NEWSPAPERMEN SEE CLASS OF WORK DONE IN NEW DEPARTMENT

PROFESSOR ALLEN PROPOSES THAT EDITORS FIX STANDARDS OF NEWS COURSE

JOURNALISM AN ART, SAYS COL. HOFER

Relation of State Publications and Oregon System is Theme Chosen by Sam Evans.

The conference of the Western Oregon Editor's Association in Eugene yesterday, and its entertainment on the campus, signalled the first official recognition, by the press of the State, of the newly-created Department of Journalism, and went far toward giving the Oregon Emerald a permanent place as a recognized factor in state newspaper circles.

Afternoon Session Open.

After the morning session of the Association at the Commercial Club, which was given over to business transactions, the delegates adjourned, to re-assemble, at the invitation of Professor E. W. Allen, in the main hall of the Journalism Department. The afternoon session was open to all, a special invitation having been extended to members of the Emerald staff and students in the Journalism Department. Professor Allen presided, and opened the Assembly with a brief sketch of the growth of the science of teaching journalism in colleges, and a review of the progress of the local school. Continuing, he submitted to the editors a plan for the organization of a Central Council of newspaper editors to act as an advisory board, and determine standards and courses of study to be followed by the department.

Jenkins Praises Student Work.

Col. E. Hofer followed with a pithy talk on the finer aspects of journalism. "It is not a science; it is an art—the fine art of modern times; the highest form of human interest." Col. Hofer classifies journalism as—Metropolitan, Provincial, Weekly, Trade, and Amateur.

Mr. Frank Jenkins, of the Eugene Register, praised the work of the students at the polls and newspaper offices election night, and expressed the opinion that hereafter there would always be a demand for assistance from the department when crises occurred in the publication of the local dailies.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL SAYS OVERALLS AND APRONS WILL BE ALLOWED AT HARVEST DANCE

A real, old time harvest dance is announced by the Executive Council for next Saturday night. Overall and soft shirts for the men and shirt waists, sack aprons, and "breakfast caps" for the college girls are to be in order, with "boiled shirts," coats and party gowns strictly taboo. Good sweet cider instead of punch will be served.

"An informal informal, if one may use the expression, is what we had in mind," said Carleton Spencer, chairman of the Council, this morning. "The impression has gotten out that it is to be a 'hard times' affair, but this is not the case. It is to be a harvest ball, absolutely informal, but

GREEN CAP WEEKLY MAY NOT APPEAR UNTIL NOVEMBER 25

Superabundance of Material Makes Delay Necessary—Only Two Frosh Subscribe.

Owing to the amount of material collected for the first issue and the difficulty encountered in sorting out the literary gems, the "Green Cap Weekly," the strictly Freshman publication, will not make its debut until November 25.

This is the information conveyed by lurid posters recently displayed upon the bulletin boards and campus, which are the work of the manager of the embryonic rival to existing college publications. Although it was inferred through the original advertisements that the new organ of the oppressed will only consider first year subscribers, the publishers are not worried over the fact that there are but two bone fide Frosh subscribers on all the extant lists. They find solace in the fact that the names of many campus notables have affixed their supposed signatures to the subscription.

Manager A. L. Mickey, in speaking of the delay, said, "We had to do it. More good material came in than we expected."

The "we" refers also to the editor-in-chief, James A. Loundagin, the thirty-five year old Freshman from Garfield, Wash.

MRS. PIPES WILL RECITE

Former University Teacher of Violin to Appear at Villard Hall Monday Night.

Sunday Mrs. Pipes is scheduled to give a concert at the Rex Theatre. She was for three years a teacher of violin in the University Department of Music. Later she went to Berlin for two years of study and taught a year after returning. She moved to Portland after that and since living there she has taught a little, but most of her spare time was spent in private concert work.

Dorm Sends Staggs to Seattle.

Through a personal contribution of 50 cents from every man in the Dormitory, enough money was raised last Tuesday to send Ira Staggs, '14, to Seattle for the Oregon-Washington game today.

The suggestion was first made at a meeting of the Dorm Club last Tuesday noon, and resulted in the election of the club's representative that evening. Staggs has been keeping the men informed of his whereabouts and experiences through a postal card bulletin sent each day to Thad Wentworth, president of the club.

30-14 VICTORY FOR WASHINGTON CLOSES MOST BRILLIANT GAME OF 1912 SEASON

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 16—(Special)—Although defeated in today's game with the University of Washington by the score of 30 to 14, the Oregon team put up one of the most brilliant exhibitions of football ever seen on Denny Field. The mere fact that eight forward passes netted 166 yards, and two touchdowns, and that all of Oregon's scores were made in the final quarter, speak for themselves.

Coach Dobie, in speaking of today's game, said, "I do not care to compare the relative standing of Oregon and O. A. C., because I do not wish to hurt one team's feelings. I will say that our game with O. A. C. was no criterion to judge comparative scores, for I called that game water polo. There is no comparison."

First Quarter

The first quarter of the Oregon-Washington game closed with the score 10 points in favor of Washington, with honors of the game in favor of the victors.

Oregon tried in vain to hold the march of the Washington backs, and did so for brief periods.

After an exchange of punts, Washington recovered a punt fumbled by Cornell on the 25-yard line. Young's first drop kick failed. Walker lost 4 yards, then punted to the center of the field. Washington immediately rushed the ball back in seven plays to the 27-yard line, and Young's second drop kick was a success.

Five minutes later, Oregon recovered Young's punt from the center of the field to the 8-yard line.

Oregon made a successful fight in holding for downs, and recovered the ball on the 3-yard line. Fenton attempted to punt to safety, but it was blocked and Presley fell on the ball for a touchdown for Washington. Patton kicked the goal.

The Oregon team seemed stronger, and chances looked good for retaliation in the next quarter.

Bailey starred on the Oregon line, while Cornell and Walker were heroes of the back field.

For Washington, Presley at center, and Jacquot at half, played a great game.

Second Quarter

Fenton's kick-off at the start of the second quarter was returned to the 25-yard line. Washington punted out to the center of the field, where the ball see-sawed back and forth for most of the quarter. Fenton punted 40 yards after losing 10 on a blocked punt. Young ran the ball back 15 yards and punted. Fenton's long forward pass was intercepted by a Washington back, which forced him to punt. The 35-yard kick placed the ball on the Washington 40-yard line. Hunt was caught holding, and cost his team a 15-yard penalty. Fenton was injured when tackling Young, but re-entered the game.

A beautiful forward pass with a clear field was fumbled by Hall. This same play failed three times, but a pass from Fenton to Walker netted 8 yards. A fake kick netted 10 yards.

Place Kick Tried

Fenton then tried a place kick from the 30-yard line. The Oregon line held perfectly, but the kick failed by two yards.

Score at the end of the quarter, Washington 10; Oregon 0.

Second Half

Jacquot returned 20 yards on Oregon's kick-off, and then bucked through for 8 yards, following this up by another 8-yard gain through the line. Shiel made the first down with 4 yards. Miller went through for 12 yards, and Hunt for 8 yards.

Fariss Goes In

Fariss replaced McClelland at left guard at this point. Young gained 5 yards, continuing the march down the field. The Oregon ends were frequently boxed. Shiel carried the ball to the one-yard line, and Jacquot heaved it over on the last down. The kick for goal was successful. Score, 17 to 0.

Parsons recovered a kick-off on the 5-yard line and returned 15 yards. Oregon failed to make yardage and Fenton punted. Young returned the punt 15 yards to the center of the field. Walker broke into a dangerous forward pass almost received by Sutton on the 6-yard line. A second forward pass failed, giving Oregon the ball on downs on the 20-yard line. Fenton punted out 25 yards from the center of the field. Miller, of Washington, broke through for 15 yards, and Young for 10 more, placing the ball on Oregon's 10-yard line. Holden replaced Grout.

Again Goal Line Was Crossed

In four downs and within the last four minutes of play, Washington for the third time carried the ball over the Oregon goal line. Young failed to kick goal. Score, 23 to 0.

After the kick-off to the 15-yard line. Cook broke through for a 10-yard gain. A 15-yard penalty on Oregon brought the ball back to the 12-yard line. The quarter ended with the ball in Oregon's possession.

Third Quarter

Oregon fumbled, but recovered and punted to the center of the field. Hart replaced Hunt for Washington. Jacquot took the ball from Young on a fake punt and gained 25 yards. Washington was penalized 15 yards for holding. Patton fell on a high spiral of Young's, giving Washington the ball on Oregon's 15 yard line. Shiel then crossed for another touchdown for Washington. Score 30 to 0.

Jones 65 Yards

Jones created a sensation by gaining 65 yards on two forward passes. Walker first carried the ball to center field, and then Jones went through for 20 yards more on the next pass. Jacquot of Washington caught a forward pass on Washington's 5-yard line.

Oregon Scores Touchdown

Two forward passes to Hall brought the ball back to Washington's goal and the third pass carried it over.

Cook received the pass on which the goal was made, and Walker kicked the goal. Excitement in the grandstand was intense.

Oregon Scores Again

Cornell received a second forward pass over the goal line after two passes of 35 and 10 yards across the field had been made. Score 30 to 14. Oregon made 166 yards on forward passes in the fourth quarter.

Washington recovered the ball on a pass across the side line in the last four minutes of play, but failed to score.

Final score, Washington 30; Oregon 14.

UNUSUAL ARTISTIC TALENT WILL INTERPRET "CLOUDS"

Hendricks Replies to Attacks of Erudite Critics With Double Jointed Diction.

(Lee Hendricks.)

That meritorious masterpiece of aesthetic achievement, "The Accumulation of Nebulous Vapor," otherwise known at "The Clouds," will be intelligently interpreted by a scintillating constellation of coruscations, including Leland Finch, Alfred Skei, and Archibald Ferguson Reddie, in Villard auditorium tonight.

The originator of this autochthonous efflorescence, one bearing the cognomen, "Aristophanes," seems to have combined exceptional familiarity with the acromatical aphorisms of dramatic art with discriminating perspicacity into the idiosyncrasies of divergent temperaments. So assiduously do the erudite performers execute their prescribed functions, that, eschewing all further rhetorical peregrinations and periphrastical circumlocutions, we do not hesitate to express our prognostications concerning a felicitous outcome.

Note—We fear that in past articles we have indulged too freely in slang, and it is with the hope of satisfying the "highbrows" that we submit the above gem of dramatic criticism.)

CHANCES FOR NORTHWEST CHAMPIONSHIP IN BASKETBALL LOOK GOOD TO FANS

(By Tommy Boylen.)

With four of last year's championship basketball teams in college, Oregon's chances for winning the Northwest title are good. Real varsity basketball will not begin until after the Christmas holidays, but the preliminary games of the Inter-fraternity League, accompanied with the usual class games, will make December an interesting month in this activity.

Of last year's team, Captain Jamison, all-Northwest forward, is missing. Inasmuch as he has won Northwest honors for the past three years, his place will be hard to fill.

The old men of the team are Captain Sims, Fenton, Walker, and Bradshaw. Sims has played a consistent game at guard for the past two years.

O. A. C. REVERSES DOPE ON WHITMAN GAME BY GAINING 20-0 VICTORY

CHAMPIONSHIP HOPES ARE SHATTERED BY COACH DOBIE'S MEN

LUCK BRINGS LAST TWO TOUCHDOWNS

Shaw Makes First Score and Larsen Duplicates Play—Missionary Work Ragged

Corvallis, Nov. 16—(Special to the Emerald, by Harold Young)—Luck was responsible for the last two of the Aggies' three scores, but they earned the 20 to 3 victory over Whitman this afternoon. A dive over center by Quarterback Dewey and quick work by Shaw and Robinson in intercepting forward passes from Neils, which they turned into scores, gave the game to O. A. C.

Aggies Excel in Forward Pass

Careless work by Kinder in allowing Blackwell's punt to escape was the cause of the first score, after the teams had fought evenly for nearly two quarters. Although Whitman threatened to score in the first of the second half, by skillful use of the forward pass the Aggies again forced the ball down the field.

Shaw Makes First Score

Shaw, right halfback, caught a pass from Neils and ran 30 yards for a score. Later Larsen, a Corvallis sub end, did exactly the same thing; Whitman tried hard to come back, but Neils finally scored an easy drop kick. Neither team could advance continuously, and both fumbled at critical times. The Aggies' line spoiled play after play and opened holes for Blackwell, who starred.

The defeat this afternoon definitely shatters Whitman's hopes of a championship this year. Washington's victory over Oregon, coupled with the result at Corvallis, gives that distinction to Washington for the fourth consecutive time; in other words, ever since Dobie landed in Seattle.

On Friday evening, Mrs. Jos. H. Gilbert entertained with a birthday dinner party in honor of Willard Shaver. The house was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and ivy green. The guests were Mrs. M. E. Shaver, Flora Dunham, Faye Ball, Lucille Davis, Carleton Spencer, and Charles Reynolds.

center for two seasons will be in the game again. Fenton's reputation has been won by his wonderful jumping and ability to shoot baskets.

Walker has played forward with Jamison for the past three years. Opposing guards have found this a hard combination to break up. Last year was Bradshaw's first try at varsity basketball.

Of the old men in college, who have not won their "O," are several eligible candidates, who might be called upon to fill the vacant place. Among these are Briedwell, Stevenson, Brooks, Gould, and Parsons.

Of the Freshmen with "Prep Records," the following seven are the most promising: George Bryant, Kaiser, Fee, Hampton, Bigbee, Bean, McCowan, and Billings.
