SPEAKER WANTS CHANGE IN TAX LAWS, NOT SINGLE TAX

The Henry George Association held its second public monthly meeting Wednesday evening. Mr. H. W. Stone, of Portland, spoke of the proposed change in the tax laws of the state and showed by actual figures just how the change would effect the property owners. Many questions were asked by the audience and Mr. Stone showed a mastery of his subject in his replies.

To the query whether or not the plan of taxation proposed was the Single Tax, Mr. Stone denied any direct connection. The speaker said he had little faith in the single tax ever being put in operation in Oregon, but told the audience that the proposed law would provide for the raising of taxes from land values, franchises, rights of way, etc., and relieve to a large extent personal property and improvements. Prof. Schafer stated that it was unfortunate that the backers of the measure should call themselves single taxers, when they are not proposing that system of taxation.

What is proposed is the system which is being so successfully tried in Vancouver, B. C.

The next public meeting of the club will be about Dec. 12 or 13.

JUDGE GALLOWAY WILL HEAR THE ARGUMENTS

Question Arises—Will Defense or Prosecution Have to Bear Burden of Proof?

With the conclusion of the taking of testimony, the case of referendum petitions against the University will rest until December 5.

Judge Galloway, at Salem, will hear the opening arguments, one of which will be, whether the University must prove the fraudulent character of signatures or whether the state must prove the genuineness of those attacked. Another question to be decided, is whether those signatures will stand which were signed on sheets not having the petition printed at their top. This point involves over 5000 names. A third point is: Will three or four signatures proven false, on a sheet, invalidate the affidavit as to genuineness of all on the sheet.

Parkinson, on the witness stand declared that his only motive in circulating the petitions at his own expense, to the amount of about $700, was that he feared being made the "goat," if the matter should drop after the Cottage Grove committee had given up the matter.

The defense has admitted the lack of genuineness of 2600 names. Over 5000 other names are questionable because they were signed on blank pieces of paper, and over 300 were declared "bad" or "suspected" by the state's witnesses. If these 8000 names out of the 13,715 filed are thrown out, only 5600 would remain, whereas 6100 names are necessary.

The case for the University is represented by Regent S. H. Friendly, as plaintiff, and is being conducted by M. T. Slater and M. L. Pipes. The defense is being conducted by Attorney-General Crawford and Mr. McAllister.

SOCIAL EVENTS POSTPONED UNTIL THE HOLIDAYS

Because of the death of Virgil Noland, all social events which were planned to take place before the Thanksgiving holidays have been put off indefinitely. Several dances and parties which were scheduled for the week end have been either cancelled or postponed.

The future dates which have been granted by the Students' Affairs Committee are Friday, December 8, a dance for the Tri Deltas; Saturday, December 9, Sophomore dance; and March 16, 1912, a "County Fair" to be given by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A.

mencement at Oregon." It is quaint and exceedingly interesting.

The new comic section—"Lost, Strayed, or Stolen," which was adopted as an experiment, has proved a good addition to the Monthly. This department contains a very ungrammatical, sentimental poem, which is quite clever.

Earl Stannard has contributed an unusual lib of verse,—an imitation of Swinburne. This was a difficult undertaking, and the results merits special commendation.

Mr. Raymond wrote a long, comprehensive essay on Alchemy. This is included in the engineering department.

A description of some regions in Switzerland was well handled by Miss Helen Meredith. She drew from her personal observation and experience in writing this article we are told.
