HANLEY LISTED FOR ASSEMBLY

SPEAKER HEADS DELEGATES FROM CENTRAL OREGON AT OPENING OF LEGISLATURE

COME ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Most of Party Attended Irrigation
Congress in Portland—O. A. C.
Also Visited.

Hon. Wm. Hanley, president of the recent Irrigation Congress, and the double of Wm. J. Bryan, will speak at Assembly tomorrow morning; his subject being "Education." "Bill" Hanley, as he is better known, is widely known as the largest private land owner in the state, and one of the most public spirited men of Central Oregon. He had the distinction of being one of those who went with the Governor's Special to Washington, D. C., last summer.

Mr. Hanley is leading a delegation of Central and Eastern Oregon residents who will be here, Wednesday, to visit the University; coming by special train over the Oregon Electric. The party left Portland yesterday morning, and attended the opening of the legislature at Salem. Today they will go to Corvallis, to visit the Oregon Agricultural College, and from there will come to Eugene, by way of the Oregon Electric from Albany. Most of the members of the party were delegates to the Irrigation Congress in Portland last week. Among those who will come with the delegation are J. E. Sawhill, of Bend; J. N. B. Gerking, of Laidlaw; O. A. Walker, of Alfalfa; Henry S. Levin, of Burns; J. J. Donegan, of Burns; C. C. Chapman and wife, of Portland, and Dr. Hibbard and wife, of Burns.

OREGON CLUB DEFEATS DORM; WINS INTERFRATERNITY CUP

The Oregon Club defeated the Dormitory Club Saturday afternoon in the finals of the inter-fraternity series of handball, thus winning the possession of the cup given by the Inter-fraternity League for one year.

The games were closely contested as the scores would indicate. Oregon Club won the first game 21 to 18, but the Dorm came back strong and won the second, which went 22 to 20. It looked like the Dorm would be easy winners of the last and deciding game for once the score was 18 to 4 in their favor. But the Oregon Club took a brace and won out in another deuce game, 22 to 20.

The Oregon Club was represented by Calkins and Collier, and the Dormitory by Reed and Roberts.

WASHINGTON CO-EDS BREAK COLLEGE CHEST RECORDS

Average Lung Capacity Is 168.23
Cubic Inches, or .02 cc. More Than Oregon Maids Boast.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 10.—Girls in the University of Washington are healthier and better proportioned than those of almost any other college in the country, according to data submitted by Miss Jessie Merrick, women's physical director.

"Men are most interested in the height and weight of girls. Women are concerned with girls' measurements. Neither have any bearing on the physical condition of the individual. That which counts is the lung capacity and the size of the muscles."

The breathing space of the average University of Washington girl is 168.23 cubic centimeters. This is two-hundredths of a centimeter greater than the average at the University of Oregon.

The average Washington girl weighs 120 pounds and is five feet two inches tall.

LEGISLATIVE TERM SHORT SAYS EATON

Forty Day Session Handicaps Lawmakers, Is Contention—Other Reforms Favored.

"The House works under disadvantages which we cannot well remove. One is the short session, and the other is the great volume of legislation." This statement comes from Hon. Allen H. Eaton, who is now attending the State Legislature, which convened yesterday. The idea is the same as that which Hon. W. W. Calkins gave to the members of the Agora Club last week. Mr. Eaton has many reforms which he intends to introduce in the present session of Legislature.

"Oregon's term of 40 days is the shortest of any state in the Union," he continued. "This time ought to be extended, but to do so will require a constitutional amendment."

Two years ago Mr. Eaton, a University of Oregon graduate, ran for the Speakership of the House of Representatives and was defeated. At the time of Eaton's defeat, it was rumored that Rusk, his successful opponent, had secured support in the Legislature by promises of committee assignments. Whether this was true or not, was a matter of much discussion. At this session of the Legislature, Mr. Eaton will introduce a number of needed reforms for House rules, prominent among which is a bill intended to prevent political maneuvers for the election of the Speaker.

Other features of Mr. Eaton's reform plan are:

OREGON WINS FIRST IDAHO GAME WITH 31 TO 6 SCORE

GRIFFITH'S QUINTET OCCASIONS DISAPPOINTMENT TO LOCAL FANS—WALKER STARS FOR VICTORS, WHILE BRADSHAW AND FENTON ALSO SHOW UP WELL

(By Jimmie Roberts.)
Oregon won her first conference game last night, swamping the University of Idaho five by a 31 to 6 score. The Gem State five, coming here as a dark horse, proved a disappointment to the large crowd who expected to see a close game. Oregon won through the stellar work of her three veterans, who were a whole team in themselves. Walker was the star of the evening's entertainment, and scored most of the Oregon points. Bradshaw put up a great game at guard and held the Idaho forwards under wing, while Carl Fenton put up his heady exhibition.

The Idaho team showed bursts of speed at times and had ample chance at the basket, but were either unlucky or unable to hit it. Griffith's men are mostly all new at the inter-collegiate game and fouled frequently by breaking dribbles. Referee Jamison called numerous fouls on the Oregon team, most of them "personals."

Oregon jumped into the lead at the start and was never in danger, the score standing 17 to 1 at half time. At the beginning of the second half the Idaho team braced and held the Varsity scoreless for a few minutes, but the offense unlimbered again to run up fourteen more. Idaho managed to get two from the field and another foul bringing the total up to six.

The game was fairly free from roughness, most of the fouls called being minor infringements. Jamison was chosen to referee at the last moment at the demand of Pink Griffith. The ex-captain made an able official, and got away without a complaint from either team. The game tonight will be called at 7 p. m.

The line-up: Oregon—Fenton, c.; Brooks, lf.; Walker, rf.; Boylen, lg.; Bradshaw, rg.; Fee, substitute. Idaho—Kinnison, c.; Ankorn, lf.; Doulen, rf.; Keane, lg.; Mitchell, rg.; McNett, Foster, Perkins, substitutes.

SENIORS HIRE COACH GRADS HAVE SAME JOB

William Bernard, Stage Manager of Baker Theatre Will Choose Play on College Life.

The class of 1913 of the University of Oregon, through the efforts of Manager Ernest Lamb, has secured the services of William Bernard to coach the senior class play. Mr. Bernard, who is a member of the Jonathan Club of Los Angeles, and who is stage manager and director of the Baker Theatre, has chosen a play that deals with college life which he is changing to fit the local conditions and characters of the University.

The parts will be assigned as soon as they arrive and active work will begin immediately after the mid-semester examinations, as the date set for the play is April 15th, which is somewhat earlier than that of previous years.

Emerald Has Telephone.

A telephone has been installed in the Emerald editorial office in McClure Hall for the use of the Emerald staff. The number is 537.

The journalism class has been assigned to write up picture shows.

Three University Men in Albany,
Medford, and Roseburg, Are City Engineers.

Three former students of the University, and graduates from the School of Engineering, are now holding the same position in three different cities of Western Oregon. John R. Penland, '06, is now City Engineer at Albany; Olen Arnsperger, '07, City Engineer at Medford; and Milton B. Germond, '06, City Engineer at Roseburg.

The first two men will be remembered by old timers as prominent football men, each having played on the Varsity eleven for three years. Arnsperger was for three years tackle on Oregon's team, and is probably one of the best men at that position that Oregon has ever had.

"Bill" Main, '12, since the conclusion of the football season, has been in the employ of the Portland Concrete Company. He is now in Marysville, California, where the Concrete Company is building a bridge.

William "Bill" Cass, the Sage of Podunk, is in town to enter college again.

OREGON CO-EDS PROVE TOO MUCH FOR PHOTO-PLATE

Glass in Camera Breaks When Newspaper Correspondent Tries to Take Picture.

The first authentic case of a photographic plate broken by a University of Oregon Co-ed came to light last Saturday, and is sworn to by Professor E. S. Conklin, of the department of Psychology.

A newspaper correspondent was engaged to take pictures of some apparatus with students posing, to show the manner of operation. The photographer had exposed one plate and endeavored to put back the black slide over the used filament, when the covering stuck.

Continual effort on the part of the student failed to adjust the slide. The plate holder was removed and a broken plate fell to the floor, in bits. The photographer maintains that the piece of glass, when put into the holder, was not broken.

11 SCHOOLS SEND MEN TO Y. M. CONVENTION

Fred B. Smith and International
Quartet Feature at Forest Grove Meeting.

More than two hundred delegates, representing eleven colleges and universities and seventeen city associations, attended the Annual Oregon-Idaho Y. M. C. A. Convention at Forest Grove.

The principal features of the convention were the addresses by Fred B. Smith, Senior Secretary of the Religious Work Department, Raymond Robins, Social Service Worker, of Chicago, and the singing by the International quartet, composed of men from four states, who have sung together for the past ten years.

In addition, there were such speakers as H. W. Stone, General Secretary of the Portland Association, I. B. Rhodes, State Secretary of City, Railroad and Industrial Association, R. A. Booth, of Eugene, Dr. John H. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Portland, Jno. P. Congdon, civil engineer, Boise, Idaho, W. H. Day, Railroad Secretary, and Professor Norman Coleman, head of the Department of English, Reed College, Portland.

The Forest Grove people in general and the Pacific University students in particular, exhibited the utmost hospitality to the visiting delegates. The students from the various schools were taken in to the best homes in the city and treated royally.

Saturday evening the annual banquet was served at the Congregational Church, at which approx. two hundred and fifty men attended.

NEW ORATORICAL LEAGUE FORMED

FIVE CONFERENCE COLLEGES
REORGANIZE COLLEGIATE ORATORY

TRIANGULAR LEAGUE CEASES

Montana Dropped From Activity,
Idaho Declines to Enter, Others Participate.

The triangular oratorical league now formed of Oregon, Montana and Washington, originated six years ago, though until three years ago Idaho held the place of Montana, will soon be dissolved and in its stead a larger one, formed of conference colleges, will be formed.

Contracts calling for annual oratorical contests between five of the Northwest Conference colleges were sent out today by Manager Geary of the University of Oregon. This plan, to make oratory one of the conference activities, and which has been fostered by Oregon, will substitute the Oregon-Washington-Montana inter-collegiate oratorical contests. Montana is to be dropped from the competition. It was intended to include all six of the Northwest Conference colleges—Oregon, Washington, O. A. C., W. S. C., Whitman, and Idaho—but Idaho has refused to participate in this activity.

The first of the conference oratorical contests will be held at the Oregon Agricultural College early in May. The location will rotate among the colleges.

It is believed that the annual prizes of $75 and $25 for first and second best individual orators, offered by the King County Bar Association of Seattle, will be similarly offered to the new organization.

Manager Geary has the written ratification of all of the colleges concerned, other than Idaho, so that the first annual inter-collegiate oratorical contest will occur in Corvallis in May.

G. C. Huggins, ex-'14, is now on a farm near Silverton, Oregon. He intends to enter college at the beginning of the second semester.

One of the features of the banquet was the farewell to H. A. Dalzell, '10, who has been engaged, since his graduation, in boys' work in this state, but who leaves soon for Chicago, to take charge of the men's department of one of the largest churches of that city.

"BARGAIN SALE" CONCERT IS NAME GIVEN BY MANAGER TO GLEE CLUB SECOND SHOW

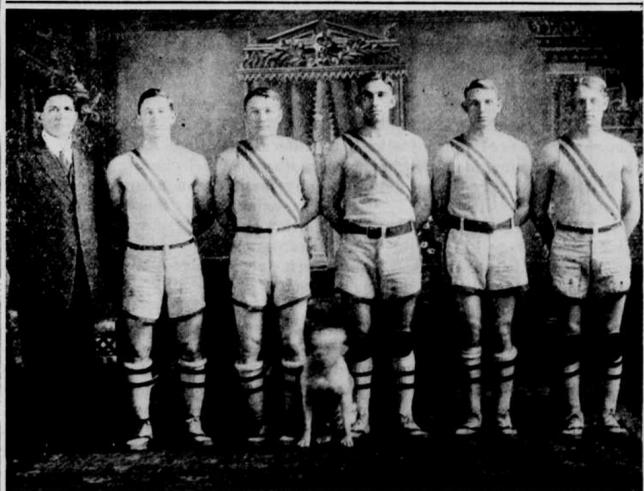

Better than ever promises to be the return concert of the University of Oregon Glee Club, to be given at the Eugene Theatre, Friday evening, January 17, for which bargain prices have been announced by Manager Geary, any seat in the house going for fifty cents.

President Kenneth Frazier has been engaged in getting his troupe in good trim all week, holding nightly practices and rehearsals. All of the men are back, with the exception of Director M. L. Bowman, who is engaged in stage work at a Portland theatre. The stunts are the same as presented at the opening bow in this city, but have been reworked and brightened up in spots. New jokes have been practiced by those engaged in the production, but otherwise this part of the program will remain intact.

Ira Manville, '13, of Eugene, will appear in place of Director Bowman, as a soloist for the evening, singing several baritone arias. President Frazier will lead the Club through the difficulties of the "Sword of Ferrara," and "The Plainsman," which were led in the former concert by Director Bowman.

Never before in the history of the club's tours, has the organization been accorded such unanimous newspaper praise as the last trip brought forth.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON NOW HAS TWO NEWSPAPERS, WITH LAW SCHOOL SHEET

Number one, volume one, of the University of Oregon Law Department, "Mimee," a law student newspaper, printed in Portland, appeared today on the campus in Eugene. Though not exactly a competitor to the Emerald, it gives the University of Oregon the distinction of having two newspapers. The new sheet is typewritten, three columns and letterhead sized. As the name indicates, the printing press, upon which it is produced, is a mimeograph.

Strangely enough for a publication from a law college, the publication lacks an editorial page. And, like the short lived flame, the Green Cap, it lacks the name of its editors.

Rumors have it that Burns Powell, former editor of the Oregon Emerald, is star reporter. A reader gains the same impressions from a perusal of the sheet.

However, the baby newspaper is the real thing. It contains "society," personals, good, live news, and editorials sandwiched in between the "items."

It reports the loss of a "copy boy," as follows:

"This paper recently employed, out of pity, a poor hobo for copy boy work. He failed to put in an appearance this morning at 6 a. m. The police can find no trace of him. He is said to be an itinerant trombone player, and gave the name of Burns Powell."

The new publication carries no advertising.
