

RELATION OF THE ASSOCIATION TO THE COMMUNITY

HAROLD YOUNG WRITES OF WORK OF Y. M. C. A. IN COLLEGE TOWNS

NEW DEPARTMENT HAS IMPORTANT WORK

Bible Classes Started In Eugene and Campaign Planned for Neighboring Towns.

Primarily, the relation of any college or university association to the community depends upon the social needs and problems of that community.

Today the college man is, and rightly should be, regarded as a leader. The commonwealth or community bestows upon him certain advantages and privileges through the maintenance of an institution for his personal betterment. It expects that the community itself will be benefited in the long run by the increased efficiency of its citizens, who are college graduates. They are expected to render a social service in proportion as they are the recipients of a social endowment.

A college association cannot create opportunities for social service to a locality. We have no pronounced field of endeavor that enables us to clearly show our relation to the community. Although the Oregon Y. M. C. A. is possibly overlooking some practical work that could be done, it has been active in a line of work that is common to most all institutions in towns of any size the Bible study classes among High School men.

This is the most popular extension work in nearly every college. Working usually in conjunction with the city associations, the schools are organized in the High Schools, with a view of not only presenting the Bible for what it is worth, but training the young men for Varsity work.

To this end, in order to justify the Oregon Association, to establish its relation to the community in a more definite way, four classes of High School men meet every Monday noon in the city association building for thirty minute Bible study. The average attendance for the three weeks of their existence, per class, has been five, the total average attendance eighteen. The work is growing, and promises to be the foundation for more thorough work along this line in the future.

Oregon students at the University of Washington have formed an Oregon Club with over sixty members. Geo. Noble, of Oregon City, has been elected president. The club intends to give a dance at Portland during the Rose Carnival next June.

H. R. Hanna, '96, is official reporter of the 10th Judicial District, La Grande, Oregon.

J. Earl Jones.
Debator—Y. M. President.

A. Burleigh Cash.
Social.

Committeemen—
Alfred Collier.
Lowell Williamson.
Chester Frazier.
Frank Davidson.

community. They must take them as they find them. So in this regard the scope of work of different college Y. M. C. A.'s varies greatly. Nevertheless, it is, in any circumstance, none the less real.

It is only to be expected that any student community work, whether on a large or small scale, should be of an educational as well as of an administrative nature in so far as students in training for this particular work are concerned.

The work itself is of a varied character, depending upon the opportunities open to and recognized by the Association. For instance in the Eastern institutions, Yale for example, the Association conducts classes in elementary English for the ignorant immigrants. Summer camps for the city boys are in charge of college men, who are men as well as athletes.

This work is common to most all of the Eastern schools, where these opportunities exist. There the relation is evidently one of great intimacy. The city Y. M. C. A. and other philanthropic and social settlement organizations recognize the value of the service of Christian college men.

On the other hand, one is apt to be dubious as to any tangible connection between an organization like our own Varsity Y. M. C. A. and our city or reticent and for the most part maintained a mysterious silence throughout. However, it was discovered that the A. T. O.'s have already ordered their costumes from New York and will begin dress rehearsal next week; they say their side show will furnish an excellent reason for father to leave home.

The Phi Gamma Delta's are going to pull off something heavy and melodramatic. That will make special appeal to the intellectual. Shakespeare was hinted at.

The Theta's say, "Ours is perfectly howling," and promise that it will not be a repetition of the Kappa Sigma baby show of last year.

All the stunts, freaks, side shows, and other performances, should be handed in to Miss Ruth Beach, head of the committee, for consideration. Space for the aforesaid performance will then be assigned.

The fair is held as a benefit for the Y. W. Bungalow and all receipts of general admission and side shows will be turned over to the bungalow fund. The Y. W. C. A., however, merely oversees the affair. All of the student organizations in the University lend their aid.

CALENDAR FOR WEEK

Sunday, Feb. 25—Devotional Meeting. Y. M. C. A., Book Exchange, 3 P. M.
Monday, Feb. 26—Basketball, Oregon vs. Idaho, Gymnasium, 7:45 P. M.
Tuesday, Feb. 27—Basketball, Oregon vs. Idaho, Gymnasium, 7:45 P. M.
Wednesday, Feb. 28—German Club Meeting, Lambda Rho House.
Wednesday, Feb. 28—"First Aid" Class. Deady Hall, 7 P. M.
Thursday, Feb. 29—Booster Bean Feed, preparatory to the Hurray Meeting, City Y. M. C. A. Building, 6 P. M.
Friday, March 1—First of the series of Hurray Meetings, Villard Hall, 4 P. M.
Friday, March 1—Student Body Dance.
Saturday, March 2—Student Mass Meeting, Villard Hall, 7:15 P. M.
Saturday, March 2—Basketball, Freshman vs. Washington High, of Portland, Gymnasium, 7:45 P. M.

H. L. Robe, '95, is a teacher at Brownsville, Oregon.
H. S. Templeton, '96, a Y. M. C. A. Cabinet man several years ago, is a Presbyterian minister at Vancouver, Washington.
W. G. Beatie, '01, is Superintendent of the Industrial Schools at Sitka, Alaska.
Ansel Hemenway, '02, is an instructor at Harvard.
W. E. Harirs, '98, is a dentist in Eugene.

Clyde Pattee.
Bible Study.

Committeemen—
Homer Maris.
John Black.
Melvin Irish.
Walter Brenton.

Raymond Heider.
Membership.

Committeemen—
John McGuire.
Norman Ashcraft.

C. E. Waggoner, '01, is an electrical engineer in Portland.
Peter J. Word, '01, is professor of physics in the college at Pekin, China.
Carl H. Davis, '05, a prominent Y. M. C. A. worker, while here in college, is a physician in Chicago, Ill.
F. B. Mathews, '95, is pastor of the First Baptist Church in Redlands, California.
J. A. Laurie, '94, is a Presbyterian minister at Hoquiam, Wash.

ALUMNI

J. E. Bronaugh, '92, an earnest Y. M. C. A. worker, is a lawyer in Portland.
A. B. Waltz, '00, is a Baptist minister in Portland.
E. S. Van Dyke, '01, a Y. M. C. A. man some years ago, is a lawyer in Grants Pass.
G. R. Campbell, '01, is a contracting engineer in Spokane, Wash.
B. E. Spencer, '01, is an assayer in Berk, Idaho, and while in college was a leading Y. M. member.
J. C. Borth, '98, is a physician and surgeon in Lebanon, Oregon.
Chas. Campbell, '04, a loyal Y. M. C. A. man, is a civil engineer in Spokane, Wash.
E. R. Abbott, '06, is with the S. P. and S. Ry., in Portland.

Charles W. Koyl.
General Secretary.

Edw. J. Himes.
Finance.

Committeemen—
Prof. Converse.
Karl Martzloff.
David McDaniel.
Floyd Galloway.

Raphael Geisler.
Religious Meetings.

Committeemen—
Prof. Schafer.
Donald Rice.
William Macneill.

V. V. Johnson, '96, a loyal Y. M. C. A. man in his Varsity days, is now pastor of the Baptist Church at Concord, N. H.
J. H. Carrico, '96, was treasurer of the Association in his senior year, and is now a prominent physician and surgeon in Portland.
F. M. Taylor, '96, a physician and surgeon, is an instructor in the U. of O. Medical School.
M. H. Day, '98, is a minister located at Upper Alton, Ill.

OREGON TO MIX WITH IDAHO NEXT MONDAY

Oregon Yet Has Good Chance for Northwest Basketball Championship.

The two basketball games with Idaho, next Monday and Tuesday, in the Men's Gymnasium, which open the conference schedule at home, is attracting the center of attention now that the debate and the leap year party are things of the past. That basketball interest, despite the two defeats by Washington, is still running high, is shown by the rapidity with which the seats are being sold, at the price of 75c for a reserved seat at both games, or 50c at one game.

Oregon's hopes for a championship basketball team for this season have not entirely disappeared, though much to the contrary has been published in the newspapers throughout the Northwest. The various sporting writers seem to regard Washington's two victories over the local team at Seattle as proof conclusive of their superiority. They do not take into consideration that Oregon has lost but two games, that she has her own floor to play on for the remainder of the season and that Washington has yet to play many of her most important games, including two in Eugene.

Though Oregon is somewhat hampered by the loss of Rader, who has left college, with Jamison again in Vernon Motschenbacher.

Secretary.

Russell Calkins.
Publicity.

Committeemen—
Oscar Haugen.
Fred Mathias.
Clyde Pattee.
Clark Hawley.

condition and either Bradshaw, Vierck or Vosper playing at guard, the Varsity Five does not seem to be materially weakened.

Oregon has six games to play yet, all on her own floor. Idaho comes to Eugene for two games Monday and Tuesday, the week following Pullman plays two here, and the next week brings the season to a close, with the final and deciding games with Washington.

W. L. Whittlesey, '01, is with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., New York.

J. D. Newsome, '98, is a lawyer at Prineville, Ore.

J. E. Tyree, '00, is a physician and surgeon at Salt Lake City.

Yoran and Koke

Will print the Oregonian this year. They will also do the binding, having placed an order for a complete bindery equipment. They will then be in position to handle any thing possible in the printing and binding business.

Watch for two story building next week.

COLLEGE PENNANTS

Most complete line in the city. High class Stationery. School Supplies of all kinds. Latest Reprints, 50c.

Trump's Book Store

Phone 846.

537 WILLAMETTE STREET