

A-P SYSTEM EXPLAINED

O. A. Morris, Eugene Associated Press Representative, Speaks to Journalists

O. A. Morris, the Eugene representative of the Associated Press, addressed the Journalism students of the University yesterday, describing the work of the great news distributing system with which he has been connected for many years.

He explained the extremely abbreviated form in which news is sent over the wire. "The telegraph instrument clicks out 'pr n s,'" said Mr. Morris, "but the operator writes it down 'The President today sent the following nominations to the Senate.'"

President-Elect Wilson is now known as "pr el w."

THETA DELTA CHI INSTALLED UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

At the installation banquet of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity at the University of Washington last Saturday night in Seattle, S. D. Allen, of Eugene, was the oldest graduate present. His class at Hamilton College, is that of 1878. He also bore the distinction of being one of but two present who have sons members of the fraternity. The new chapter is the first to be installed by Theta Delta Chi since 1909. It is the third chapter on the Pacific Coast.

Here are some football figures compiled by the Willamette Collegian which by comparative score gives their team an advantage of four touchdowns over Wisconsin, middle west champions. Willamette 30, Montana 9; Montana 3, Utah 10; Utah 43, Colorado 9; Colorado 24, Nebraska Wesleyan 13; Nebraska Wesleyan 0, South Dakota 39; South Dakota 6, Minnesota 0.

The College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri has begun an extensive land survey which they expect to make eventually include the entire state. A soil map of each county will be made, showing each farmhouse in its location and giving the characteristics of the soil in each particular locality. The survey has already been completed in five counties.

Ralph B. Foster, a Senior at Idaho University, was selected from Idaho as the next Rhodes scholar. Four other men successfully passed the examination, but one was too young to qualify, having just passed his seventeenth birthday.

"Dud" Moulton, Stanford's track coach, states that Stanford has this year the best track material that he has trained since he has been connected with the institution.

PROFS LABOR, RELAX, AND LECTURE DURING VACATION

Dr. F. L. Shinn and Dr. Stafford worked together in the chemistry laboratory on a plan for the destructive distillation of wood.

Professor F. C. Schmitt spent the holidays in Eugene. Dr. R. C. Clark attended the Western Oregon Teachers' Association in Portland and did research work in his laboratory at the University. Professor F. G. Young spent the whole vacation preparing charts for the legislature.

Professor Joseph Shafer delivered an address at the meeting of the Western Oregon Teachers' Association on the subject of the "Sphere of the University in Oregon's Educational System." The address was printed in the State Labor Press.

Professor Reddie spent the holidays, "writing, reading, resting, and pick-nicking" on his farm on the Rogue river in southern Oregon. Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. E. M. Pennell spent the greater part of vacation in Eugene.

Professor E. E. DeCou attended the Western Oregon Teachers' Association and delivered a paper on the "Report of the International Committee on the Teaching of Mathematics and Its Importance to High School Teachers."

"Bill" Hayward stayed in Eugene during vacation.

Professor Eric W. Allen, of the department of journalism, has worked almost continually at his journalistic labors.

WASHINGTON IN BALANCE ABOUT DEBATE QUESTION

With the Inter-state Debates less than three months off, the men who are interested in them are still waiting for Washington University to decide as to the question. This delay has made any definite preparation almost impossible.

Coach Prescott has sent a final statement of Oregon's proposed question to the committee at Seattle, and it is expected that a definite answer will be received within a few days.

NEW YEAR'S REGISTER SHOWS STUDENTS' WORK

Driver, respectively; on the Journalism course by Clarence Brotherton; on the Extension Work by Harry Cash and Carlyle Geisler; on Debating by Earl Blackaby, Roger Moe, and Luella Sweeney; on Athletics by Tom Boylen, and Gymnasium Work by Clarence Ash and Lora Taylor. Another article given a prominent place deals with self support among students, written by Leland Hendricks from statistics compiled by the Registrar and the Y. M. C. A. Institutional history is taken care of in three articles, the story of the buildings by A. M. Epperly, news of graduates by Elmer Furusett and Max Sommer; and a story of Oregon traditions, written in true feature style by Alice Farnsworth and Ray Williams. Club life was represented by Wallace Mount, the Dramatic Club by Ethel Tooze, Glee Club by Harold Grady, Girls' Dormitory by Mrs. Stearns, Engineering by Evelyn Harding, social life by Marguerite Rankin, growth and personnel of the student body by Waldo Miller, and the service of the University to the state by Edna McKnight.

NORTHWEST CONFERENCE FIXES SCHEDULE FOR 1913

the league. Four personal fouls will not result in expulsion, but all over four will automatically award a point to the opponents and permit a foul throw. The basketball schedule follows: Idaho at Eugene, January 13-14; Washington at Seattle on February 10-11; Idaho at Moscow on February 12-14; W. S. C. at Pullman on February 13-15; Washington at Eugene on February 21-22; Pullman at Eugene on February 26-27.

In baseball there will be two separate divisions, the winners of the different sections playing for the championship in a series of three games. The eastern group includes Idaho, Whitman, and W. S. C., while the three western teams will be Oregon, Washington, and O. A. C. Each team will play four games in the divisions before the final series for the Northwest title.

The Oregon schedule follows: April 15 and 16, W. S. C. at Pullman; April 18 and 19, Washington at Seattle; May 2 and 3, O. A. C. at Eugene; May 7 and 8, Washington at Eugene.

Oregon will participate in three track meets. The varsity will meet Washington at Eugene on May 9 and O. A. C. at Corvallis on May 24, besides the regular conference meet which will be held at Walla Walla on May 31. It was voted to withdraw the hammer throw from the list of events and substitute the discus in its place. Hereafter the relay will be an official event counting 5, 3 and 1 points, respectively, for first, second, and third places.

A motion to allow college athletes to play summer baseball and still be eligible for college sports, was lost on account of a dissenting vote by the O. A. C. representatives, who it was understood before the conference, favored the action.

The University of Washington Daily recently published three columns of descriptions of the gowns worn at the Varsity ball held by the women of the University.

Those who attain the rank of News Editor or better on the Stanford Daily Palo Alto are awarded a symbolic watch fob, cast in the shape of a matrix.

After the first of this year the Stanford Book Store will be co-operative.
