

COW PASTURE POOL CONTINUES IN FAVOR

RENOVATION OF WEED-GROWN LINKS PLANNED

Fen Waite Heads Movement—Membership Cards Sell at Fifty Cent Rate.

The golf devotees of the Faculty and Student Body are again bestirring themselves, and in a few days will be chasing the elusive white sphere over the hills south of Eugene. "Leaguer" Fen Waite, who is leading the fall revival of cow pasture pool, has announced that a farmer has been secured to clean and level the greens and to mow the grass between them. The grass at present is about three feet tall, but it is planned to cut a strip a hundred yards wide between all the greens, so that there will be no time lost hunting for the balls in the jungle.

It is expected that the links will be ready for play by the first of next week, but much depends upon the amount of funds secured from the sale of club membership cards. The membership cards of the College Hill Golf Club, as the organization has been named, are selling for fifty cents, and entitle the bearer to the privileges of the course for the season of 1912-1913.

Those behind the scheme to improve the links, ask that all golf enthusiasts will join the club immediately, as their dues are needed to pay for putting the course into first class condition.

A meeting of all those interested in golf will be held next week to effect a permanent organization and to discuss plans for a fall tournament.

NINETY-FIVE ENROLL IN THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Ninety-five students, ten of whom are majors in that department, form the unprecedented enrollment in the School of Music.

In the absence of Miss Morgan, Mr. Carl Lachmund is the official head of the department, with Miss Alice Benton as his assistant. Mr. Lachmund comes to Eugene once a month for conferences with Miss Benton's pupils. It is his intention in the near future to start a class in composition which will be opened to all students in the School of Music.

In connection with the vocal department, Miss Stinson will add a course in Sigert singing, which will be open to all vocal students.

Credits toward the fifteen required hours in education will be given for a course in methods of teaching music, for public school singing, which will be supervised by Mrs. Rose Powell.

TWENTY DORMITORY MEN ENTER BIBLE CLASS

Twenty Dormitory men have enrolled in the Y. M. C. A. Bible Study class, under the leadership of Dr. William Parson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. This class was organized at the Book Exchange Tuesday evening.

A number of other men have signified their intention of entering soon. The class will meet Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 6:45.

FROSH ARE WORKING

Annual Bonfire Will be Record-breaking, If Present Plans Are Successful.

The Freshmen Class is planning to build a record-breaking bonfire, Friday evening, to illuminate the rally for the W. S. C. football game, Saturday afternoon. In addition to the bonfire, the Freshmen are planning a "surprise" along the line of a new original colored fire stunt.

Already more than two car-loads of material have been hauled from the old Christian Church to the lower end of Kincaid Field, and before next Saturday, two more will be hauled. Twenty bales of excelsior will be burned and 100 gallons of kerosene, and a barrel of coal tar will be used.

According to the present plans of the bonfire committee, four telephone poles will be set in the ground at the corners of a twenty-five foot square, within which the old lumber and excelsior will be piled.

PAJAMA-CLAD CO-ED ROUTS BOLD BURGLAR

BELOIT, Wis., Oct. 21.—Clad only in pajamas and carrying a hat pin, Miss Agnes Thornton of Bedford, Massachusetts, a co-ed at Beloit college, routed a burglar whom she found in her room this morning.

The young co-ed chased the intruder through the park and inflicted several vigorous thrusts, which elicited yells of pain from the fleeing thief and caused him to drop her violin which he had stolen. When Miss Thornton returned to her quarters, the other co-eds were organizing a posse to go to her assistance.

CHICAGO CO-EDS WORK FOR BIG GAME

EVANSTON, Ills., Oct. 22.—Girl students at Northwestern University, although none of them will be permitted to accompany the football squad to Bloomington for the Indiana game next Saturday, are working hard to insure a big crowd of "rooters" among the boys for the trip. The "co-eds" will today sell tags at $2.50 each, which may be exchanged for tickets to Bloomington. A group of girls will visit the Chicago branches of the university and hope to sell 300 tags.

EXCHANGES

All athletic relations with Ursinus University have been severed by Gettysburg on account of the treatment received in the game last Saturday.

The Minnesota football aspirants have settled down to a hard grind in preparation for the Nebraska game. Secret practice will be the order for the next two or three weeks. The Nebraska line will outweigh the Swedes by fifteen to twenty pounds per man.

The largest new registration in the history of Cornell University was recorded when 140 men reported to Coach Hoyle for instructions. Disappointment is still felt over the defeat by Oberlin and the eleven is working extra hard in practice to regain the confidence of the student body.

Coach Stagg, of Chicago, is working his men hard to develop their speed and general offensive tactics, the need of which was shown up by the Indiana game.

On Tuesday, October 29, a straw vote will be taken at O. A. C. for the purpose of deciding the student choice for president of the United States. Each of the political parties is well represented.

Preston W. Search, a Phi Delta Theta from Webster University, '76, has been visiting at the Phi Delta Theta house. Mr. Search has been conducting student parties through Europe, having made travel and lecturing his hobby. His son, Frederic Preston Search, will appear in Eugene with a musical company December 16.
