TRACK MEN PONDER OVER MANY MATTERS

Cross Country Boosted by Lively Meeting of Students Interested in Track.

An enthusiastic meeting of track men, past, present, and future, was held under the auspices of Trainer Hayward in the gymnasium, Thursday afternoon. The object of the meeting was to stir up a healthy interest in cross-country work, which will be taken up by Trainer Hayward's disciples early in the coming week.

Some thirty track candidates were on hand, among whom were a liberal sprinkling of "evergreens." Bill Hayward spoke on the value of the pre-season work for putting the men in fettle for active competition. He also announced the interclass cross country, which will be run over the three and one-half mile course, in February or March.

Arthur Geary spoke on the importance of the track schedule for the coming season, and emphasized the point that the number of trips offered to the men who make the team this year, is an incentive for hard work. All the meets this season will be held outside of Eugene.

Sap Latourette gave one of his characteristic after dinner talks, in which he poured a broadside of bouquets into Trainer Hayward's extended arms.

Ben Williams spoke on the importance of freshmen working faithfully and obeying the dictum of their coach to the letter. Closing with the declaration that "Oregon has a track coach and trainer who can make a recordbreaker of any man who will work, and has the ability to plant one foot before the other."

Maguire spoke on the importance of cross country work.

THE SAGE OF PODUNK

Money talks, but it says most in a large company.

Mary had a little hat
It hit her father hard;
And when she went into the house,
She left it in the yard.
She wore the thing to school one day,
But while on the way there,
A naughty wind did take the hat
Along with most her hair.

Peter Funk says that it ought to be "grass widows" that have "widows weeds."

If you look for the source of broad assertions you'll generally find it to be a narrow brain.

This pesky month is hard to bear, a deadly chill is everywhere; the nights are work, the days are sad, our tortured brains are driven mad; and from our mouths weird cries emerge, we shriek and sing and hum a dirge, for the evil days are drawing nigh, of which we think but with a sigh. Next month each of us must make his final overwhelming break, we know our chances are but small of taking from the exams a fall, and so we wail and beat the air, and "cuss" the profs and tear our hair.
