

DOLAN, MINUS SIWASH, ALMOST BEATS DOBIE

WILY SCOT BADLY SCARED BY 9-3 VICTORY

Jacquot, Blackwell and Young Star.
Whitman Puts W. S. C. Back
Another Notch.

"Ye Gods of War! What has Dolan wrought?" Thus exclaimed the sporting sheets of the Northwest when they heard of the terrific battle which the Oregon Aggies waged against Gilmour Dobie's University of Washington eleven on the Multnomah gridiron last Saturday. Entering the contest with betting odds three to one against them, the O. A. C. eleven took the aggressive and literally swamped their northern opponents in the mud-covered field.

Washington was the first to score, with a drop kick by quarterback Young after the ball had been placed upon the Aggie 16-yard line by a series of lucky runs. From that time until the final touchdown by Washington, the odds were always in favor of Dolan's eleven.

Blackwell Ties Score.

In the second quarter, by spectacular work, the O. A. C. backs succeeded in keeping the ball almost continuously in their opponents' territory, which enabled Blackwell to try for several place kicks, and finally succeeding in putting one between the goal posts and tying the score. All during the second half the ball zig-zagged back and forth, with O. A. C. making ten yards to their opponents' eight, until three minutes before the final whistle blew, when Washington, after a 20-yard gain on a forward pass and a succession of line bucks, placed the ball over the goal line and nosed out a lucky nine to three victory.

Dobie Excited.

This was the first real scare that has been thrown into the Dobie camp for several years, and the wily Scot was appreciably excited. All of Dobie's fancy dancing and clever contortionist stunts, including the famous Highland Fling and the reverse hand-spring, were of no avail against the spectacular team displayed by the Dolan eleven. The Washingtonians won simply by chance.

Blackwell was the shining star for the Aggies, but he was closely seconded by May at tackle, Christian at center, and Evendon, the veteran fullback. For Washington, fullback Jacquot and quarterback Young were the stars.

Niles Is Again Whitman Star.

The elements were again disturbed at Spokane when the shifty Whitman College eleven exceeded the hopes of its most ardent admirers and overwhelmed Benders' Washington State College eleven by the one-sided score of 30 to 0. The game was Whitman's throughout, and its goal was never in serious danger.

"Tubby" Niles, Whitman's All-Northwest fullback, was the star for the Missionaries, while Keinholt and Coulter played best for W. S. C.

PROF. YOUNG'S SENIORS TO HOLD CONFERENCES

ing for the effectiveness of each conference.

"Systems of public accounting as a step towards attaining highest efficiency in the affairs of municipalities, counties, and the state, will be made the subject of another conference. The organization of municipal markets and of farm credit associations will also be promoted under the auspices of the University.

"Furthermore it is believed that a comprehensive development of Oregon's power resources and the general application of electricity upon the Oregon farm will be hastened through a discussion that elicits general cooperation of all parties concerned. Other matters of quite as vital interest will be taken up.

"The motives underlying this University movement are the ideal and spirit of commonwealth service, largest utilization of scientific procedure and the purpose to bring about the co-operation of all representations of all interests."

Nearly a dozen coaches from the different Northwest colleges saw the O. A. C.-Washington game, Saturday.
