HELP WANTED

In today's issue the Emerald is beginning an experiment. For the next few weeks a column will be open to students who want employment and to employers who desire student help.

For some years the University Y. M. C. A. has maintained a free employment bureau for the benefit of students working their way through college. Not a few owe their continued presence at the University to positions obtained through this office. Its work, however, has been somewhat limited by the lack of efficient means of advertising either the job or the student needing it.

What the Emerald is going to do is to print in each issue a list of positions open to students and of students wanting work, which will be furnished by the Y. M. C. A. bureau. Any student, however, is perfectly at liberty to put his work wanted notice in the Emerald independently of the Employment Bureau, if he so desires. And any student employer can call up the Emerald office and advertise free of charge for student help.

The Emerald has an extensive circulation among Eugene employers, and is read by practically every student. If students and employers take a mutual interest in this new column, both are sure to benefit.

This venture, designed primarily to assist the numerous students who find it necessary to support themselves while in college. The Emerald asks the co-operation of Oregon students and Eugene employers toward making it fulfill its purpose.

PICKETT TO REPRESENT OREGON IN UTAH DEBATE

Professor Prescott, debate coach, has chosen David Pickett as colleague of Howard Zimmerman to represent Oregon in the Utah debate, that is provided the debate is held in the immediate future. Otherwise Vernon Motschenbacher will be the man to make the trip. Professor Prescott was unable to make his decision before Wednesday afternoon, due to the exceedingly even work of both men. In the triangular debate Motschenbacher, with Pickett as colleague, will go against Washington, while Zimmerman and King will make the California trip.

MISS STEBNO SHARES THE SCHOLASTIC STANDING HONORS

The name of Miss Beulah Stebno, '15, was inadvertently omitted from the list of those getting high grades, as it appeared in the last issue of the Emerald. Miss Stebno, who is majoring in the German department, received four "H's" and three "S's."

This grade gives Miss Stebno a share in the scholastic honors for last semester, for the same grades were received by Miss McCormack, who was declared the high scholar by the grades that were furnished the Emerald by the Registrar.

Mrs. Percy Adams, wife of Professor Adams of the civil engineering department, is seriously ill as a result of an attack of nervous prostration. She has been ill for several days, but her condition is much improved. Mrs. Adams is a former student of the University.

TRIPLE-A CLUB PERFECTS PLANS FOR FUTURE WORK

A meeting of the Triple-A Club was held Friday afternoon at the Lambda Rho house. The organization of the club was further perfected and plans were made for future work. The constitution which was submitted by the Executive Committee, was adopted, and several committees were decided upon. It was planned for the club to take a "hike" next Saturday afternoon up to Skinner's Butte. This will be the first of a series of "hikes" to be taken by the members of the club.

HOUCK WILL JOIN CONNIE AT CAMP IN SAN ANTONIO

Byron E. Houck, a former Washington High and University of Oregon pitcher, who made good with the Philadelphia Athletics last season, left Portland Tuesday night for Connie Mack's training quarters at San Antonio.

Houck is the only 1911 pitching recruit from the Northwestern League to make good, and it is expected that he will prove a big factor in the winning of the American League pennant for the former world's champs.

WHAT THE COLLEGE EDITORS ARE SAYING

INTER-FRATERNITY UNION AND ANTI-FRATERNITY AGITATION

"It is a rather surprising coincidence that while some legislators were silently starting anti-fraternity investigation, the fraternities were silently increasing their already recognized value by uniting in a strong Pan-Hellenic.

"It is not at all surprising, however, that the anti-fraternity agitation sneaked out as silently as it sneaked in, died, and was buried as unfounded agitations are; nor that the Pan-Hellenic had already shown its worth, is flourishing and promising big things. This inter-fraternity union not only strengthens fraternities, individually and collectively, and raises and unifies their standards, all of which are good things, but it increases their usefulness and aims to make them more valuable factors in the progress of the University. Its organization should be hailed with approval by all.

"The agitation which was based on misconceptions due to lack of intimacy with the meaning, ideals, purposes, and uses of fraternity, has been dispelled."—Utah Chronicle.

"PLAN YOUR COURSE"

"With a broad elective system, such as exists in some of our departments, danger presents itself of hodge-podge courses, overbalanced courses, and courses chosen with no other reasonable explanation than that they were worked out on the line of least resistance. At the same time, the freedom given under the Michigan system has great advantages—it is the ideal system, if it is not abused.

"With a new semester at hand, every undergraduate is facing a big responsibility. How much do you know about the courses that you might take next semester? How much do you care? To what extent are you consciously trying to get the best that the university has for you? How far are you intelligently planning ahead? How consistent is your college course going to be? Is it going to have a climax?—or are you going to be taking first year subjects your last year? Have you really an end in view? What thing or things are you going to know when you get through? "These are questions every student should ask himself several times a year. They are things he should find out about—that is seriously investigate. He should ask himself often where he is and whither he is tending. He should study the campus, the professors on the campus, the things that are for him.

"It is unfortunate that so many courses are filled up by men who just drift in. It is unfortunate that the so-called "snap" courses are so largely chosen simply because they are easy. It is unfortunate that so many men fail to get deep enough into any one department to be able to take advantage of the seminary courses, where direct touch with the heads of departments is possible. A little bit about a good many things and a good deal about one or two things, as the motto of President Lowell, of Harvard, is a good rule to follow.

"Think it over seriously. Plan a little. Keep in mind that you will be a senior some day, and you ought to plan so that it will be a year of real fruition. Before you get through you should have touched reality. When you look back on your college course, it ought to have counted for something definite."—Michigan Daily.
