

CANDIDATES GIRD UP LOINS BEFORE COMING BALLOTING CONTESTS

LAST CHANCERS ASK STUDENT BODY FOR PLACE IN ELECTIONS

CANDIDATES NAMED IN JEST WITHDRAW

Judges of Election Appointed to Act Throughout Wednesday's Voting Battle.

Following the nominations for next year's officers at last Wednesday's meeting of the Associated Student Body, interest in the annual election, which is to be held Wednesday next, has been at a white heat. The various booms launched by the Varsity spellbinders have gained momentum, and numerous groups of students earnestly engaged in the discussion of political issues may be seen on the campus any day during recitation hours.

New Candidates Petition.

For every office except those which will go by default on account of dearth of candidates, there will be a lively contest waged. The announcement of President Ray at Wednesday's student body meeting that nominating petitions signed by ten or more members would place the names of additional candidates on the ballot, has borne fruit, for four such petitions have already been received. These are for Karl Martzloff, for a position on the executive committee, Ruth Stone and Bess Cowden, for two of the associate editorships on the Oregon Monthly, and Russell Calkins, for the assistant managership of the Monthly. The latest date at which nominating petitions can be accepted, is next Monday morning.

Two Nominees Withdraw.

To counterbalance this entrance of new candidates into the field, however, two of those nominated by the regular method, have withdrawn. Mason Roberts, who was expected to make a strong run for one of the associate editorships of the Monthly, has found that spring work will occupy too much of his time, and has been forced to close his ears to the solicitations of his admirers. Howard Zimmerman has also relinquished his chances for the assistant managership of the Monthly.

The election will be held in Prof. DeCou's room in Villard Hall, from 10 until 2 o'clock, on Wednesday. The regular 10 o'clock assembly for that day will be dispensed with. The executive committee has selected the following students to act as judges of the election. Those serving up to 2 o'clock will have charge of the voting, while those going on duty after two will count the ballots. The committee requests that, in case any of the appointees are unable to serve, they send a substitute, preferably upper-classmen.

Election Judges Appointed.

The list follows:

10 to 11 A. M., Miss Wise, Miss Stanfield, Miss Bibee, Hal Bean, Pat. Cecil.

11 to 12 A. M., Miss Wrightman, Miss Banfield, Leon Ray, Rex Turner, Punch Dunlap.

EUTAXIANS' BONNETS CAST INTO POLITICAL RING

The Eutaxian Literary Society, at their regular meeting next Tuesday evening, will carry out a distinctly political program, which will be as follows:

Republican Candidates — Lucia Macklin.

Democratic Candidates — Hilda Brant.

Reading—Alice Farnsworth. Political Machinery of a Presidential Election—Nettie Drew.

The Short Ballot—Marjorie McCowan.

Is Socialism Practicable—Open discussion.

Every member is asked to come prepared to discuss the merits of socialism, besides their political favorites and their platforms. All students interested in this program are urgently invited to be present.

Friday evening the Beth Reah's had Mrs. Stearns and several of the girls from the Mary Spiller House to dinner.

JUNIOR CO-EDS WILL RELIEVE LABORS OF EMERALD REGULARS

WOMEN'S SIXTEEN PAGE EDITION WELL UNDER WAY, SAYS EDITOR

SPORT NEWS AND FEATURES PLENTIFUL

Social Notes Well Handled—Paper Will be Financial Success as Well.

On May 11th the co-eds will issue a special edition of the Emerald, which promises to surpass all their previous efforts in this direction.

This edition will contain sixteen pages of reading matter with a "Pink Supplement" that will rival the famous sheet issued during vacation. The greater part of the material, with the exception of current news, is already in the hands of the editors and a strenuous effort will be made to have the paper delivered at the usual time Saturday night.

Feature stories have been contributed by such prominent co-eds as Mrs. Pennell, Birdie Wise, Alice Farnsworth, Esther Grissen, and Nancy Noon, while the cartoons and the cover design department is under the superintendence of Margaret Rankin. Lenora Hansen will write the Junior Week-End society notes, while Nell Hemenway will handle the athletic end of the paper. Managers McMicken and Basler report that the Eugene merchants are rapidly coming under their charm and they promise to eclipse all previous advertising records.

The personnel of the staff is as follows:

Editor-in-chief Bess Lewis
 Ass. Editor Esther Grissen
 Sporting Editor Nell Hemenway
 Business Mgr. Anne McMicken
 Ass. Business Mgr. Rose Basler

Flora Dunham, Norma Graves, Bess Cowden, Janet Young, Alice Farnsworth.

COMMITTEE NOTICE

Men Asked to Realize Responsibility of Caring for Visiting Preppers.

The following committeemen under Abe Blackman are expected to take full charge of providing accommodations for the prep athletes and visitors who will visit Eugene during Junior week-end. This committee will meet every train.

The men are expected to realize the responsibility of their work, as the failure to properly care for the visitors will defeat the purpose of the important University festival:

Waldo Miller, Allen Roberts, Herbert Barbour, Punch Dunlap, Lawrence Dineen, Dal King, Henry Fowler, Phil Hammond, Alba Bedford, C. Washburne, Edsal Ford, A. B. Cash, Griffin, Lee Huggins, Otto Heider, Alfred Skei, Everett Stannard, Vincent Yaden, Leon Bratager, Alfred Collier, and George Stevenson.

Nell Murphy is spending the week-end at Corvallis, to witness the inspection of the O. A. C. cadets.

Miss Fitch, editor of the Delta Delta Delta Trident, left Eugene Wednesday, after a few day's visit.

THREE VARSITY CANINES LAST QUICK IN A SCRAPE

Evidently, the maxim, three is a crowd, is borne out in dogdom as well as in human society. This was the idea that prevailed the minds of Prokos, Miss Stinson's "Count," and the Sigma Nu bulldog, last Thursday morning, as they gathered around the library steps at the close of the ten o'clock. Everything was as peaceful as the quiet that reigns in the Douglass stronghold, until someone started something. It was a free for all, with no holds barred, and just who was on the bottom when time was called, was never determined. There was a quick exodus of those in the library for "other purposes than study," but Chief Second Chandler had thrown up the sponge, and as the mix up had not yet reached the crowbar or ammonia bottle stage, the trio were pulled apart. The "Count" was led away, but tried to literally come back, but was unsuccessful, as the other contestants were spirited away, until the next time.

M.A.A.C. MATCH ASSURED

Prescott Will Manage Games With Clubmen—Tryouts for Team Announced.

At a meeting of the Men's Tennis Club Thursday evening, it was decided that Bert Prescott should manage the Multnomah Club-Oregon team's affairs. The contract calls for a match with the club team here on Saturday morning, May 11, and a return match in Portland on June 1, the day of the conference track meet. This tournament is open to all students and those connected with the University, but is not supported by the student body. The Oregon team will be picked by Prescott and Stine, according to the form shown in the tournament.

Plans were discussed for the inter-collegiate tournament also. There will be three different tryouts to make the team. The games will be played in Seattle on May 18, the date of the Oregon-Washington dual track meet. This tournament will be triangular, Oregon, Washington, and Idaho each being represented. Oregon's team of three men will be selected from the following squad: Gray, Shattuck, Stine, Brooks, Yaden, Moores, Lytle, and Munly. It is not certain whether Newland, who is now playing varsity baseball, will appear on the tennis courts this season.

EUGENE GUARD REPORTER ADDRESSES JOURNALISTS

The address of Mr. Fendern, of the Eugene Guard, to the newspaper class yesterday, on the subject, "The Practical Side of Journalism," was followed by his offer to let the U. of O. newspaper students take charge of the Guard for one issue, with entire authority over everything in the shop except the check book.

Mr. Fendern has been in newspaper work in all parts of the United States, and gave a talk reported by all to have been of unusually practical interest. He told many stories of newspaper life, and gave besides, an account of the expense and difficulties in getting Titanic news immediately; the Associated Press alone spent about $300,000, he said.

Mr. Fendern in conclusion, impressed upon his audience the fact that the life giving advertising section is the most important part of newspaper management.

The Dormitory Club entertained with an informal dance Friday evening.

Nancy Noon has gone home for the week-end.

OREGON NINE CLEANS AGRIC SLATE IN TWO CONSECUTIVE GAMES

Varsity Batteries Star in 3-0 and 5-2 Games at Corvallis

Peet and Welch Grant But Three Hits

Both Teams Put Up Fine Exhibition of Ball in Spite of Adverse Weather.

Oregon opened the inter-collegiate baseball season yesterday by slipping O. A. C. a large green pea with a 3 to 0 label on it. Peet twirled for Oregon and incidentally did some tall twirling. He allowed one hit, walked one man and sent eight back to the bench by the three healthy swing route.

O. A. C.'s only hit came in the ninth frame, when Rieben singled. Peet, however, shut the gates and the home team's chance for a garrison finish faded, leaving the spectators sad and despondent.

Game Won in Sixth.

Oregon fell before Rieben's offerings for five innings, but ruined the game in the lucky sixth. With two down Mount clouted a safe one, Cobb reached first on an error, while "Beanie" was getting his spikes affixed to the keystone sacks. Peet drew a pass from Rieben, filling the sacks. At this juncture a wild pitch put Mount across the plate, Cobb and Peet each advancing one base. Chandler stepped in as our best little pinch hitter and made good by poking one through the infield and Cobb dented the rubber for the second run. Newland ended the agony by grounding out to Rieben, who retired him unassisted.

Oregon's third run came in the ninth on hits by Newland and Roberts.

Salisbury umpired the game.

Oregon Wins 5-2 Game.

Played at Corvallis this morning, Oregon defeated the Aggie nine by the score of 5-2. Welch, the freshman twirler on Captain Jamison's squad, let Corvallis down with two hits. No other details were forwarded. The team returns tonight.

56-43 IS UNFINISHED SCORE IN DUAL MEET

As the Emerald goes to press the track meet between Eugene High and the Freshmen is in favor of the latter.

With the low hurdles, half, hammer and relay still undecided, the score stands: Freshmen 56; Eugene 43. The stars for the Freshmen were Boylen and Street, while Skipworth and Bounds were the main point winners for Eugene. First place results were:

100-yard dash Skipworth
 Pole vault Anderson
 High jump Street
 440-yard dash Boylen
 Shot Heidenrich
 120-yard high hurdles Kletzing
 Broad jump Skipworth
 Mile Schaffner
 Javelin Street
 220-yard dash Boylen

Miss Bonsteel, the Tri Delta housemother, is spending the week-end in Roseburg.
