SENIOR PLAY THURSDAY

Cast All In Readiness for Appearance
Before Big Varsity
Audience.

Thursday, April 1, is the date for the production of the Senior Play, "She Stoops to Conquer." This earlier date was secured so that the students leaving Friday for the spring vacation could attend the play.

Under the direction of Professor Reddie, no time nor expense have been spared in making this production a success. Over one hundred dollars worth of costumes and special scenery are being prepared at present by the Chicago Costume House, of Portland.

"She Stoops to Conquer" is a comedy on manners, by Oliver Goldsmith. Those who have seen the play staged speak highly of its character.

When asked for a statement, Professor Reddie said he was satisfied with the work of the cast and their handling of parts. He spoke especially of Miss Waterman, acting as "Mrs. Harcastle." Tony Lumkin, alias Roland Kennedy, the much abused son of Mrs. Harcastle, also promises to make a hit.

Ed. Himes, manager of the Senior Stock Company, has induced Bob Kellogg, former Glee Club man, to voice his endeavor to renew the freshness of his faded laurels. Other seniors will take part in the cast, which will include about sixteen.

The cast is as follows:

Sir Charles Marlowe, Sidney Henderson.

Young Marlowe, Earl Latourette.

Mr. Harcastle, Rex Turner.

Hastings, John Shattuck.

Tony Lumkin, Roland Kennedy.

Mrs. Harcastle, Emma Waterman.

Miss Harcastle, Mildred Bagley.

Miss Neville, Jean Allison.

Dolly, Ruby Hammerstrom.

Landlord, William Dunlap.

Servants—Mathew Stastny, Hugh Currin, E. J. Himes.

Tavern Bums, Robert Kellogg, Jas. Johns, Homer Jamison.

Scene—Home of the Harcastles.

Seats will be on sale at the Eugene Theater Wednesday morning at 10:00 A. M.

"A Night Out" is the title of May Robson's new comedy, of which she is co-author with C. T. Dazey. The type of character selected is that of a very lovable but eccentric woman, an old fashioned grandma, whose generous nature and quaint characteristics involve her in a very funny complication, and from this number of situations of the laugh producing character. Miss Robson will assume the role of "Grannum," supported by an excellent company. There are many well-known players in the cast. The play will be seen at the Eugene theater, April 18.

Just now the University of Oregon is relying on one of her alumni to save her from some mis-directed theorists. In the years to come, Woodson T. Slater will probably be hailed as the savior of his Alma Mater.
