

EUTAXIAN SKIT SCORES

University Dramatic Stars Shine Brightly in Farce Presented for Assembly.

The Eutaxian Society this morning entertained one of the largest assemblies of the year with a clever and interesting program.

After an address by Nellie Hemenway, in which the history and aims of the Eutaxians were outlined, a short two act play, entitled, "When Women Vote," was presented.

The action of the play centers around Mrs. Jamison, an apostle of suffrage, who neglects her family in order to fight for the ballot. Flora Dunham, as Mrs. Jamison, sustained her character of the modern progressive woman, very creditably. Alice Farnsworth, as Helen, the sentimental seventeen-year-old daughter, May Norton as Mrs. Delano, a wealthy lady, studying the servant question, and Eleanor McLaine, as Mrs. Browell, were all clever, and Hilda Brant, as Hannah, an old-fashioned New England "help," made a decided hit. Her stage presence and ability to get her lines "over," classes her among the stars in amateur dramatics at the University. Between the acts of the play, Miss Newton played a piano solo, which was enthusiastically received by the audience.

Tom Word was in Salem for the week end.

Mr. Siegfried Young, an Oregon alumnus, and his wife, both from Arizona, are visiting their sister, Miss Wilma Young.

Mrs. Jessup is giving a picnic Thursday for the Lambda Rho girls. The Sigma Chis were the guests of the Gamma Phi Betas Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Guy Meeker, of Victoria, B. C., was a dinner guest of the Tri Deltas Sunday.

The Chi Omegas entertained the Kappa Sigma Fraternity Wednesday evening with a dance.

No Senior Picnic.

The Seniors have given up the idea of a picnic, which was to have been held one week from today. The faculty refused to allow the date, which was the only convenient one before examinations, and as no surplus of money decorates the vaults of the class treasury, and the picnic would cost about $2.00 per senior, the committee on arrangements decided to give up the idea.
