

SUMMER SCHOOL STAFF INCLUDES NOTED MEN

DR. HAYWARD, LONDON SCHOOL INSPECTOR, TO LECTURE

Meek of Boise, Axton of Princetown, and Glover of Michigan, to be Speakers.

Arrangements are nearly complete for the opening of the University Summer School immediately upon the close of the present semester. Speakers of state and national reputation have been secured, including Dr. F. H. Hayward, of London, and Professor Charles Meek, of the Boise schools.

Dr. Hayward is inspector of the London schools, besides being a brilliant lecturer and a profound student of education. Professor Charles Meek was recently offered the position of Assistant Commissioner of Education for Massachusetts, a position involving the control of all the industrial work of the state. His lectures will be of special interest to city and rural school supervisors.

Civic Work to be Treated.

Several lines of civic work will be taken up which will appeal especially to women's clubs and teachers. Professor Young will remain for summer school for the first time this summer and will lecture on sociological problems. Dr. Joseph Schafer will also have work in the civics department, taking up the Oregon system, especially in its later development.

Special lecturers will be secured from those who will be in attendance at the national meeting of the Association of Charities and Corrections at Seattle, and the World's Christian Citizenship Conference at Portland. Several lectures by Mrs. Florence Kelly, National Secretary of the Consumer's League, have been secured and arrangements for other lecturers on allied topics are being arranged for.

A Number of Professors to be Here.

Professor C. F. Hodge, of Clarke University, leading authority in the United States on nature study, will give a course in civic biology. Another speaker is Professor Clarke, who inaugurated the fly-extermination campaign and is an authority on problems of sanitation and drainage. Professor Stockton Axton, of Princetown, will give lectures on English literature. Professor J. W. Glover, of Michigan, leading authority on the practical application of Mathematics, will lecture on Insurance and allied subjects.

Among the local instructors who will lecture are Professor R. C. Clarke in History; Professor F. G. Schmidt in German; Professor T. C. Cloran in French and Latin; Professor W. M. Smith in Mathematics. Professor H. Marion, of Beloit, will lecture on English. Miss M. B. Lewis will have charge of courses in physical education. Dr. George Rebec and Mr. George Hug also have courses.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS NEAR END OF SEASON

The Oregon High School Debating League has reached the stage of semifinals. The North Bend High School debated the team from the Klamath County High School last Saturday and defeated them.

Saturday of this week, the representatives of the Springfield and St. John High Schools will meet at the latter place and settle the championship of their district.

The winners of these two debates will meet for the forensic contest that will determine the championship of the state, and the possession of the Regents Cup, Thursday evening, May 9, in Villard Hall, as a part of the Junior Week-End program.

TENNIS CLUB WILL HOLD MEMBERSHIP IN ASSOCIATION

At the meeting of the Tennis Club, held on Wednesday evening, it was decided that the club would join the Women's Athletic Association. It will, however, retain its original organization with its own officers.

Students Sell Tickets.

Those who have not paid and desire round trip tickets to Portland for Spring vacation, report your name to Sam Michael or Charles Fowler.

SLAVANIC INVASION THREATENS OREGON

Pacific Coast Faces Serious Immigration Problem With Opening of Panama Canal.

A. H. Harris, who is editor of the Portland Labor Press, represents Organized Labor, spoke at Assembly yesterday morning, on "Great Problems that Face the People of Oregon." Mr. Harris is the first labor representative to speak to the students this year. He spoke once before to the students in the journalism department on his work as an editor.

He said yesterday that the greatest problem facing the people of Oregon is the solving of the immigration problem, which will inevitably come with the opening of the Panama Canal. He said that the Slavonic peoples will come here by the thousands and overrun an already crowded labor market, to force their standard of living upon our native laborers. We must find some place to put these European peoples when they come. Unless this problem is solved, he predicts a slum problem that will rival that of the East.

Oregon Needs Development.

"The solution," he said, "lies in the claiming for cultivation the logged-off land of Western Oregon, and the thousands of acres of table land in Eastern Oregon, which will not yield a living for colonists in its present condition. This problem must be worked out in the next two or three years and the man who does it will have served humanity as much as Abraham Lincoln did in freeing the negroes.

"This is one of the steps in the betterment of living conditions for humanity as a whole, for which Organized Labor is working. It is not for our own special benefit, but for the people of the whole state, that we are working. We have representatives in Italy and other countries of Southern Europe outlining to the people there the living standards of this country and teaching them the value of maintaining high standards when they come here. Our problem, really, is prevention rather than cure, and that will be the easiest way out of the difficulty."

Conditions in Oregon Bad.

Mr. Harris spoke briefly of the deplorable conditions of living among the timber workers of the state, forced upon them by the employers because they have no organization. He said that was one of the problems being considered by Organized Labor at the present time.

He spoke of the purposes of Organized Labor, of which he is a member. "There have always been people, from the beginning," he said, "who have believed that a man should get a fair return for effort, and that is the principle for which we have labored. We have gained an eight hour day over nearly the whole country, and have gained a wage that allows for reasonable comforts in each home."

SPORTING SQUIBS

By "Slivers."

The University of Washington is paying $6,700 in coaching salaries annually. There is a movement on foot to combine several of the minor sports under one coach and lessen expenses.

A fund of nearly $1,000,000 is being raised by Wisconsin alumni to build a gigantic stadium, which will rival the one at Cambridge. The Harvard structure will seat over 40,000 people.

Charles Borgstrom, of the University of Southern California Preparatory School, broke the world's inter-scholastic record for the pole vault, clearing the bar at 12 feet 6 1-6 inches, in the Pacific coast inter-scholastic meet in Berkeley yesterday.

Warren Hardy, heavyweight champion of the Pacific Northwest Conference, and for three years a member of the Washington grappling team, was elected captain of the University of Washington wrestling team.

A campaign sanctioned by the Board of Regents of the University of Washington to raise $150,000 for the construction of a modern gymnasium, and $25,000 for the erection of an athletic stadium on the site of the old A-Y-P stadium on the University campus, will be commenced this week by Ralph Horr, graduate manager of the associated students.

POPE PIUS X IS ILL

Direct Election of Senators Result of Thirty-sixth State Ratifying Amendment.

ROME—Much concern is felt over the condition of Pope Pius X., who is seriously ill in the Vatican here.

WASHINGTON—Direct election of United States senators by the people was authorized and made compulsory today when the Connecticut legislature ratified the amendment, making the 36th state to do so.

WASHINGTON — Representative N. F. Sennott, newly-elected member of the house from the second Oregon district, has one of the shortest biographical sketches in the new Congressional Directory just issued, his sketch taking up barely eight lines.

GENEVA—Recently elected to the grand provincial council, the Swiss aviator, Attilio Majer, flew over the Alps to Lugano to take his seat.

The seniors at Leland Stanford University are much incensed over the theft of their Freshman poster idea by the third year students at Dartmouth College. The poster is alleged to have been used in the Eastern class rush.
