

BENDER OMITTS OREGON MEN FROM "ALL-STARS"

Fenton Close Second to Savage on First—All-Northwest Team of Season.

Not a single University of Oregon basketball player was given a berth on Johnny Bender's mythical All-Northwest five, recently published in a Spokane paper. The best quintet that the Washington State College mentor could find was composed of Savage, center; Byler, of Washington, and Cooper, of O. A. C., forwards; and Sampson, of Washington State College, and May, the big football player of the Aggies, at guard.

Fenton was a close second to Savage, said Bender, but he is the only one of the Oregon five, that even breaks into print at Bender's request. Lowry is discredited in the eyes of his coach on account of his inability to heave baskets. Sampson is termed a "very brilliant and tireless guard."

When shown the list, Bill Hayward would not comment, other than to say that it was true that Oregon had but few All-Northwest men this year. He refused to pick a five until after the O. A. C. games.

AMUNDSEN GIVES LECTURE WITHOUT USING PRONOUN "I"

Without the use of a single personal pronoun "I" during the entire lecture, Captain Amundsen describes his Antarctic explorations and discoveries, giving most of the credit to his crew, and members of the party that was with him during the final dash to the South Pole. Amundsen will lecture in Eugene, April 1, at the Christian Church, under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A.

At a recent lecture in Chicago, from which hundreds were turned away, Captain Amundsen received a gold medal from the Chicago Geographical Society, presented to him by President Henry C. Cowles, of the University of Chicago, president of the society. During this lecture Amundsen expounded the theory of the intense cold at the southern-most regions of the earth, by declaring and proving with his records, that the coldest weather experienced was 75 degrees below zero, while at the pole itself the day was sunny, clear and mild as to temperature.

MEETING TO ORGANIZE CO-ED ATHLETICS IS POSTPONED

Although scheduled for Saturday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, the meeting of the women of the University to perfect the organization of the Women's Athletic Association has been postponed until next week, at the call of Miss Harriet Thompson.

Conflicting engagements and Choral Club practice are the reasons assigned for the delay in getting the Association under permanent organization.

for state championship on percentage basis."

In a final proposal Wednesday morning, Oregon suggested that Jamison should referee the Corvallis games and Evendon, of O. A. C., should referee the Eugene games, or that Hayward and Stewart should alternate in the same manner or that Sweetland and Fenstermacher, coach of the Washington High School team, should officiate.

But O. A. C. refused all terms, and it was necessary that Oregon compromise to save the games.

C. S. Mackay, of the Portland Y. M. C. A., has been selected to officiate in the game tonight.

The remaining two games in Corvallis will be refereed by Bohler, of W. S. C., who leaves Pullman this afternoon for Corvallis.

CLASSWORK IS VARIED

Public Speaking Class Under Bert Prescott Has Realistic Discussions.

Public speaking, approximating as nearly as possible actual experience upon the parliamentary floor, has been inaugurated by Bert Prescott, in his class in extempore public speaking. The plan that has been worked out is to organize the class in to a Commonwealth Assembly, similar to the State Legislature. At each meeting of the class, which takes the place of a session of the legislature, some member of the class acts as floor leader in the discussion of a question, which has been prepared in advance. The other members of the class discuss, criticize and attack the plan or measure proposed.

Last Tuesday afternoon Homer Maris was the advocate of a pure milk supply for the State, while this afternoon Clark Burgard led a legislative attempt to solve the problem of the conservation of Oregon resources. Among the other topics to receive the attention of the embryonic orators are the questions of good roads, vice segregation in the cities, and the tariff.

In order to make the work more realistic, Professor Prescott invites all those interested to be present at the class sessions, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 2 o'clock in Villard Hall.

Y. M. C. A. WILL ELECT

Officers Will be Elected at Next Meeting From Men Selected as Candidates.

A nominating committee to select candidates for the Y. M. C. A. for the coming year, has been appointed by President Burleigh Cash, consisting of the President, Secretary Koyle, Professor E. E. DeCou for the Advisory Board, Treasurer Andrew Collier, for the Senior class, Will Murphy for the Juniors, Ernest Sidwell, for the Sophomores, and Cecil Lindley for the Freshmen.

This committee will report at the regular meeting tonight, while the election of officers will be held next Thursday afternoon. The installation banquet, an annual affair, has been scheduled for March 26, and will be held at the City Y. M. C. A. building.

The joint Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinet party to have been held last evening at the Lambda Rho house, was indefinitely postponed, on account of the O. A. C. basketball game. Next Wednesday evening, the Y. M. C. A. cabinet will be entertained at a stag supper, at the home of Secretary Charles Koyle.

PROF. SWEETSER DESCRIBES MODERN APOSTLES OF CHRIST

"Modern Laboratories in Christianity," was the subject of Professor Sweetser's talk before the Y. W. C. A. Monday afternoon, in Deady Hall. Professor Sweetser illustrated his talks with pictures of experiments performed in these Christian experimental stations, or modern missions.

Among the modern apostles of Christianity, which he discussed were Jerry McAuley and J. H. Hadley, the moving spirits in the famous Jerry McAuley mission in New York City. Pictures of the work of Wilfred Granfield, and F. E. Higgins, the famous missionaries of Labrador, were also thrown on the screen.

In conclusion, Professor Sweetser said, "To know the wonderful force which moves the world, one must be in harmony with God, and this can only be by doing good."

The Freshmen at O. A. C. have succeeded in capturing first honors both in declamation and oratory. In oratory the Freshmen were represented by a Japanese, who outclassed his competitors.

Pat O'Dea, the greatest punter and drop kicker ever produced by Wisconsin, has been engaged by Leland Stanford University to coach their crew.

An agitation for the establishment of the honor system in examinations is being waged at O. A. C.

HARD TO PREDICT WINNERS AT NEWBERG

Howard Zimmerman, Experienced Orator, Believes Oregon Has Problem to Maintain Reputation.

"Oregon has won the state oratorical contest for the last two years," said Howard Zimmerman, '13, the University's representative to the annual oratorical contest at Newberg, March 14, "but this time it would be hard to predict." Zimmerman has had much experience,—has been on the debating teams for four years. His subject is, "Unguarded Gates," which deals with the immigration question in the United States and the lack of restrictions for people entering this country.

There are seven schools in the state league,—Oregon Agricultural College, Oregon, Willamette, Pacific University, Pacific College, McMinnville College, and Monmouth Normal. Besides our representative to the oratorical contest there are eight delegates, two from each class, to meet delegates from the other colleges to discuss the business of the League and to attend the big banquet.

Oregon's delegates will bring up the question of having two sets of judges,—one to judge the manuscripts and the other set to rate delivery. At present there is only one set of judges.

The representatives from Oregon will be Miss Carin Degermark, '13, Carlton Spencer and David Pickett, '13, Miss Dobie and Otto Heider, '14, Hazel Tooze and James Donald, '15, Allen O'Connell and Leslie Tooze, '16.

DR. SCHAFER TO REPEAT LECTURES IN PORTLAND

Doctor Joseph Schafer spoke to the High School students at Baker Friday on Lincoln's self-education. Again on Saturday evening, he delivered the fourth and last of his series of addresses before the Irvington Club of Portland, taking for his subject, "The Diplomatic History of Oregon." Beginning with next Saturday, Dr. Schafer will repeat the lectures for the Portland Heights Club.

The legislature of Wisconsin has asked the students of the University to express their opinion on the bill excluding saloons from within a radius of five miles of the University.

Frosh Interested in Debate.

The first year class "got together" in the usual place, Villard Hall. Leslie Tooze, of the Debate committee, reported lively interest in the coming Freshmen-Sophomore debate; ten having announced that they would be on hand at the first try-out, March 22. Marlin Bately, chairman of the Class Hour Committee, announced that everything was being done to make the coming class hour the best of the year. Manager Brownell, of the basketball team, and Treasurer Chester Fee, also made short reports.

Dean John Straub complimented the class on its record in scholarship and student activities, and urged that the class hour be a credit to this record. A motion to levy a special tax of twenty-five cents to cover deficits incurred by the class activities was passed.
