

W. H. S. TEAM TO PLAY UNIVERSITY FRESHMEN

High School Five Has Good Record in Past—Tickets on Sale at Book Exchange.

The star Washington High School basketball team of Portland will meet the Freshman five in the annual W. H. S.—Freshman game here Friday evening. Last year each of the two contesting teams managed to win a game, and the Washington High team is said to be as strong this year as last, so this year's Freshmen will have their work cut out for them.

The Freshman basketball players have been out in force all week practicing for the coming struggle. The first lineup will probably be: Davis and Wheeler, forwards; Bigbee and Hampton, guards; Brownell, center. Other Freshmen, who may enter the game, are Sims, George, and Kirk.

The Freshman team proved that it would play basketball yesterday afternoon, when they played the Varsity a practice game. For the greater part of the game the lighter team did some good work, slipping over basket after basket on the big regulars. No score was kept, but the Freshmen were close competitors until the last few minutes of play, when the weight and experience of their opponents began to count, and the Varsity team work became better as the game progressed.

Tickets for the game, at twenty-five and thirty-five cents are now on sale at the Book Exchange. The game will start promptly at 8 o'clock, with one of the Varsity players probably acting as referee. The date for a return game with W. H. S. has not yet been set. Student tickets do not admit.

The Faculty of the Ohio State University have decided to supervise school dances, including those of fraternities and sororities. They claim that this scheme will avoid conflicts and foster a spirit of democracy that has been lacking. This is the first step to be taken to limit those activities in which only a few students are interested.

Fifteen football men will be awarded "M's" at the University of Minnesota this year.

MARTIN HAWKINS TO TRAIN PREP RUNNERS

Ex-Oregon Hurdler, Now Law Student in Portland, Asked to Coach H. M. A. Team.

Martin W. Hawkins, '12, former track captain and noted hurdler and member of the 1912 Olympic team, may join the ranks of track instructors, if a conference with Joseph Hill, of Hill Military Academy, of Portland, scheduled for next Tuesday, is productive of results.

Hawkins, who finished third in the 110 meter hurdle race at Stockholm, while wearing the colors of M. A. A. C., is attending the Oregon Law School in the metropolis, and may mix a little track tutoring next spring with his Blackstone. The Hill Academy has a number of Portland scholastic stars, notably Dick Grant, who holds the Portland interscholastic record of 10 2-5 for the century sprint. "Hawk" is a member of the M. A. A. C. track squad, and is expected to make good with the preppers, as he is known as a heady runner and consistent trainer.

FEW WORK ON TRACK

Interclass Race to be Held February 22, When Hayward Will Pick Men for Distances.

Only 62 men have signed up thus far for track and of this number but 15 have been getting out regularly for actual work. In the two lower classes alone 178 men are taking gym work. In this number of men there should be at least half of them who would make good at track work, yet scarcely any of these men have signed up. Another interclass race will be held February 22, and from the results of this race Bill Hayward will pick his distance material for next spring. Hayward did not seem exceptionally dubious over the seemingly discouraging outlook and said that beyond a doubt the track prospects will pick up greatly when the weather improves.

According to the New York Times, Captain Ronald Amundsen was lately cheered by three thousand lusty lunged students of City College when he and Sir Ernest Shackleton attended a reception tendered them by the various high schools of the city together with the students of City College. They testified their admiration for the two intrepid navigators with a series of school and college yells.

"In the present session of the Oregon legislature Mr. Walter A. Dimick class of 1902 is senator for Clackamas County, and Mr. W. A. Hall, 1905, is representative from Columbia County. Both these men serve on important committees. Mr. John S. Hodgkin, 1891, in the senatorial contest of Union and Wallowa counties lost by a small margin to Mr. E. E. Kiddle."—Pacific Index.

"The members of the Idaho debating team arrived in Portland Wednesday and proceeded immediately to confer with the judges whom Pacific had chosen. Not being satisfied with one they took the responsibility of telling him not to come and selected another."—Pacific Index.
