again with his descriptive pianologue, "Jack Dalton and the Papers," and encored with his imitation of Madame Schumann-Heink in operatic selections. Another big hit was registered by the two in their take-off on "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own."

The wind-up act this year is above the average and serves as the setting for numerous specialties. "Mr. Crane Visits Oregon," is the title of the sketch. The part of Crane was assumed by Lyman Rice in the absence of Delbert Stannard, who was prevented by sickness from taking the part. Rice's work was excellent, especially considering the short notice he had to prepare for the role. Raphael Geisler as Prof. Cassius Leonardo Bovine, portrayed the popular conception of the college professor with accuracy. Glen Storie made good as Willie Hayfield, a Frosh, and sang, "Gee, but its Great to Meet a Friend from Your Home Town," with an artistic nasal twang.

Bert Gerard made a hit with his song, "I am a Crazy Daffodil," assisted by the "Brothers," a dozen lusty-lunged singers, who took the place of the chorus. The latter band also put on a minstrel first part, in which several popular choruses were sung. As a grand finale the entire club lined up before the footlights and sang the "Toast to Oregon."

M'ARTHUR FOLLOWS UP GRAD. COACH AGITATION

Oregon Alumnus Takes Little Stock In Ability of Hugo Bezdek, Former Coach.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 10, 1911.

To the Editor:

In recent issues of your valuable paper, as well as in other publications, I have been referred to as the "chief booster" for the graduate coach system, and while I favor this system and believe it is the only one that will win in the long run, I have no desire to claim that to which I am not justly entitled. I have appealed to the students of the University to give the graduate system a trial for the reason that I was so directed at a meeting of Alumni and old Oregon players, held in this city immediately following the Oregon-Washington game. Those present at the meeting were R. S. Smith, Seth Kerion, John R. Latourette, Louis Pinkham, Fred C. Moullen, Dudley R. Clark, Porter Frizzell, Mike Walker, Gorden C. Moores, and C. N. McArthur.

Speaking for myself and not for the others who attended the above-mentioned meeting, I will say that I am opposed to the movement to secure the services of Hugo Bezdek as coach for next season. In justice to Bezdek, it must be admitted that he was a wonderful player and knows the game, but is lacking in the ability to impart his knowledge to the men under his tutelage. The Oregon team of 1906, coached by Bezdek, won the Northwest championship because of Moullen's ability as a place-kicker. Moullen was directly responsible for our victories over Willamette (4-0), Idaho (12-0), and Multnomah (8-4), his kicks being the only scores made by Oregon in these games. Oregon's title was questioned that season by Oregon Agricultural College by reason of the fact that Oregon and O. A. C. played a scoreless game in Corvallis, and this poor showing was all the more humiliating because Oregon was actually outplayed by the greenest and poorest team in the history of the Corvallis institution. Oregon had that year a bunch of star performers, such as Chandler, Moores, Hug, Pinkham, Arnsperger, Scott, Moullen, Gillis, Kuykendall, Zacharias, Clark, and McKinney—the best bunch of football men ever seen at a Northwest college—yet the team's record was not a brilliant one and the season would have been counted as a dismal failure had it not been for Moullen's wonderful kicking ability. In view of these facts, I do not see how anybody can successfully maintain that Bezdek is a great coach, and I venture the opinion that if he is secured for next season, Oregon will get a worse drubbing than she did this year at the hands of Dobbie's crew.

C. N. McARTHUR.

Notice from the Librarian.

Students wishing to draw books (other than reserve books) for use during the holiday recess, will be permitted to do so and it is suggested that advantage be taken of this opportunity for doing some general reading. Books drawn during the present week (December 11-16), may be retained until January 3, but books drawn previous to December 11, will fall due, as usual, at the end of two weeks, unless renewed.

During the holidays the library will be open each week day (except Christmas and New Year's Day), from 8:30 A. M. to 12 M., and from 1 to 4 P. M.

M. H. DOUGLASS,
Librarian.
