

OREGON STUDENTS SUBSCRIBE TO GOVERNOR WEST'S PLEDGE

OATH IS TAKEN BY ASSEMBLY OF SIX HUNDRED TO REPAY THE STATE THROUGH SERVICE TO THE COMMONWEALTH

Six hundred and seventy odd students signified their willingness to subscribe to the Oregon Pledge yesterday morning, following Governor West's assembly address on "The State and its Attitude Toward the University." The promise made by the Oregon men and women was formulated by the Governor himself and acknowledges the debt owed to the citizens of the State, who have made such an institution possible.

Prof. Young Explains Purpose.

Because of the importance of the meeting, it was found necessary to devote the latter half of the morning to the exercises. Two selections from the Glee Club appeared first on the program, after which Professor Young gave a brief dissertation on the purposes and needs of higher education in modern times. He showed his real function in the day's happening's, however, by introducing Judge Slater, President of the Oregon Alumni Association, who spoke along the same line as that begun by the college economics head.

Slater Upholds Liberal Education.

In addressing the Oregon Student Body, Judge Slater stated that his purpose in so doing was to arouse undergraduate appreciation of educative benefits. He said in brief, "The Initiative, Referendum, and Judicial Recall practically make every man in the state a legislator and a member of the judiciary. In order to discharge this responsibility, it is necessary that a liberal education should be gained. The people of Oregon must not expect to avoid just tax levies, if they wish to enjoy a good and efficient government."

As the main point of his discourse, the speaker featured the fact that if further monetary assistance is looked for by the University, the students must give assurance, by their actions and attainments, that such assistance has not been wasted.

Governor Oswald West, introduced by President Campbell of the University, dwelt on the fact that to every University student there are approximately one thousand people, who are not in sympathy with higher education, unless shown that some benefit will indirectly devolve upon them through the University.

Governor Favors Bill.

He dwelt also on the importance of the Millage Bill and assured his hearers that he had always been and would continue to be an active champion of the University and its interests. He said in brief, "I am particularly anxious to see the Millage Measure passed, because in my opinion it will remove the University from a direct participation in politics. I seriously advise every man in college to get out and vote it through at the coming election."

Domestic Affairs Are Aired.

The Governor then drifted into a lighter vein and boasted openly of his prowess as a wood chopper. He claimed, that even his exalted position in the affairs of the state did not prevent Mrs. West from shifting the bulk of the family chores to him.

When asking for those willing to subscribe to the Pledge, the Chief Executive seized upon the opportunity of airing his well known equal suffrage opinions. He said, "I attach just as much importance to the promises of the women, as I do to those of the men, and I firmly believe that when women are enfranchised, we will enjoy a better and a cleaner government."

Yells Conclude Exercises.

After the reading of the Pledge, the classes gathered in front of Willard Hall, where a large panorama was taken. The men and women were then segregated and the masculine portion of the crowd, led by "Dutch" Young, concluded the morning's performance with some of the old Oregon yells.

WEST FAVORS SUFFRAGE

Women Applaud as Chief Executive Compliments Their Ability.

If votes are given women at the coming election, and if Governor West ever runs for office in this state again, he may reasonably expect the votes of the two hundred University women that heard his address yesterday morning.

The Governor had just completed his preliminary remarks, and was on the point of reading the Oregon Pledge, when he referred to the men of the University, advising them not only to accept the pledge at this time, but also to vote for the Millage Measure at the coming election. President Campbell interrupted at this point with the remark that the women must not be overlooked, and suggested that the Governor include them in his voting list.

This suggestion was immediately welcomed by the Governor, who added in a light vein that he was emphatically in favor of the extension of the franchise. He predicted that "my audience will soon be equal when it comes to exercising the right of the ballot." This appealed to the University women, who welcomed the prophecy with feminine applause. Continuing, Governor West then made his reference to the salutary effect on the condition of our government that will result from votes being given to women. Older women in the gallery were evidently struck with this statement, for from them emanated the applause, rather than from the college women.

EUGENE HIGH GAME IS NEXT ATTRACTION

Eugene High School will clash with the Cottage Grove eleven, Saturday afternoon on Kincaid field.

As a result of their defeat of Corvallis High School last Tuesday, 44 to 6, the local prep school teams have bolstered up their schedule to the extent of games with the Portland High School teams. Without any line to speak of, the local squad was able to score at will upon their opponents Tuesday on account of the work of their backfield and ends.

The Daily Cardinal, published by the students of the University of Wisconsin, has been changed from an afternoon to a morning paper. The Cardinal is now in its twenty-third year.

PINKHAM AND SQUAD TRAVEL NORTHWARD FOR WHITMAN GAME

BILL HAYWARD ACCOMPANIES TEAM TO LOOK AFTER PHYSICAL WELFARE

MULTNOMAH FIELD FOR PRACTICE

Head Coach Reticent as to Outlook—Speedy Missionaries Viewed With Respect.

The Varsity football squad, in charge of Coach Pinkham and Trainer Hayward, left this morning on the 10:55 train for Walla Walla, where they will play Whitman College the coming Saturday.

The men making the trip were Manager Geary, Coach Pinkham, Trainer Hayward, Walker, Cook, Jones, Briedwell, Heusner, Cornell, Bradshaw, Bailey, Fariss, Fenton, Grout, Anunsen, Caulfield, Soden, Hartsuck, and Bigbee.

Team Will Practice in Portland.

Manager Geary has made arrangements to stop over in Portland today and give the team a chance to practice on Multnomah field. This will relieve the monotony of the trip and keep the men in better physical condition than if they remain on the train all day. The team will return sometime Sunday evening.

Pinkham is Reticent.

When interviewed just before leaving for Washington, Coach Pinkham seemed reticent and refused to make any statement, but it is understood that while the coaches are hopeful, they realize that Whitman has one of the strongest teams in the Conference, and are expecting one of the hardest struggles of the season next Saturday. Reports from Walla Walla indicate that with five old men as a nucleus, Coach Archie Hahn has developed one of the speediest teams ever produced at the northern institution.

While it is not definitely known who will start the game for Oregon, the probable first line up will contain: Bradshaw, Anunsen, ends; Bailey, Grout, Fenton, Fariss, guards; Caulfield, center, with Walker, Cook, Jones, and Briedwell in the back field.

STUDENTS EARN $399

Work to the amount of $399 has been furnished free of charge to 89 men of the University since the opening of college. This includes permanent positions to the value of $290, which have been found for twenty men, while the worth of odd jobs furnished to 63 men has been $109.

This amount is far in excess of the business done by the bureau last year, and does not include work secured after the tenth of this month.

Books to the extent of $169.75 have been sold for students free of charge through the Book Exchange.

Mrs. J. K. Locke, of Portland, and Mrs. H. J. Bean, of Salem, were recent guests at the Gamma Phi Beta house.

Professor and Mrs. James H. Gilbert, Mrs. Shaver, and Willard Shaver, were recent dinner guests at the Chi Omega house.

Orel A. Welsh, '10, is doing work in the clinical laboratories at Rush Med-

JOURNALISTS DO NOT CONSIDER WHISKERS NEWS

In a recent quiz given his Freshman journalism class, Professor Allen asked, if the fact that the King of Spain wore whiskers or not, is of any news value. The answers were much at variance.

The majority of the women thought the fact to be of absolutely no news value, some even going so far as to say that it was ridiculous. However, they were of the opinion that the fact that he shaved three times a day, would be of interest.

The men of the class were inclined to believe that the incident was news, and worth at least front page mention.

Among the visitors at the Beta Theta Pi house, Tuesday, were Melvin Ogden, '11, Edwin Fortmiller, and Neil Bain, of Albany.

Governor West was luncheon guest at the Chi Omega house, Wednesday.

Russell Brooks, '15, registered in college today.

RALLY VICTIM RAVES

Effect of Celebration Adjunct is Evidenced in Poetic Outburst.

The shades of night were falling fast, when down the street the students passed. The reason they were out so late was that they wished to celebrate; but not as studes are wont to do, for this was Blackman's strong lung crew, locked in the sinuous serpentine to please the people of Eugene, and help along the city's rep for having lots of fizz and pep.

You see, Jim Hill has built a road and Tuesday hauled the first real load of passengers across the rails, and also drove the final nails. From Portland, Salem, Albany, the people came our town to see, and so we had this big pee-rade and to amuse them all essayed.

At six o'clock the band did from before the portals of the Dorm, from there with merry shout and song they marched upon the teeming throng, which surged through Eugene's streets so gay and sought to chase dull care away. There really isn't much to tell, for all we did was march and yell. The line of rooters never sagged, no one was tagged, no one was jagged, nobody lagged, nobody dragged, but almost everybody ragged. Officer, arrest that duffer, or kill him quick, don't let him suffer.

Leland Hendricks.

OREGON MEDICAL SCHOOL HAS INCREASED ENROLLMENT

The medical school of the University, at Portland, opened October 7, with an increased enrollment over that of last year. There are fifteen members in the Freshman class. Those from the University of Oregon, who have now registered as Freshmen S. Stenberg, ex-'14, W. A. McCall, ex-'14, and William Munly, ex-'15.

Dr. Kenneth McKenzie, the new Dean of the School of Medicine, was introduced at the opening of the session by the Assistant Dean, D. R. B. Dillehunt. Dr. John Mathew Connolly, formerly of Harvard Medical School, has begun work as Professor of Chemical Physiology. The other members of the faculty of the Physiology Laboratories are: John D. MacLaren, M. S., M. D., Director; Horace B. Fenton, B. A., M. D., Clinician; Mary V. Madigan, M. D., Anesthetist; H. M. Bouvy, Ph. C., Instructor, and J. Carle Rinehart, B. S., Technician.

Y.M. CENSUS SHOWS METHODISM PREVAILS AMONG COLLEGE MEN

CALVINISTS ARE CLOSE SECOND—OTHER DENOMINATIONS SCATTERING

FEW STUDENTS HAVE NO PREFERENCE

Non-Evangelical Church Members Are Scarce—Two Christian Science Men

A student church census, taken by the Young Men's Christian Association this fall among the men of the University, shows that the disciples of John and Charles Wesley are more numerous than those of any other creed or denomination.

This census, taken in connection with the regular Y. M. C. A. work during the first three weeks of college, does not enumerate all the men of the University. In that regard it is not complete, although inasmuch as it includes 282 of the 325 men registered with the registrar at the time of compiling, it is an approximate estimate of the religious status of the men in the University.

The census showed that there are 171 members of Evangelical churches, or who prefer churches of that order. Twenty-four claimed membership in non-evangelical organizations, embracing the Episcopal, Christian Science, Catholic, Unitarian, and Jewish creeds.

Of the total number of possible answers, but 84 responded that they were not church members and had no religious preferences.

Wesleyites headed the list, with the followers of John Calvin a close second. However, there are more Presbyterian preferences than Methodist. The Christian Church evidently secures all that are inclined that way, for with 22 members, there are but two preferences given for that organization. The Congregational, Baptist, and Lutheran denominations follow in the order named.

The following is a detailed list of membership, with preferences shown:

Methodist, members	45
Preferring	14
Presbyterian, members	38
Preferring	17
Christian, members	22
Preferring	2
Congregational, members	16
Preferring	3
Baptist, members	9
Preferring	2
Lutheran, members	3
Preferring	0

The non-evangelical church members are distributed as follows:

Christian Science	2
Unitarian	3
Jewish	3
Catholic	7
Episcopal	9

A meeting of the captains and sub-captains of the Women's class, sorority, and club basket ball teams was held Tuesday afternoon, for the purpose of discussing the schedule of practice and games for this season.

All games will be played before Christmas, the sorority and club games occurring first. Final contestants will be determined by a system of elimination.

The members of the class teams are to be chosen by a committee composed of Dr. Stuart and Miss Thompson, with the captains from each team and three or four others, who will be decided upon later.
