MANY SENIORS WANT TO TEACH

36 MEMBERS OF CLASS ARE IN LINE FOR GOOD POSI-TIONS NEXT YEAR

Professor Ayer, of Education Department, Says Sixty Seniors Qualify as Tutors.

Between 50 and 60 students in the present Senior class have the required training to be recommended to the schools of Oregon as instructors, according to Professor F. C. Ayer, head of the Department of Education. This includes fifteen hours in Education, and a semester of practice teaching.

Thirty-six of these have handed in their names, with the subjects they are qualified to teach, for recommendation. Recommendations will be made to the positions open in the schools, as those instructors in the subjects the applicant wishes to teach, think the student fit.

Department Recommends Students.

The students are first acquainted by the department with the positions open in their favorite subjects, and then they fill out application blanks and mail to those schools where they would like to teach. They can either have the recommendations sent with the application or wait for the school to write to the department for them. A photograph of the applicant is sent each time with the recommendations. The student does not see his recommendations; they come from the instructors and are sent separate from the application. The instructors only recommend those who come up to a certain standard.

On the Appointment Committee, which has charge of securing positions for the students who wish to teach are Professor F. C. Ayer, chairman; Dr. Joseph Schafer, Dr. W. P. Boynton, Professor E. A. Thurber, Dr. F. G. Schmidt, Professor E. E. DeCou, and Professor F. S. Dunn.

The list of those students who are prospective teachers for next year was given out this morning by Registrar Tiffany. He said concerning them: "We have a fine lot of teachers to send out to the schools this year. The list contains most of them, though it may not be complete."

OREGON CO-EDS MISUNDERSTOOD BY EASTERN TOBACCO COMPANY

Sororities Get Sample Packages of Cigarettes With Invitations to Order.

The Richmond Tobacco Company does not understand the ways of the Western Co-ed. So it would appear, at least, for last week they sent to each of the national sororities at the University three packages of Gold Tipped, Perfumed Cigarettes, guaranteed a cool smoke and not to bite the tongue.

With the cigarettes came a letter, hoping that they would give the enclosed package a fair trial, and if satisfied, place an order with the firm in the future.

According to the young ladies, the packages remain unopened. One of the girls has suggested the novel plan of supplying the masculine visitors with the "makins" in these "gold tipped" boxes to supplant the trusty "Bull Durham" brand that stains the finger tips.

SENIOR LURED AWAY BY MONMOUTH NORMAL

CARIN DEGERMARK LEAVES TO BECOME PHYSICAL DIRECTOR

State Normal President Comes to Oregon to Find Head for Girl's Department.

Miss Carin Degermark, '13, leaves Sunday for the State Normal at Monmouth to accept a position as Physical Director of Women, a position that carries with it much responsibility, for besides having the training of three hundred girls in her charge, Miss Degermark is also supervisor of physical training work in the Training Department and will teach two classes in physiology and hygiene.

Last week, Superintendent A. J. Ackerman, of the Monmouth Normal, visited Eugene in quest of a physical director and he was so pleased with the work of Miss Degermark, that he immediately offered her the position.

Miss Degermark leaves the University on an exceptional record. Though she had majored in the physical culture department, she has studied extensively in English and Economics and in three years and a half has completed a four year course. She expects to return in June to graduate with her class.

Three years ago Miss Degermark led the first Co-ed debating team against the University of Washington at Seattle. Last year she was elected president of the State Oratorical Association. She has always taken a prominent part in Student Body activities here.

SOPHS DECIDE UPON YEAR'S NUMERAL MEN

Basketball Men and Winning Cross-Country and Football Teams to Get "15's."

The Sophomore numeral committee has decided upon twenty-three men who have merited the class numeral so far this year. The numerals are being made now, and will be awarded at the next meeting together with those won in last year's contests. Vern Apperson, head of the committee, will have them in charge.

The only numerals not decided as yet this year are those for track. Basketball men, the winning cross-country team, and the winning football team. are entitled to theirs already.

The following are the men who will get numerals in basketball: Street Parsons, Boylen, Bigbee, Gould, and Vosper; in cross-country, McConnell, Pack, Blackaby, and Jaureguy; in football, Street, Brotherton, Ash, Boylen, Michael, Goodwin, Bigbee, Ryan, Donaca, Hill, Vosper, and Geisler.

Two engagements of interest have been announced in Portland during the past week. They are those of Clifton N. (Pat) McArthur to Miss Lucille Smith, of Portland; Tom Word, '12, to Miss Ruth Hansen, '11.

THESPIANS PLEASE ON BARNSTORMING TOUR

Reddie's Dramatic Class Plays "Servant in the House" to Big Cottage Grove Crowd.

Professor Reddie's class in Dramatic Interpretation returned Friday morning at 2:30, to Eugene, after a successful staging of the play, "The Servant in the House," at the Cottage Grove theatre Thursday evening, and reported that they were well satisfied over the manner in which they were received there.

An appreciative audience of two hundred and fifty people witnessed the performance and everyone of the reserved seats were sold. Carleton Spencer, who lives in Cottage Grove, and who managed the trip, reports that enough money was made to defray all expenses and that the people were pleased with the work of the caste.

The members who made the trip were Professor Reddie, Carleton Spencer, Janet Young, Alexander Martin, Elmer Spencer, Hilda Brant, Alfred Skei, and Walter Dimm.

This is the first production of the Dramatic Interpretation class to be staged out of town, and the fact that it was well received may result in more extensive trips later on.

AND MILLER PUT HIS COAT BACK ON—BUT IN THE MEANTIME, OH MY!

Absent Minded Junior Attends Picture Show in Shirt Sleeves, That Is, Until He Discovers It.

Grotesque styles, as frequently displayed in pajama parades; exhibitions of "crust" and nerve chargeable to human idiosyncrasies, and previous examples of absent mindedness, were all shoved far back into the dim background by a University Junior last evening.

Before playing a game of billiards at a down town amusement hall, Waldo Miller removed his coat and waist coat. Finishing the game, Miller washed his hands, put on his hat and mackinaw, then went to a picture show.

Going well down towards the front, he took pains to remove his heavy coat, then sat down to enjoy the performance,—until he woke up to find himself sitting in his shirtsleeves.

Y. M. C. A. INDULGES IN BIG ANNUAL BANQUET

PRESIDENT BLACK APPOINTS NEW CABINET MEMBERS

Evening's Speakers Are Cash, Black, Onthank Collier, and Ed. Bailey.

The annual University Y. M. C. A. banquet in the reception room of the city Y. M. C. A. last night, was attended by sixty-five men.

After most of the dinner had been disposed with, Harold Humbert sang three solos. Professor DeCou acted as toastmaster.

The first speech of the evening was made by the retiring president, Burleigh Cash. He gave a retrospective talk on the work accomplished in the past year by the association. After the conclusion, he called forth the new officers and installed them.

BURLEIGH CASH

Retiring President of the Y. M. C. A.

John A. Black, newly elected president, talked on the "Future of the Association."

The new cabinet consists of Will Murphy, Bible study; Harry Cash, meetings; Don Rice, social service; Vernon Motschenbacher, senior; John Wells, membership; Paul Davis, extension; Harold Young, publicity; and Walter Dimm, finance.

Karl Onthank spoke in behalf of the Student Body and pledged its assistance to the Y. M. C. A. in its work at the University. He was followed by Andrew Collier, the retiring treasurer. "The tendency is to take the world as it is, and not ask why," said Mr. Collier. "The duty of the Y. M. C. A. is to establish certain high ideals by which to govern the principles of men."

The last speaker, Edward Bailey, spoke on the annual conference at Columbia Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Jay, of Portland, Paul Hendricks, Tom Carson and "Spec" Benson, of Salem, are week-end guests at the Kappa Sigma house.

"Buck" Buchanan and Raemon Fleming have gone to Portland for the week-end.

BEZDECK CHOSEN AS 1913 COACH

FOOTBALL TRAINER WHO TURN-ED OUT CHAMPIONSHIP
TEAM HERE IN 1906,
SECURED

WILL ALSO COACH BASEBALL

Former Chicago Star, Now Arkansas
Athletic Director, Engaged at $2,000 Salary.

Hugo Bezdeck, coach of the varsity football team in 1906, and at present director of athletics at the University of Arkansas, was elected football coach for two years at the meeting of the Athletic Council, Thursday night. The agreement calls for the payment of two thousand dollars out of the gate receipts of the football games, to Mr. Bezdeck for his services during the college year as football and baseball coach. The regents of the University may employ him in some regular branch of college work during the time that he is not engaged in coaching.

Is Graduate of Chicago.

Hugo Bezdeck is a graduate of the University of Chicago in the class of 1907. He was star fullback on coach Stagg's team during the '02, '03, '04, and '05 seasons. Bezdeck was chosen on the All-Western team as defensive end and was placed on the second All-American team by Walter Camp. He is considered one of the greatest backs ever produced in the Middle West.

In 1906, while still an undergraduate, he coached the varsity. He returned to Chicago in the spring of 1907, and received his degree. Since 1907, Bezdeck has been director of athletics at the University of Arkansas, where he has been successful in turning out winning teams.

While at Arkansas, he has been instrumental in having a new athletic field constructed and a large grandstand erected.

Bezdeck Likes Oregon.

The climatic conditions and former pleasant associations at the University of Oregon are given by Bezdeck as reasons for his decision to leave his present position with the University of Arkansas.

"We have looked over the field for weeks," said Captain Bob Bradshaw today, "and Bezdeck is the best football man that we could find. In 1906, he came out to Oregon from the University of Chicago. Staggs sent him out to make good, Bezdeck came to Oregon entirely new to the conditions here, and that same year secured the championship of the Northwest and had seven of his men placed on the All-Northwest team. With such a coach, we have the brightest prospects for next year that, I think, we have ever had."

"The material already here is cracker-jack and I know of a good many fellows that are anxious to come in next year and train under him. Bezdeck will more than likely come out to Oregon in the summer to look over the prospects."

William Ryan and Carl Grayson have gone to Portland for a few days.

Chet Moores, '12, is back again on the campus for a few days.

Miss Eve Stinson is seriously ill with appendicitis.
