OREGON TAKES

MEET 75 TO 56

"BILL" NEILL ESTABLISHES COAST RECORD IN JAVELIN BY THROW OF 169 FEET

RELAY IS FULL OF THRILLS

Muddy Track of Kincaid Field Presents Fast Time in the Races

History repeated itself yesterday and Oregon defeated Washington in their annual dual track and field meet by a score of 75 to 56. One new Pacific Coast record was established when "Bill" Neill, Oregon's unbeaten javelin-thrower, cast the Grecian weapon an even 169 feet.

Kincaid field track was a mile when the first event of the day, the mile run, was called. The expected breaking of records by the Oregon distance runners was out of the question. Both McClure and Huggins tired themselves out in winning the mile in the slow time of 4:42 2-5, with the result that when their turn came in the two-miles they were forced to yield to McClelland, the lone Washington starter. McClelland, however, should receive credit for a good race, for he finished fully half a lap ahead of the Oregon pair, and his time was good for the heavy going.

Thrill Is Uncorked.
The thrill of the day was uncorked in the final event, the relay. McConnell, starting for Oregon, obtained a lead of ten yards over his opponent, McHuddy. Wright, who ran the second lap for Washington, closed in on Boylen, but at the end of the lap Oregon still had an advantage of two yards. This lead was quickly overcome by Crites, running against Kay and the Washington man flashed in front in the back stretch.

McFee, of Washington, started the last lap with an advantage of four yards over Windnagle. The two sprinters fought for the pole all around the ring, and not until they reached the home stretch did Windnagle draw ahead. McFee carried the fight almost to the tape, Windnagle's time of :52 1/2 was fast for the track, where he collapsed completely and was unable to finish.

Neill's Throw Apparently Easy.
Neill's remarkable throw of 169 feet with the javelin was executed apparently without effort on the part of the Oregon athlete. The best previous record was 166 feet, made by Shedecor, of the University of California. Cook's performance in the same event today was not paltry, his mark being 158 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Class was shown by all three placetakers in the broad jump. Both Williams, the winner, and Parsons cleared

JOHNNY WELCH

Johnny Welch can't be hurried—he takes his own time about things—but he gets results—and results are what look best in the scorer's book. Oregon was proud to introduce Johnny to the Washington swatsmen Thursday, and though they may not have been glad to meet him, doubtless the experience did them good. Here's to a long baseball life and a hearty one, Johnny.

BERKELEY MEET ON TODAY UNDER SUNNY SKIES

The University of California oval is today the scene of the annual Pacific Coast Conference track and field meet. The expectation has been that the meet will be productive of new records in several events.

The entry list is open only to athletes of known ability, and every man who takes part tomorrow will be a star in his particular event in his own college. Teams have been entered by Stanford, the University of California, University of Southern California, University of Nevada, Oregon Agricultural College, Santa Clara University, and St. Mary's College.

Baker, of Oregon, entered in the 100-yard dash, comes with a big reputation.

"THAT A GIRL, YOU SURE GOT 'EM GOIN'"

Just Wait Till the Sorority Slabsters Slam Texas Leaguers and Things

"Phonetic Architect's" prospectus of the Chi Omega-Kappa Alpha Theta baseball game (future time) as heard through a contingent knot-hole.

All of which means that the Thetas have accepted the Chi Omegas' challenge to a baseball game, and are now limbering up their sporting vocabularies. Thus:

"Come on, now, you've got everything on the ball; you've got all the best of it; it's two and one, you know, on your toes all the time, we've got the gate closed. Give 'em one" of those with the big break in it; remember the little old spit ball, coax it along."

"Look out there now, she's going up, up, up; look 'em over careful; watch the break, old girl, watch the break; she's chartered a balloon, and you're going for a little walk; see! See! It's two and three, two and three, and it's going to be two and four. Look out for that one, she's going to throw it away; slip it right around your neck. On your toes, girl; good girl; take the old base and keep your eye on the ball; I'll watch the bases. Remember you got free transportation to first, and we're gona ride the brake beams to second."

J. WARD ARNEY

He's the man with the disposition—the kind who does everything for everybody and enjoys doing it. Not only that—he even came down to Eugene from the Univ. of Washington and so got into everybody's good graces, that he stands around inspiring "pep" in people without being obnoxious in the slightest degree. He reminds one of a bottle of champagne when the cork is pulled out. Apparently, he has an ideal in life, the slogan of which we would say, if we were asked, is, "Everybody happy."

You can tell by the picture that he is a baseball man. He's a good one too, and Oregon selfishly regrets that he wears three purple stripes around his arm and a big golden "W" on his manly chest.

If you are a friend of his, you can call him J. Pluvius, a name which he likes almost as well as J. Ward.

Don't be deceived. It looks yellow, but it is really the famous "Pink Section" of the Women's Emerald.

Harl Maggart, of the Angels, is still the leading base pilferer in the Pacific Coast League. He has 15 to his credit, with Charley Moore, of Los Angeles, a close second, at 14. Johnston, the new Seal outfielder, seems to be fast, for he hits played two weeks less than Maggart and still has 13. Fred Derrick leads the Portland club, Krueger, Doane and Kores being next in line.

"BILL" TUERCK

"Bill" Tuerck did honor to himself in his showing against Seattle in Wednesday's game.

He is a Freshman who is willing to learn and who learns quickly.

Billy Balleau, a Seattle boxer, sustained a peculiar injury in his scheduled four-round contest with "Battling" Wolf Thursday night. In the first round Balleau was knocked down with a right swing to the jaw. In falling his legs crossed and he fell upon them, breaking his right leg just above the ankle.

NOTICE

Senior Caps and Gowns have arrived and are ready for distribution at the Men's Dormitory. See Kronseneberg.

Don't be deceived, this is really pink, though it looks yellow, for it is the famous sporting extra of the Women's Emerald.

MEET GOES TO COLUMBIA U.

NUMBER OF EVENTS PULLED OFF IN EXCELLENT TIME IN SPITE OF THE STICKY TRACK

KIRKLAND INDIVIDUAL STAR

Goreczky and Grant Run Close Second and Third for Stellar Honors

Columbia walked away with the inter-scholastic meet this afternoon, outdistancing her closest competitor by twice its score. The wonderful showing of Kirkland, highest individual point winner, was responsible for Columbia's unequivocal victory. Washington High School, of Portland, took second place, and Eugene High third.

The track was more a river of mud than the proverbial cinder track. The faster events, the 120-yard hurdles and the 100-yard dash, were run in the center of the field. The rain not only spoiled the track, but was the chief factor in preventing a large crowd from attending the meet.

The events deserving of particular notice were the shot put, won by Johnson, of Washington High at 45 feet 4 1/2 inches; the century, won by Dick Grant, of H. M. A., at 10:1, and the high hurdles, won by Muirhead, of Columbia, in 16:2.

In the low hurdles, Moses of Corvallis, after having practically won second place tripped on the last hurdle, losing out entirely.

The individual point winners are Kirkland, who took a first in the 440, first in the low hurdles, third in the high hurdles, and received 1 1-4 points for running in the winning relay, making a total of 12 1-2 points.

The second highest point winner was Goreczky, who took second in the hundred, second in the 220 dash, second in the 220-hurdles, and received 1 1-4 points for running in the winning relay, making a total of 11 1-4 points.

The results of the meet by scores follows:

Columbia University	38.5
Washington High, Portland	16
Eugene High	14
Hill's Military Academy	12
Astoria High	8
Jefferson High, Portland	7.5
St. Johns High	6
Athens High	5

DOPESTERS FIGURE THAT OREGON'S CHANCES FOR CHAMPIONSHIP ARE GOOD

All the dope points to W. S. C. and Oregon scrapping it out as champions of the Eastern and Western divisions of the conference baseball championship. The conference series has been played out in two divisions, the eastern made up of Pullman, Idaho, and Whitman, and the western of Oregon, O. A. C. and Washington. Oregon leads the western division, having won four out of six games, until yesterday, when O. A. C. tied our percentage at .667.

Pullman leads the eastern division, having won all four of the games played, while both the opposing teams have minus scores.

Figuring on the outcome seems to be very much in a circle, but Oregon's chances are decidedly good at any rate. Oregon supporters are hoping for the best, which in this case means that Oregon win from Corvallis once and Washington three times. The University plays O. A. C. on the sixteenth and seventeenth at Corvallis.

Though the question of which team will play W. S. C. is extremely problematic, it seems that all the odds are with the successful team against Pullman, which has found its two opposing teams extremely easy picking.

WASHINGTON TAKES SECOND SUCCESSIVE NORTHWEST TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Washington must console herself for the loss of the dual meet with her Northwest tennis championship won today upon the local courts, when they took three of the five games from the Oregon team.

The playing of the Japanese, Mataji Minia, who is a Freshman at the University of Washington, was Adams, of Washington, is a consistent player, with an admiration the feature of the tournament—provoking back-hand smash which is a valuable asset.

Louis Bond gave the best exhibition for the Oregon team, at all times playing a wonderful game.

This is the second successive tournament which Oregon has lost to Washington. Three years ago Oregon took the series handily.

The score follows:
In the singles: Louis Bond defeated Adams, 4-6; 6-1; 7-5.

Mataji Minia defeated Oberteuffer, 6-3; 6-2.
Shannon (captain) defeated Brooks, 6-3; 6-3.

Doubles: Brooks (captain) and Bond defeated Shannon and Adams, 6-4; 6-2; 4-6; 6-3.

Adams and Mataji Minia defeated Brooks and Bond, 6-0; 6-4; 6-4.
