WALKER CHOSEN GRADUATE MANAGER

Dean Walker, a member of last year's graduating class was elected by a unanimous vote, graduate manager of student affairs at the joint meeting of the executive committee and the athletic council Wednesday evening to succeed Arthur Geary, resigned. Dean T. Goodman and Grover Kestly, both of the class of 1910 and former student managers of football were the only other candidates. The name of Andrew Collier, 1913, former manager of the Emerald, was suggested but he refused by telegraph to become a candidate.

Walker was selected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Geary which took effect Thursday. Geary has been graduate manager for the past two years but has just recently decided to complete his course in law at Columbia University. He will leave for New York Saturday.

In a statement made just after he had tendered his resignation Mr. Geary said:

"During my two years as graduate manager the Student Body debt has been lowered by five hundred dollars. The indebtedness of the Student Body now, exclusive of that incurred this fall is $1800. When I took hold of the office, it was $2300. The first year there was no gain made for the treasury, as football proved a losing venture and careful economy in mid-winter and spring sports saved no more than the graduate manager's salary. Last year, several hundred dollars indebtedness was paid.

"The prospects of entirely removing student indebtedness under Mr. Walker this year are very bright to say the least. The $3 paid by each student for the year tickets added to the regular student tax will turn $5000 into the student treasury. This will pay the gross expenses of basketball, track, baseball, inter-scholastic meet and the expenses of the graduate manager's office and a liberal estimate of a possible glee club deficit, leaving all gate receipts to go into the treasury and remove the student debt.

"The football schedule should net the Student Body $500 or more according to the weather conditions and to whether Oregon puts out a winning team.

FORTY FOOTBALL CANDIDATES BEGIN SEASON'S TRAINING

COACH BEZDEK IS PLEASED WITH LARGE EARLY SEASON TURN-OUT—OLD MEN ARE LATEST ARRIVALS ON GRIDIRON.

"It is too early in the season to make any statements concerning Oregon's football outlook, but the number of new men turning out is encouraging," said Hugo Bezdek, Oregon's new football coach in speaking of the first week's practice.

"I am being delayed somewhat by the late arrival of the old players. So far only six letter men have appeared on the field."

The side line followers of football, however, seem more optimistic and are greatly pleased with the business like methods used by Bezdek. The week has been spent in light work, consisting of punting, handling forward passes, and single back field formations. The daily class in gridiron calisthenics has not only helped to condition the men but has afforded amusement for the side line spectators. A leap-frog relay race once around the track has been a favorite stunt with which to end the work.

The squad has increased rapidly from eighteen men the first evening to forty the last two night. Captain Bradshaw, Fenton, Jones, Caulfield, Parsons, and Heusner are the only letter men who have reported to Bezdek, but Hall, Cornell, McClelland and Holden are expected the first of the week. There is also a possibility that Sam Cook will return. Grout and Fariss the guards on the 1912 eleven may not be seen in action this year. Fariss has decided to devote his time to Glee club work, while Grout on account of a heavy schedule will not be able to take part in athletics.

Among the new men Leo Malarkey, of Columbia University, Richard Nelson, of Newberg, Lloyd Ross, of Eugene High School, and John Beckett, of Washington High School, have been making the best showing. All four are trying for backfield positions.

The squad now consists of the following:

Capt. Bradshaw, Jones, Fenton, Caulfield, Heusner, Parsons, Bryant, Hill, Weist, Nelson, Pague, Lieuallen, Furnell, Malarkey, Spellman, Dudley, Beckett, Teurck, Normandin, Garrett, McCornack, Nickleson, Huntington, Brown, Putman, Ingles, Reed, Ross, Holt, Easterwood, Ash and Riggs.

The official schedule for the season with officials of some of the games already selected are as follows:

October 1—Freshman games with Oregon Agricultural College, at Corvallis.

October 4—Vancouver soldiers, in Eugene.

October 12—University of Oregon law school, in Eugene.

October 18—University of Oregon alumni, in Eugene.

October 25—University of Idaho, in Eugene. George C. Varnell, referee; "Bill" Schmidt, umpire.

November 1—Willamette University, in Salem.

November 8—Oregon Agricultural College, at Albany. George C. Varnell, referee; Roscoe Fawcett, umpire; "Bill" Schmidt, head linesman.

November 15—University of Washington, at Portland. George C. Varnell, referee.

November 27—Multnomah Athletic Club, in Portland.

OREGON FRESHMAN USES PANAMA ROUTE

From Illinois to Eugene is a long journey to attend the University of Oregon but when Carl A. Naylor, freshman made the trip he came such a round-about way that he might as well have come from the moon. If he had gone east a la Columbo he would have arrived much quicker.

First he went to Iowa, and then to Indiana. Then in company with Mr. Naylor, Sr., who had a government position he hied to the Panama canal. Then he returned to Washington, D. C., and then went to Panama again. After a few more trips from Panama to Washington, D. C., he wandered out to Salem and from there to Eugene.

MEN'S FRATERNITIES ANNOUNCE PLEDGES

The fraternities at Oregon have thus far pledged 47 freshmen. Although a few pledges are expected during the coming week, it is probable that the present number will not be greatly augmented.

At the Phi Delta Theta fraternity are pledged:

John Schaefer of Vancouver, Dave Leache of Portland and Hollis Huntington of The Dalles.

The Sigma Nu pledges are:

Leo Malarkey and Bart Spellman from Columbia University of Portland, John Beckett of Portland, Glen Dudley of Athena, Fred Kiddle of LaGrande, Roland Geary and Frank Beach of Portland, and Frye Herbert of Baker City.

The pledges at the Beta Theta Pi house are:

Joe Sheahan of Oregon City, Floyd Payne of Athena, Robert Langley, Harold Fitzgibbons, Clyde Phillips and Howard McCulloch of Portland.

Those at Alpha Tau Omega are:

Robert Riggs of Klamath Falls, Ralph Ash of Portland, and Richard Nelson of Lafayette.

Avava pledges are:

Robert Young of Hepner, Elmar Martin and Carson Bigbee of Albany,

Hugh Kirkpatrick of Lebanon, and Frank Scalfie of Eugene.

Sigma Chi has pledged Donald Nickleson of Hood River, Oskar Wiest, Bernard Breeding and Claude McDonald of Portland, Bothwell
