UNIVERSITY FACULTY REPLIES TO ATTACKS ON POSTING SYSTEM

PROFESSORS SHOW DATA TO DISPROVE CHARGE OF DIS- CRIMINATION

PROFESSORS SEEK TO JUSTIFY ACTIONS

President Campbell and Registrar Tiffany Say Reports Exaggerated— No Men Off Team Now.

"The whole matter is greatly exaggerated," said President Campbell speaking of the football posting system this afternoon. "I have, myself, personally investigated nearly every case where a man has been kept off the team on account of posting, and in every case there was no doubt that the man was down in his work, as he himself admitted. All of the men are back now. Only one was kept off more than a few days."

Registrar A. R. Tiffany produced his records and showed that a total of five first squad men have been posted during the entire season. "In every case but one the men were back in a few days," he said. Only once has a man been kept out of a game by a post received less than a week before a game. There is no tendency on the part of the Faculty to work against the best interests of the school. The men who were posted are either poor students or fail to work, and they are always given every chance to get back on. This talk of the Faculty putting the team on the blink is absolutely unfounded."

"I do not keep track of whether or not a man in my department is playing football," said Dr. Shafer, when asked in regard to the posting system's effect on athletes. "That has nothing to do with the work required," he continued. "If any student is not doing the work that he should, he is posted. If it happens to be a member of the football team, it's up to him to keep up his work."

"The posting system is all right," said Dr. Conklin, "but every student should be held up to the same standard which is required of the football man."

"My experience with football men here has been very meager," he continued, "for I have had very few in my classes in the two years which I

KAPPA ALPHA THETA DEFEATS LAMBDA RHO

Gamma Phi Beta Eliminated From Series by Beth Reah—Score 22 to 20.

Kappa Alpha Theta outplayed Lambda Rho two to one in the first exciting game of the inter-sorority series Tuesday afternoon, winning by a score of 25 to 12. Bess Cowden and Hazel Rader, the Theta guards, shot nine and three baskets respectively, while Janet Young and Angela Young, Lambda Rhos, annexed four and one in the order named.

The game was fast and snappy and there was no time for either players or spectators to relax.

Wednesday evening the Gamma Phi Betas suffered defeat by the close score of 22 to 20 at the hands of the Beth Reahs, in their elimination game. As two defeats result in elimination, Gamma Phi will not play again, having been defeated by Lambda Rho Monday evening.

Dr. Sweetland, coach of Willamette University, who held one of the yard sticks at the Washington-O. A. C. contest, bitterly excoriated Carlson, one of the announcers, whom he alleged violated all the rules of fair play at frequent intervals by giving advice to his former team-mates, the Aggies, under the guise of performing official duties.

STUDENT ACTORS REPORT ALL IN READINESS FOR SUCCESSFUL PRODUCTION OF "THE CLOUDS"

Strepsiadēs directing Phidipides to the Thinking Shop of Socrates; Villard Hall, Saturday evening.

With the scenery complete, the costumes here, and the last rehearsal scheduled for this evening, "The Clouds," the first student dramatic effort of this year, awaits the proverbial rise of the curtain in Villard Hall, Saturday evening, at 8:15 o'clock.

Everything has been done to make the play a success, according to Manager Walter Dimm this morning. "The ticket sale has been good," he said. "Reports from the ticket sellers indicate that we will have a good crowd."

Reports from the student actors, the faculty members connected with the production, and from the company's press agents, indicate that the performance will be par excellence. "Its pretty rich all right," said Alfred Skei, one of the leading characters in the play, who continued, "its on a par with Shakespeare's best work."

Professor Straub, who has been instrumental in the production of the comedy, said, "No one, not even a student, should miss 'The Clouds.' It is a treat."

Professor Reddie had nothing to say in regard to the performance, although it is known that he has taken the part of Russel Calkins, the role of Phipades, on account of the former's incapacity.

LOADS OF MAIL COME TO JOURNALISM DEPT.

"This is almost as good as a railway postoffice," said Professor Allen, of the Journalism department yesterday morning, as Janitor Tracy, of McClure Hall, brought in nearly a clothes basket full of mail, including papers and correspondence.

Nearly 45 daily and weekly newspapers are being received by the department every day, among them the London Times, Telegraph, and Manchester Guardian. The students in the first year class have as part of their course the work of keeping the files of papers up to date. A study of the policies and general characteristics of the papers is included in this work.

Over fifteen hundred couples attended the masked ball at the University of Kansas, October 31. Many unique costumes were displayed.

DON'T PLAY WITH KITTY; YOU MAY REGRET IT

Students in Zoology Find That Felines Bear Many Types of Germs and Diseases.

Kittens may be nice playthings for children, but according to statements from the Department of Zoology, a package of "rough-on-rats" would be no less dangerous. The students under Professor Bovard, Professor of Zoology, recently have been dissecting cats as part of their laboratory work and have made interesting discoveries. The feline specimens are prone to bear large families of parasitic forms of life. In one cat recently examined, no less than 20 different parasites were discovered. The most common of these is the tape worm, one or more of which nearly every child's kitty is the possessor.

According to Professor Bovard, these parasitic diseases, through their eggs and germs, are readily transferable, especially when the child brings the mouth of the cat in contact with its own.

From another point of view is the cat a source of disease. According to Professor Bovard nearly every specimen which he examines, has tuberculosis. He does not undertake to state positively that this is a source of the disease to the human being. But from the fact that rats are considered spreaders of tuberculosis, this much may be inferred.

From a bacteriological standpoint the animals are equally apt to be dangerous, especially if their habits allow them to look for their food in refuse barrels.

MEMBERS OF WOMEN'S COUNCIL ARE SELECTED

The members of the Women's Council, recently selected, are, Miss Ruth Guppy, Eleanor McClaine, Mildred Whittlesey, Pearl Horner, Lucille Davis, Mae Norton, Elizabeth Busch, Carin Degermark, Margaret Powell, Minnie Holman, Helen Ramage, Lena Newton, Vesta Holt, Hazel McKowan, Zella Soultz, Verena Black, Grace Hartley.

The aim of the council is given as the constant betterment of the spirit of the University, to develop a sense of individual responsibility in the college women, and to take steps by which the social standing of the University may be kept at a high standard.

The council will meet next Friday. Regular meetings are scheduled for every second Friday of the month.

BIG SQUAD DEPARTS TO BATTLE DOBIE'S ELEVEN AT SEATTLE

NINETEEN PLAYERS WITH THE COACH AND TRAINER LEAVE THIS MORNING

LAST PRACTICE IS BRILLIAN

Hayward's Charges in Perfect Shape —Seven Substitutes Are Taken for Game.

The Oregon football squad of nineteen men, accompanied by Coach Pinkham and Trainer Hayward, left this morning, at 10:55, for Seattle, where they will meet the University of Washington Saturday afternoon.

The final practice yesterday consisted of a long and fast signal practice and a short scrimmage between the first and second teams. The varsity showed the best form of the season, their plays being executed with speed and accuracy. Features of the practice were the successful use of the forward pass and the punting of Fenton. But few fumbles were made.

The squad leaves in perfect condition. Injuries this season have been few, due doubtless to the good conditioning given the men by Trainer Hayward. In the conference games so far this season, not an Oregon man has been removed because of injuries, and time has never been taken out. Oregon is the only college in the Northwest who can boast of this record.

Coach Pinkham refused to give the first line up, but the following will probably be the team that will start the game for Oregon: Caufield, center; McClelland and Fenton, guards; Bailey and Grout, tackles; Bradshaw and Hall ends; Cornell, quarter; Cook, full; Parsons and Captain Walker, halves.

In addition the following men are being taken as substitutes: Briedwell, Heusner, Anusen, Jones, Hartsuck, Holden, and Soden.

In last Sunday's Oregonian, Dudley Clarke, the former Oregon fullback, now playing with the Multnomah Club, has published a long article giving advice on how to play the fullback position.

MR. BATES' STENOGRAPHER, ON SLY, GIVES LINE ON LECTURE ON OREGON'S BEAUTIES

No man can be a hero to his own valet, it is said, but Philip S. Bates, who is to show a splendid collection of stereopticon views in Professor Stafford's lecture room tomorrow night, is a "big noise" in the honest opinion of the stenographer who took Mr. Bates' dictation of a letter Professor Allen received this morning. A little note slipped into the envelope gave the "inside dope." "Mr. Bates is too backward about coming forward," it said, "and this is put in by the stenographer for what it is worth."

Mr. Bates has more than 200 beautiful colored views of wonderful bits of Oregon scenery, now inaccessible because of the state's lack of roads. There are other pictures that show at a glance the worst and the best that has been done here in highway building. The lecturer, who is secretary of the State Press Association and editor of the Pacific Northwest, a leading farm journal, holds that the greatest undeveloped resources of the state is its scenery, which should make it the Switzerland of America and bring in as big an income as its farms.

Mr. Bates is special representative of the United States Department of Agriculture's Public Roads Office for Oregon; secretary and treasurer of the Oregon Association for Highway Improvement, and Secretary of the Oregon Threshers' Association, which is also a strong good roads organization.

No charge for admission will be made. The lecture will begin at 8 o'clock. This entertainment is a courtesy offered to the Faculty and students by the State Editorial Association, and the department of journalism regards it as highly advisable that the University show its appreciation in a practical way, by furnishing a standing-room-only audience.

PRESENT NORTHWEST LEAGUE MAY DIVIDE AFTER COLLEGE CONFERENCE DECEMBER 19

The question of dividing the six conference basketball teams into two triangular leagues will be considered at the annual meeting of the Northwest college conference, to be held in Spokane, December 19, 20, 21. Two delegates from each of the six institutions concerned will be present, and an attempt will be made to settle the matter definitely.

The proposed plan is advocated mainly for economy. By including Oregon, Washington and the Oregon Agricultural College in one league, and Whitman, Washington State College and the University of Idaho in the other, it is argued that each of the two leagues can decide on its best team with a minimum of traveling expenses. The winner of the W. S. C.-Whitman-Idaho league would then play the winner of the other league and so settle the championship. The teams of the Eastern league would all be located within a few miles of each other and only one team would have to make a long trip. This new arrangement would be cheaper by saving the many long trips from the Eastern schools. So far both Oregon and Washington authorities have opposed this plan.

In addition to the regular work of the conference on schedules, it is expected that legislation will be enacted to cover in a more specific manner, the question of professional and amateur standing among the athletes of the conference. A new rule will be introduced to prohibit in the future the playing of Haskell, Carlisle, or any such undergraduates, without application of the one year rule which is in force in regard to degree institutions of the country.
