"The Servant in the House."

Charles Rann Kennedy's masterpiece, "The Servant in the House," which will be staged at Eugene Theatre next Friday night by the members of Professor A. F. Reddie's class in Dramatic Interpretation, promises to be one of the most interesting productions ever put on by a University caste.

The play is of the problem type. The Vicar represents modern Christianity, casting off its shackles of dogmatism; Martha, a modern conventionalism; Mary portrays the innocence and purity of the next generation; Robert shows the workingman, becoming a power in the state through socialism; Rogers is a type of menial servant; the "stench and horror" under the Church are shown in the character of the bishop, named a "devil" and "cast out forever" by Manson, the primitive spirit of Christianity. The strongest characters in the play are Manson and Mary.

The audience may be assured that the four persons combined in the character of Manson, will be played with the finest technical skill by Professor Reddie, and that Janet Young will strongly portray the simple sincerity of Mary.

Several sororities and fraternities will furnish the mission-oak furniture; solid silver tableware and tea set will be used as well as the finest linen; real Oriental rugs and several prints from the masters will be loaned by friends of the University to make the stage as luxuriant and attractive as possible. Professor Reddie's oriental costume is of his own design, and will be "constructed" by the young ladies in the class.

FRANKFORT-ON-THE-MAIN IS GERMAN CLUB SUBJECT

Frankfort-on-the-Main, its location, history, features, life, buildings, railroads, art and culture, will be the subject for discussion at the meeting of the German Club, Tuesday evening, March 4. The meeting will be held at the Beth Reah house.

The program will be in accord with the program policy of the club, that is to study carefully all phases of some German city, or feature of German life.

The program will consist of a paper on the "Location and History of Frankfort-on-the-Main," by Eleanor McClain, Maude Mastick will describe the railroads, hotels, and general features of the city, while the cathedrals and "The Roemer," will be the subject of a talk by Olive Zimmerman. Edna Messenger will treat the theatres and theatrical productions given in the noted German city.

A piano solo by Norma Graves, and a vocal solo by Alfred Skei will comprise the musical part of the program.

The faculty at the University of Washington has sanctioned the Freshman crew trip to California, April 12.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL HOLD TRYOUT FOR MEN

At the last Dramatic Club meeting Tuesday night, it was decided to hold a try-out for men only, to fill vacancies in that department of the club to take place in Villard Hall, 7 p. m., Tuesday, March 11. The same selections will be used as at the last try-out and the same method followed.

Those wishing to compete are requested to hand in their names and receive instructions from President Warner.

Plans for the Junior Week-End play were discussed and an early meeting by the executive committee announced to decide upon a play for that occasion.

A vote of thanks was extended to Professor Reddie for his valuable services in coaching "Wig and Gown."

The faculty of the University of Michigan has decided to abolish the Student Council, unless they act wisely in the future. The claim used to be, that the Council had no authority, but now since authority and backing have been granted by the faculty, they must use more discretion.
