GLEE MEN ON SALARY

Portland Woolen Mills Hires Man to Give Concert at Annual Xmas Jubilee.

What do you know about it, the Glee Club men are going to make five dollars ($5.00) apiece and no joke either. Mr. Test, manager of the Portland Woolen Mills, and a former Eugene business man, has hired the club to give its concert at the annual Christmas jubilee of the millmen in St. Johns, on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 23, and in addition to the five dollars salary will be given a good banquet, a special street car and a chance to mingle with the millmen.

The men will leave The Dalles Saturday morning early and reach Portland at 10:30 A. M. A special car will be at the Union station to meet them and take them to St. Johns, where they will feast with the millmen at the annual Christmas dinner. At one o'clock in the afternoon the concert will be given in the mill assembly room, and at three o'clock the special car will take the Club to Portland to catch the 3:46 train for Salem.

The prospect of that five dollars has improved the singing of the Club 750 per cent, it is said.

STUDENTS SPEND LIVELY HOLIDAYS IN EUGENE

Large Crowd of Stay-at-Homes Enjoy Informal Events Held in Local Club Houses.

The Thanksgiving holidays were the occasion of an unusual amount of social activity, and those who stayed in Eugene were kept on the alert nearly the whole time.

On Wednesday evening, the Dormitory Club entertained with an informal dance, as also did the Alpha Tau Omegas. The Lambda Rhos entertained the Delta Sigmas, and the Beth Rheas spent the evening at a house party in Junction City.

On Thursday, several of the Houses gave Thanksgiving dinners and invited in some of their friends. Some of these were the Tri Deltas, who had among their guests Mr. and Mrs. Buel, of Santa Fe, the Lambda Rhos, the Gamma Delta Gammas, and the Beta Theta Pis. In the evening, the Beta Theta Pis gave an informal dance and the Alpha Tau Omegas did some informal entertaining.

On Friday, all the La Grande men in college were entertained at dinner at the Acacia House. In the evening, the Beth Rheas and the Gamma Delta Gammas gave an informal party. Also, the Dormitory entertained with a dance and the Lambda Rhos were at home to the Acacias.

On Saturday evening, the Delta Sigmas gave their first party in their new chapter house. The Phi Gamma Deltas and Beth Rheas also had friends in to an informal party.

OREGON CLUB HAS PARTY

Miss Lyda Garrett Acts As Hostess to Nearly Fifty Couples of Oregon Folk.

The second social meeting of the Oregon Club was held at the home of Miss Lyda Garrett, Fifteenth and Columbia Ave., on Friday evening, December 1. The fifty couples who assembled, enjoyed the dainty repast prepared by their charming hostess, after which Miss Eva Frazier introduced the speakers of the evening.

Talks were given by J. Earl Jones, Lloyd Dawson, Samuel Northrop, Miss Minnie Ferris, and Miss Callie Beek. A few vocal and instrumental selections comprised the rest of the evening's program, and with a last "Good Night, Ladies," the jolly crowd dispersed.

The tax question settled at Eaton's or the book exchange—25 cents.

SUMMER STUDENTS ASKED TO HAND NAMES TO REGISTRAR

All students, who are thinking of staying at the Summer School, are required to leave with Mr. Tiffany a list of the subjects which are wanted. This will aid very much in determining what subjects will be given.

Two Courses Offered.

Two new courses to be given next semester in the Department of Physics and Education, one by Dr. E. S. Conklin, on "Mental Hygiene," and one by Montana Hastings, on "Logic in Education, i. e. How to Study." The last named counts on the fifteen units in education.

Otto's candies are made fresh every day and not like other chocolates and bon bons shipped here and made two or three months ago. Try them and be convinced.
