THE OREGON MONTHLY

The Executive Council has voted to discontinue the Oregon Monthly and to establish a literary department of the Emerald. The editing of this literary supplement will be practically the same as that of the Monthly. The editor in charge will have a corps of assistants and will be entirely independent of all other departments of the Emerald. The real change will occur in the management; the Emerald manager taking complete charge.

The Emerald has consented to undertake this task in order to provide a field for the literary work of the University. We feel that by doing this we can aid in re-establishing, at an early date, the Oregon Monthly in its old form and upon a firm financial foundation. Work of this nature should receive every encouragement and, when worthy, should receive publication.

The Council was actuated by the same considerations.

It had in mind the fight for life which the Monthly went through last year, and which ended in its becoming a quarterly instead of a Monthly, although retaining the misnomer. This arrangement did not afford publication facilities for all the worthy literary productions of the University.

Action of the Merchant's Protective Association and various other hindrances made it impossible for the Monthly to maintain itself financially by means of advertising. The Student Body appropriation was far from sufficient to make up the deficit. This prevented the staff from doing justice to itself. It was hampered and worried on all sides by the consciousness of limited space and unstable support. If the publication were to be maintained, it would have to be done by direct Student Body appropriations, which our treasury will not warrant. On the other hand, the Emerald's business organization is such that it can assume the publication of a literary supplement and practically make it pay for itself.

The Executive Council was also prompted by one other important consideration. The work done by University writers deserves wide circulation. Every one who reads it, is favorably impressed. Published as a literary supplement of the Emerald, this subject matter will reach more than ten times as many people as it would if published under the old system. This not only means direct good to the University through the attention called to this phase of work, but it also adds an incentive to increased effort on the part of the contributors.

Literary talent will have an unlimited range for achievement, and its productions will be read over the entire state from the High Schools to the Alumni Association. Meanwhile let us work toward the re-establishment of a bigger and better Monthly next year.

YOU EASTERN OREGON MEN

The University of Oregon Glee Club leaves Portland immediately after Christmas on its annual holiday tour, this time into Eastern Oregon, giving seven or eight concerts. In each case, to more than a score of students, the Glee Club is playing in "my home town." It is to these students that this is written. Each of these has an obligation to the University. This obligation can frankly be called to "doost." The Glee Club is a student activity, just as is football and baseball. The money which it earns goes into the student treasury. To passively allow the Glee Club to come to your city, or perhaps to buy tickets, is far from enough. Work for the club. Feel that you have been largely responsible for its success after it is over.

Hand it to 1915. The Sophomore class hour had one virtue, it fulfilled its purpose, which was to entertain the student body. Class hours are not intended to discuss weighty problems or to settle the question of class supremacy. Yesterday's effort accomplished its purpose admirably.

OREGON GRAD MARRIES

John Kestly, Jr., '11, and Miss Emma Wise, married this morning at Catholic Parish House.

John Jerry Kestly, Jr., '11, and Miss Emma Mary Wise, of Wise Villa, Oregon, were married this morning at 10 o'clock by Father Moran, at the Catholic parish house, on East Eleventh street. Carl Gabrielson, ex-'12, of Salem, was best man, and Miss Nellie Wise, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. Mr. H. K. Wise, of Wise Villa, father of the bride, John Kestly, of Springfield, father of the groom, and the local chapter of Beta Theta Pi, were present.

John Kestly graduated with the class of 1911, from the department of Civil Engineering. He has been in the employ of the Willamette Pacific Railroad since graduation as an assistant engineer. Miss Emma Wise is a graduate of the Belmont School in Nashville, Tennessee, and also attended Miss Head's school in Berkeley. Her father is a wealthy rancher, at what is known as Wise Villa, about 35 miles west of Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Kestly left this morning for Portland, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will reside at Blakely on the line of the Natron cut-off, where Mr. Kestly has been stationed.

PROFESSOR SMITH WILL GIVE COURSE IN ASTRONOMY

Professor W. M. Smith, of the department of mathematics, has announced that he will offer a three-hour course in non-mathematical astronomy, the hours to be arranged to suit the students who wish to take the course.

There has been no course in astronomy for a number of years, although at one time the University maintained an expensive observatory on Skinner's Butte, just north of the Southern Pacific depot.

Professor W. M. Smith studied this branch of science extensively while at Columbia University, and later taught a class in star study at Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania.

The local Chi Omega Alumnae Association has raised a donation of clothing and provisions for a destitute woman, who has been soliciting in this city.

What the College Editors are Saying

"Don't Kick, You Loafer."

"Now that the season of Dean's reports has come, we hear numerous complaints of what taskmasters the profs are and how unfair they are in their decisions. When you hear a pseudo-student kicking because he hasn't got a square deal, and that he really didn't deserve the report, put him down as one of those brilliant scholars who was laboring under the impression that he could bluff the professor.

"Absolutely the only cure for an idea of this sort, as far as the instructor is concerned, is good consistent work from now on to the end of the semester. Otherwise there is little hope for the delinquent. The purpose of these mid-semester reports is to put the student on the qui vive. And in most cases they serve their purpose. For unless too many reports are sent in the result need not necessarily be fatal."—Ohio State Lantern.

OREGON GLEE CLUB HAS CO-ED SOLOISTS

Miss Florence Avery, Who Is to Sing at Hood River, First Soloist From Fair Sex.

For the first time in the history of the University, a college woman will take part in the men's Glee Club concert. Miss Florence Avery has consented to sing for the Glee Club in Hood River, January 4. Miss Avery will sing a couplet in dramatic soprano: "At Parting," by Roger, and "An Open Secret," by Woodman.

Miss Avery's home is at Hood River, and for this reason she will appear on the program there. She will not sing at any of the other concerts given by the club while en route.

Y. W. C. A. CONSIDERS JUVENILE COURT WORK

"Juvenile Court Work" was the topic under consideration at the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A., led by Catherine Kirkpatrick, Monday afternoon. Florence Avery gave a vocal solo.

Elizabeth Busch, Edna Messenger, and Helen Holbrook, took up phases of the Juvenile Court topic. Miss Busch spoke of the work of Mrs. Baldwin and her assistants in Portland. She made it evident that too little money was spent for children in comparison with that spent in penitentiaries and insane asylums. Miss Messenger took May Norton's place and read of the Camp Fire Girls. Miss Holbrook told of the business women of Eugene, their new rest room, and their hopes of a Y. W. C. A. building.

A real live Santa Claus and a Christmas tree full of Yuletide offerings were the features of the Delta Delta pre-holiday festivity at the chapter house last evening. The gifts were slight in value but numerous. Several of the local alumnae were present.
