LAUREANS WILL CHOOSE CLASS DEBATING TEAMS

On account of the Hurrey meetings, the regular meeting of the Laurean Literary Society has been postponed until March 9, at which time the try-out for the Freshman debating team will be held. This team will debate a similar team chosen from the Sophomore class on March 23. Considerable interest is being shown in these debates and a lively competition for places on the teams is expected. The question for the final debate has not been decided upon, but will be given out later.

Tom Word has gone to Portland for a few days.

C. D. HURREY INTERESTS VARSITY MEN IN TALK

Claims that Many College Men Lead Lives of Inefficiency and Uselessness.

By Howard Zimmerman.

The series of special student meetings that are being addressed by Mr. Charles D. Hurrey, began last night with one of the most impressive talks that could have been given to University men. Mr. Hurrey grasped the thoughts and attention of the men with his opening sentence, and held it concentrated upon his theme, which he rapidly developed with an intense seriousness that was contagious. The men sat through the talk with scarcely a movement, held by the intense conviction conveyed by the speaker's thoughts and manner.

Mr. Hurrey dealt, as a college man, with the struths that are most fundamental to college men. He stated the fact, only too obvious to the world, that men are going out of the universities by the hundreds today to lives of inefficiency and often of usefulness. The cause of this he brought home to the men with the unerring force of a man of knowledge and experience. It is the fact that, in the freedom of college life, men get to doing things they would be ashamed to tell the folks at home.

The great men of the world today and always, he pointed out, are those who have learned to reverence God, the Bible, a clean life, and noble principles. He appealed to the men in quiet, yet vibrant words, to make their college life worth while, to cultivate habits which alone could make great men.

The men went away thoughtful. The impression made by Mr. Hurrey was such that a large crowd is anticipated at the mass meeting of men and women to be held this evening in Villard Hall. This meeting is to be at 7:15 o'clock. The final meeting of the series will be a men's meeting on Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.
