BUSHER BROWN WILL RAISE ROOTER FUND

Yell Leader Discouraged at Lack of Spirit Shown by the Rooters.

"Busher" Brown will start a subscription list at once to raise funds for the coming "Smokerless Smokers" and rallies. The business men down town will be asked to contribute as well as the students on the campus. "Bush" says that he will need several hundred dollars to work up the "Oregon Spirit" in proper shape, and he expects every man to come through with a contribution, whether large or small.

The first "Smoker" of the year will be on Friday evening, Nov. 3, preceeding the Whitman game, when the ever hungry rooters will be fed on "hot dogs" and cider and enthusiasm will be worked up to a high pitch by the most noted spellbinders in the University. A big open air rally will be held on the evening preceeding the Washington game, when the freshmen are expected to build a monstrous bon-fire on Kincaid Field.

"Bush" is not at all satisfied with the turnout to rooter's practice and says that unless the men come out and practice, they will yell at the Washington game like a bunch of "Aggies." He urges the college scribes to get busy and write a few new yells, as yet, no one has taken advantage of his offer, and the contest closes in a short time.

FRESHMAN YELL PRACTICE POSTPONED INDEFINITELY

In order to choose a fearless Frosh, who was willing to risk his life and reputation attempting to lead the class of 1915 in a few vocal selections, the Freshmen at their meeting Wednesday, decided to hold a spirited rooting practice, Thursday and Friday, on Kincaid field. But, when the time arrived, the multitude failed to assemble, and among the few Frosh who did appear, there was no one brave enough to yell, so the display of class spirit was indefinitely postponed.

DEBATE WORK LOOMS ON COLLEGE HORIZON

New Coach Looks for Men to Uphold Oregon in Forensic Contests This Year.

With most of last year's debaters in college, Coach Johnson is hopeful that Oregon will repeat her success of last year in the field of forensics. Although the preliminary tryouts are more than two weeks off, the debating coach is on the lookout for prospective candidates for the two teams which will represent Oregon against Washington and Stanford.

The first tryout will be held as soon as the question is decided upon and the candidates have a chance to study it a bit.

The manner of selecting the question is an interesting one. Each university sends a proposition to the secretary of the Triangle League, who is Mr. Johnson of Oregon this year. He will submit all three questions to each of the institutions. They vote upon them, designating their first, second and third choice. The proposition that receives the lowest vote is the question selected. This is sent to the three colleges, who submit their wording of the final question to the secretary. These wordings are voted on in the same manner.

In accordance with this plan, Washington has submitted the "Judicial Recall," Stanford the "Justification of the Closed Shop," and Oregon the "Central Bank."

LAUREANS HOLD LIVELY MEETINGS

The progressive spirit evidenced in the ranks of the Laurean Society this year is exemplified in the question for debate next Saturday: "Resolved, that signers to initiative or referendum petitions should be required to do so at their county court houses." After a formal debate between selected teams, the discussion will be thrown open to the members at large, and many interesting and novel views of the question are expected to be expressed.

At last Saturday's meeting Al Davis and Otto Heider, negative, were defeated by Percy Collier and Vincent Yaden, affirmative, in debate on the desirability of a national divorce law. A. B. Cash spoke extemporaneously on parliamentary usages, and Earl Jones rendered a lively recitation.

Eight new members—Hardesty, Hill, Bretherton, Dinneen, Rasmussen, Donald, McNeill, and Dawson—were elected to membership, and six new applications were referred for committee consideration.

SENATOR GORE WILL SPEAK AT THE VARSITY NOV. 4

Senator Gore, the blind senator of Oklahoma, will speak at the University on November 4th. He is traveling under one of the Continental Lyceum Bureaus, and upholding his reputation as one of the greatest speakers in the country. His engagement attracts extraordinary note. An admission will be charged for the lecture at the University, but all money over expenses will be turned over to the student body. A big turnout to show the proper appreciation for Senator Gore is expected.

OREGON STUDENTS MAY TEACH IN SPRINGFIELD

Earl Kilpatrick, superintendent, and the School Board of Springfield, have again adopted the policy, discontinued last year, of allowing University of Oregon students in the educational department to practice teaching in the High School. Hours will be assigned to those desiring to teach.

The end positions are causing the Yale coaches so much trouble that they have issued a call for former ends to aid in the coaching. Among the recent additions to the resident coaches are Slocovitch, a former end, Bloomer, and Alcott.

PRESS CLUB DEVELOPS PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT

Perfect Organization in Manager Geary's Office.—Talk Over Plans.

The members of the new University press club met last evening in Manager Geary's office and talked over plans for the ensuing year. The idea of this club is to develop more completely the publicity departments in the University. In the past, the reporters have carried on a "knifing" policy, which has been responsible for the non appearance of many good stories in most of the papers, and also responsible for much harm that has come to the University through the newspaper stories.

The plan this year is to co-operate; the members of the club aiding each other in securing stories which will advertise the University and its activities.

The club will meet around the festive board at the Osburn Hotel the fore part of next week and elect officers and discuss policies. The present membership includes James Johns, Bill Mains, Chet. Moores, Ralph Newlands, William Towall, Evans Houston, Burns Powell, Ed Dorr, and Arthur Geary.

SHOW PURP "BULL DOGS" VARSITY BEAU BRUMMEL

A certain University student now wears a scarred and lacerated appendage as a result of an encounter with a black and tan foxterrier. The animal was a trick dog with the Barnes circus, but as the student was visiting the show the dog espied him for an easy mark, giving his keepers the slip followed him home. The student, being a regular "devil" at flirting, attempted a caress, but the canine assured him that he was not that kind of a dog by chewing the tip of his nose in a most distressing manner, just by way of reprimand.

The student is still a dog fancier, but declares he will use more discretion in the future in the choice of whose dog he fancies.

The Faculty at Princeton contemplates requiring every student to learn to swim before a degree will be granted. Statistics, according to a Princeton professor, show too little acquaintance with water outside the "tub."
