PIP FOR DEBATERS

Rumor has it that the Freshmen are showing a phenomenal burst of class spirit. This is most likely apropos of the drubbing which they expect to give the Sophomores in debate next Saturday. At least it is to be hoped that enough pip is generated in the class to get a bunch of rooters behind the forensic spouters. It is no small matter to show up the mental calibre of a superior class. Yet, judging from all indications, this is what the audacious "Sixteens" propose doing. On the other hand the Sophomores are confident of showing the green ones their true rank as low brows.

As a matter of fact, there is no reason why this contest of words and logic should not be one of the most intense of the year. Both sides have been preparing for the event with their best efforts, and the clash of issues will be keen and accurate.

Aside from thorough preparation there is still another essential effort. The speakers must have support; they must feel that their classes are back of them. Their is nothing that can make a class debater excel all past achievements like a series of rousing yells from his classmates.

Both classes should come, determined to furnish a display of class pip, the like of which has never been seen.

HENDRICKS AND DORRIS ELECTED TO OREGANA

Class Declines to Pay Salary to Editor and Manager of 1915 Year Book.

Leland Hendricks, of Salem, and Ben Dorris, of Eugene, were elected editor and manager, respectively of the 1915 Oregoniana at a meeting of the Sophomore class last evening. The new time for holding meetings is evidently a popular one, judging from the unusually large attendance.

A proposition, presented by Sam Michael, to pay the editor and manager a salary, depending upon the amount of profit they made, was voted down. The only other business was the decision to hold a picnic in the near future, the exact date for which is not being fixed.

Mr. Hendricks, the newly elected editor, has had considerable newspaper experience, having been raised in his father's newspaper office in Salem. He is University correspondent for the Portland Oregonian, and has held positions on the Emerald staff. He is a member of the Sigma Delta Chi honorary journalistic fraternity, and of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Mr. Dorris, who will handle the financial end of the year book, has had experience as a manager, and is now employed by the Pacific and Great Western Railroad, occupying a clerical position. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

ZETA PHI ELIMINATED

Second Round of Interfrat Baseball Series Begins to Reduce Contenders.

By losing last night's game to the Avava Club, 6-2, Zeta Phi has been eliminated from the race for the Doughnut League cup and the Bigbee brothers added another niche to their war clubs. Up until the Avavas came to the plate in the second inning, the game gave promise of being a "gooder." In that inning four hits, a base on balls and several bobbles combined to net the winners five runs, a lead too tall for the Zeta Phis to look over, although they rang up one in the fifth and final round.

"Mick" Gorman and Brownell spilled for the two crews, the Emerald Isle lad cheating his rival's performances by the scant margin of one more strike-out, both being nicked for five safeties. The feature was contributed by "Beef" Bigbee, when he rode one of Brownell's offerings into the tennis courts for four bases. Captain Chandler called balls and strikes in true "Silk" McLaughlin style.

The next two encounters scheduled are the Kappa Sigma-Oregon Club and the Alpha Tau Omega-Phi Delta Theta games.

O. A. C. ALSO MAY HAVE COLLEGE "CONVENTIONS"

Well, what do you know about those proposed rules? That Women's Council is sure there when it comes to the personal favors. With two elopements and several score of severe cases of "puppy love," the gentler sex are certainly intent on aiding the establishment of a perfectly good matrimonial bureau. It is certainly to be regretted that such a false step as this, should be the first move of the Women's Council.

By reading the proposed rules the first impression which enters one's mind is that the chief purpose of attending O. A. C. is for social privileges. Seemingly the real purpose for which girls are sent to school is entirely overlooked, either intentionally or unintentionally.

Without doubt one great cause of all the trouble in the privilege line has been in the fact that no discrimination has been made between upper and lower class-women. This fact has been commented on many times, and the fact that Freshman women were given practically unlimited privileges was wondered at by visitors, prominent in educational and other circles. Greater liberty is now desired than has been allowed before, and greater liberty than a majority of the girls are allowed in their own homes. It seems strange that such should be the case, but the privilege of women is well set forth in the proposed regulations regarding privileges.

There is a most commendable feature in the other parts of these same rules. The between class lolly gagging of some certain love-lorn boys and girls is absolutely disgusting. The clause covering this is, and the resolve to abide by all college rules is a redeeming feature. The inconsistency is apparent, however, in the fact that the first rule mentioned is regarding canoeing, an activity which interests about fifteen Waldo girls. Now the question naturally arises—is the Council controlled by this fifteen and are these rules made for their special benefit, or do the rules truly represent what is for the best interest of all the girls?

What will happen to these privilege regulations when the Student Affairs Committee gets them can be guessed at from the fact that it is almost unanimous at other institutions that the privileges of lower classmen and women are very few.

In this age of woman suffrage a greater tact should be shown than has been in this matter. Very evident is the fact that the real purpose of O. A. C. was not considered in these articles. Also is the fact that individual desires rather than a desire to frame beneficial and acceptable rules to all parties concerned, governed the work. Truly girls, you have made a blunder, and if you desire to save it from butchery, keep it away from the college authorities in its present state of crudeness.—O. A. C. Barometer.

CO-ED DEBATE MAY 23

Oregon Must Win this Contest from Washington to Even Scores.

The Fourth Annual Co-ed Debate between the University of Washington and the University of Oregon will be held Friday evening, May 23, in Villard Hall. The subject chosen is: "Resolved, That the Immigration of Unskilled Labor of the New Immigration Commission Should Be Prohibited." Miss Cecil Sawyer, Miss Aldous Oberholtzer, and Miss Beatrice Littlefield, will uphold the negative side of the question for the University of Oregon.

Of the three debates held so far, the University of Washington has won two and Oregon one. This was the first debate held in Seattle and won by Misses Birdie Wise, Fay Clark, and Carin Degermark.

Every effort will be made to have a record-breaking attendance and plans for such are now being considered. A dance will in all probability be given after the debate.

Paul B. McKee was unanimously elected to captain the 1913 Stanford track team. McKee took eight points in the recent Stanford-California meet, and practically won the meet for Stanford by winning the second heat of the 220 yard dash, after the first heat had resulted in a tie.
