussed. Also the question of where and when the games will be played will receive attention. All members of the board are requested to be present.

LYNCH LIKES PROSPECTS

Says Oregon Men Show Up Well—Will Pick Two Teams Monday

Paul Lynch, of Syracuse, Oregon's new baseball coach, is enthusiastic over the prospects for a winning team this year. When interviewed this afternoon, Coach Lynch said: "I like the way the boys meet the ball on the nose, and I am going to exert all my efforts to develop a hard hitting club. I am not yet entirely familiar with my men, but for so early in the season they certainly look good. Because of the number of enthusiasts who are turning out, the squad is still a trifle unwieldy, but I will cut it down to about twenty-two men Monday afternoon. I intend to work a first and second team, but will not attempt to line them up for a game before next Saturday."

"For the battery, the material turning out is good, but there are not enough men trying out in that department. For pitchers, I am trying Cozens, Peet and Houck; for catchers, Taylor, Broughton and Word.

"It is still a little early to give any favorable or unfavorable individual mention, but I am well satisfied."

ISSUE IN JUNIOR WEEK

Birdie Wise Appoints Staff Members for Each Class—Friday of Week End the Date

"The Women's Edition of the Emerald will be ready Friday of Junior Week End." These are the words of Editor in Chief Birdie Wise, thus settling definitely all controversy over the date of issue.

The work is being outlined by the editors, and Miss Wise has already appointed her assistants. Miss Degermark, who was elected Assistant Editor, has resigned, and Miss Willetta Wright was appointed to fill that place.

From the Sophomore class, Nellie Hemenway, Alma Noon and Lucile Abrams have been chosen. Miss Hemenway will have charge of the "Sporting Section," and Miss Abrams the Art Section.

From the Junior girls, Ruby Hammett, Fay Clark, and Mildred Bagley were appointed, and from the seniors, Naomi Willamson.

The issue is expected to cover about eighteen pages, of which only a third will be devoted to advertising.

A tax of ten or fifteen cents will be levied on each University girl to help defray the expenses of the special number.

Miss Waterman and Miss Clifford are busy securing ads, and feel confident of enthusiastic support.

FRESHMAN GIRLS WIN HAYWARD TROPHY CUP

The Freshman girls' basketball team won the championship Friday afternoon, when they defeated the Seniors 18-13. During the first half everything went for the Freshmen, who scored 16 points to the Seniors' 1. The second half was much more exciting, for it then looked as if the Seniors would win, and the Juniors have another chance for the championship. The Seniors made 12 points and kept the Freshmen down until the last two minutes, when they succeeded in throwing another basket, thus making the final score 18-13.

After the game, Dr. Stuart presented the Hayward cup to Hazel Rader, the Freshman captain.

HOOD RIVER BACHELORS' CLUB SELLS PROPERTY

A. Burleigh Cash, member of last year's debating team, was in Eugene last week attending to the sale of the property of the once famous Hood River Bachelors' Club.

When college opened two years ago, Burleigh Cash, Jack Luckey, Albert Garabrant and Clyde Pattee, all from Hood River, organized the Hood River Bachelors' Club, bought a lot on University avenue on the installment plan, built a "shack" for a small sum, and lived there for from eight to ten dollars a month, when it was costing students outside from ten to twenty dollars. Last year, with another member, they did even better; but this fall the organization was broken up on account of three members not returning to college and the rest going into fraternities and the dormitory, so the lot and building was advertised for sale. The club spent about two hundred and fifty dollars on the property all told, and sold it for four hundred, a substantial profit, not to consider the saving realized in the cost of living while they lived there.

Henry Georges to Meet

President C. W. Robison calls a meeting of the Henry George Association for Tuesday evening, March 21, at 7:00 o'clock, in Dr. Schmidt's room. Reports of committees and other important business will be brought before the association. All interested are invited to be present.

Lee Sam, ex-'13, now at Cornell, is trying for a Chinese imperial scholarship, of which a small number are distributed annually in this country by the Chinese government.

The International Club at O. A. C., composed of foreign students attending that institution, recently made a contribution to the Chinese famine fund.

LAUREAN CONGRESS TO DEBATE PENSION LAW

Revision of the Pension List will be the motto of the Progressive party in the lower house, at Laurean meeting next Saturday. Gillis and Davies, leaders of the Progressives, will introduce a revision measure, which will be fought by the Stand Patters, led by Lamm and Terpening. It is expected that considerable budding oratory and statesmanship will be manifested before the measure finally comes to a vote.

LILAH PROSSER IS STAR

Will Assume Role of Princess Chrysanthemum in Opera of that Name

Lilah Prosser has been selected to take the role of Princess Chrysanthemum, the leading part in the opera of that name, which is to be put on by the Women's Choral Club the 13th of April. The other principals are the Emperor, Maude Beals; Prince So-Sli, Juliet Cross; Top-Knot, Gladys Cartwright; Saucer-Eyes, Nancy Noon; Fairy Moonbeam, Maybelle Larsen.

The maids to Princess Chrysanthemum are Edna Miller, Janet Young, Blanche Powell, Alma Payton, Jean Alison and Ethel Risley.

The play is based on a Japanese love story, the scenes are laid in a Japanese garden, and elfs, fairies, and goblins abound. Special scenery will be prepared and the costumes will be rented from Portland. Miss Rowland is directing the music of the production, and Dr. Stuart the dances and drills. This opera will be the first of its kind ever put on by students at Oregon and will doubtless be one of the big things of the year.

TENNIS SEASON TO BEGIN

One Inter-Collegiate Meet Will be Held This Year In Eugene

The tennis season starts early this year with the handicap tournament, which will be begun in the near future. This, while giving something of a line on the tennis material in college, will not be entirely relied upon to furnish information of this sort, and will be immediately followed by a tryout for Varsity men. The Varsity tryout consists of a series of matches to be played by those who have aspirations for the team. The three men making the best showing in this tournament will be pitted against the college champions of last year, Stine and Newland, and from these finals Oregon's representatives for the coming season will be chosen.

Only one conference meet is to be held this spring, owing to the lack of interest shown in tennis by the other colleges and universities. Washington State University will play Oregon on the home court during Junior Week End. According to conference rules, there will be five matches run off, four sets of singles and one of doubles.

It is possible that several tournaments may be arranged for with non-conference schools, but this as yet remains unsettled.

SPENCER DECIDES TO DROP HIS CONTENTION

CONCEDES FIRST PLACE IN CONTEST TO ROBISON

PUTS AN END TO HEATED CONTROVERSY

Executive Committee Decides That It Has No Authority to Call New Tryout

Carlton Spencer has decided not to carry the contention for a new tryout for the Inter-State Oratorical Contest to the student body, as it was rumored yesterday he would, but will let the matter drop and concede the position to Charles Robison, in whose favor the final decision of the judges was made.

This ends what has been for the past two weeks one of the most interesting contentions on the campus. Spencer, dissatisfied with the decision of the judges in the Inter-State tryout, appealed to the executive committee for a new tryout, which was granted by that committee, but later rescinded; the committee holding that it had no constitutional right to interfere. Spencer then decided to take the matter direct to the student body, but, on further deliberation, decided to let the whole matter drop. He says:

"Although I have every reason to believe that the constitution of the Associated Students bears me out, and that if it came to a settlement on the merits of the case, I should receive a favorable decision, yet in order to prevent a rupture in the student body, I shall do all in my power to prevent further conflict over the matter."

The whole contention hinged on whether the decision should have followed the traditional method, that of declaring the contestant victorious who had the highest percentage, when ranking resulted in a tie, or whether the contention of the University, for the last three years, that a contestant having four firsts out of six ought to be declared winner, should have been observed. The former would have given Spencer first by eight one-hundredths, and the second made Robison Oregon's Inter-State orator. Each side is firmly convinced that its contention is correct. The constitution of the Associated Students says nothing of the method of judging oratorical contests, beyond providing that the decision shall be based upon delivery and composition.

GREG STARS AS DOUBLE DYED VILLAIN AT U. OF W

Lair H. Gregory, some time a fellow student at Oregon University, father of inter-frat baseball, mission worker, and perpetrator of the deceased Doughnut, is giving new and abundant proof of his versatility, in his meteoric career at Washington this year. Besides editing the Washingtonian, the college literary magazine, serving as associate editor of the Daily, and performing divers and sundry other important functions, Greg last night trod the boards as the chief villain in the Varsity Press Club's "High Jinx." The name of the intense melodrama was "Gentleman Joe," and Greg took the role of Cherokee Dan, the double-eyed villain, who met a Trampas-like end in the frontier refreshment emporium. The production is reported to have been a very successful and clever take-off on Western melodramas.
