THE SEASON TICKETS

It seems that there has been some misunderstanding regarding the season ticket system. The cost of the tickets was five dollars, which could be paid in two installments of two and one-half dollars each. Upon payment of the first installment a receipt in the shape of a ticket was given. Upon December 1 the second installment became payable. The payment of the amount and the presentation of the ticket receiving the first payment entitled one to a ticket good for all the year.

By this system one receives for five dollars what he otherwise would have to pay ten and one-half dollars for.

THE SOPHOMORE HOP

The class of 1915 certainly did itself proud at the annual Sophomore Hop Saturday evening. The decorations, music, punch and, in short, the whole affair, was equal, if not superior to any other class dance given on the campus.

Do your Christmas shopping early! But don't, in your zeal, forget the new cutting rule, and inadvertently neglect to attend Friday's classes. You're liable to need that extra credit some day.

NEXT RHODES SCHOLAR CHOSEN WITHOUT EXAMS

Word was received yesterday from Dr. O. C. Parkin, American Secretary to the Rhodes Trust, that the plan suggested by him in reference to the candidates for the Rhodes Scholarship has been accepted, and that in view of the fact that the questions for the Oxford examination did not arrive for the state of Oregon last October, the committee of selection should proceed to appoint the next Rhodes scholar from the two Oregon candidates, George Stewart, Jr., of McMinnville, and Luton Ackerson, of the University, on the supposition that the one chosen will pass these examinations next fall at Oxford. The committee of selection will meet in Portland during the holidays to make its decision.

STUDENTS TO HAVE ACCESS TO OTHER COLLEGE PAPERS

In order to give all the students of the University access to the exchange papers received by the Emerald, it has been arranged to have Professor Allen's journalism class keep full files of each paper received. The files will be left in the Emerald office in McClure Hall with the papers received by the journalism department.

A large list of college and university publications, including all the student publications of the Northwest, as well as a large number of the large Eastern publications, are received regularly by the Emerald. On the exchange list are also several of the important city publications of the state.

INSTALLMENTS DUE

Manager Geary Declares Student Tickets Void Until Second Payments Are Made.

The large number of games yet to be seen in Eugene is emphasized by Arthur Geary concerning the use of the Student Body ticket. Immediately after vacation the basketball season will commence. Among the events are two basketball games with O. A. C., two with the University of Washington, with Willamette University, and with the colleges of the Inland Empire. Two baseball games will be played with O. A. C., two with the University of Washington, and two with Willamette University. A track meet will be held in Eugene with Multnomah. Several indoor meets will also occur early in the spring.

Of the $12 worth of entertainment, which the $5 ticket is said to entitle the holder, only $1.60 worth has been received, declares Geary. He states, "There appears to be a misunderstanding about the use of this ticket, especially among the women students regarding the installment plan of paying for the tickets. The portion paid down at the first of the year pays but half the cost of the ticket. The installment plan was followed at the suggestion of President Spencer, of the Associated Students, that many of the students were unable to pay the whole $5 at one time. The Student Body ticket is not a money making scheme and, in fact, will probably cost the Student Body in dollars and cents.

"In addition to the athletic features, the Co-ed debates with Washington will be held in May. The men's interstate debate occurs March 28.

"The second installment of $2.50 must be paid upon the tickets at the steward's office before they can be used again."

What the College Editors are Saying

"Programs."

"Custom has made it practically necessary for a man to fill his varsity ball program before he gets to the hall, if he wants any dances at all. But even under these conditions, many an upperclassman fervently swears, as he realizes some slip-up, that he'll never account for every dance on his program before getting in the hall again.

"Freshmen, however, according to latest reports, intend to fill their programs completely, or nearly so, before attending their frolic. To do this will rob the dance of its real function—that of promoting acquaintance.

"We hear some organizations are planning to duck freshmen who do this. 'Tis a worthy movement. Fill up the tub, sophs!

"Splash! Splash!"—University of Washington Daily.

PROF. DUNN PRESENT AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

University Instructor Continues His Series on Art by Delivering Two More Lectures.

Professor Dunn delivered the second of his series of illustrated lectures Thursday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, in Professor Sweetser's room in Deady Hall. The subject of his lecture was "The Iliad in Art." He gave the story of the Trojan war as illustrated in art, referring to the different paintings in the museums and art galleries of Europe. Stereopticon pictures, showing portrait busts of Homer as he is represented in the 'Escape of Aeneas from Troy,' and also showing the ruins of Troy were given.

"Troy," said Professor Dunn, "is the ancient prototype of Constantinople today. The struggle of nations for a passageway through the strait, is similar to the struggle of Troy to obtain possession. The positions held by the two cities are practically the same."

A sequel to this lecture, "The Odyssey in Art," will be given later. "The Arch of Titus," from pictures in the forum of Rome was the subject of Professor Dunn's lecture Sunday morning at the Methodist Sunday school. In the afternoon he gave a talk on "The Origin of the Bible," at the city Y. M. C. A.

A continuation of this series of lectures with the aid of the reflectoscope in Professor Sweetser's room will be held:

Tuesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock—Dr. Stewart's Freshman class, "Greek Woman."

Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock—Dr. Stewart's Sophomore class, "Greek Women."

Thursday afternoon, at 4 o'clock—"The Adoration of the Wise Men in Legend and Art."

Friday afternoon, Professor Dunn will deliver a lecture on "Virgil's Aeneid," before an assembly of High School students at Jefferson High School in Portland.

NEW SAFE INSTALLED

University Office Acquires Equipment to Facilitate Preserving of Books and Records.

A 3,500 pound Molser safe has been added to the office equipment of the University, for the purpose of keeping the books and records of the institution intact.

The strong box, which is the latest burglar proof construction, has been placed in the eastern part of the main office, near the present safe, which was not considered strong enough to house the valuable records from fire or robbers. The total cost of the safe was about $400. Other equipment recently added to the office fixtures consists of a modern filing cabinet and an office desk to accommodate the increasing business of Steward Louis Johnson.

"Adoration of the Magic," is the third lecture, which will be given by Professor Dunn, in Deady Hall next Thursday, at 4 o'clock.
