PRES. CAMPBELL SPOKE AT ASSEMBLY TODAY

College Executive Takes for Topic "What Can University Do For Student?"

The address at the regular assembly hour this morning was given by President Campbell on the subject, "What Can the University Do for the Student."

The main object of a university education," he said, "is to develop a man, who will know a good thing when he sees one. In other words, to develop a man who will be a good judge of values. A man is ignorant or educated just so much as he is able to estimate values correctly. Different standards of value appeal to different people. Some people judge solely by the appearance of a man.
This is a narrow view however, for a well developed man needs more than his athletic body to make him su-premely valuable.

"Some people place manner as the requisite of a valuable man. This, too, is a narrow view however, for too often etiquette covers a multitude of sins. And lastly, some estimate a man's value according to his knowledge, but even erudition is useless, if it lacks the power of making itself felt.

"The first supreme asset which one must have is force. The man who would be valuable, must accomplish something. A man with a good body and intellect, who lacks will, is as useless as a steam engine without the steam. The second supreme asset which one must have, is principle, for without it, his energy will be misdirected and consequently wasted."

In conclusion, President Campbell said: "If a university education accomplishes its purpose, it will aid a man to organize his principle and will instill energy into him necessary for the accomplishment of his ideal."

DEBATE APPROACHES

Tickets on Sale Tomorrow for the Annual Stanford-Oregon Debate.

Tomorrow, tickets will be placed on sale with various students, alumni, and downtown stores for the Stanford-Oregon debate to be held in the Presbyterian Church, Friday, March 29.

As this is the first debate between these two universities, a determined effort, through the work of alumni and students, will be made to get a large crowd to hear the team's debate of the question, "Resolved, That Judges Should Be Subject to the Recall, Constitutionality Waived."

In this contest, in which Oregon will uphold the negative, several musical numbers will be injected, among them the recent Freshmen Trio. It is the intention of Manager Geary to relieve the monotony by this means.

On the same evening, Oregon's affirmative team goes to Seattle, to be the varsity's other representative in the Triangular League, composed of Washington Stanford, and Oregon.
Last year Oregon defeated Washington in this city.

As judges, R. D. Hetzel, of O. A. C., and Rev. Davis, of Eugene, have been secured, while Rev. W. H. Hinson, of Portland, has not yet consented.
