NEW INSTRUCTORS

GOOD INSTRUCTORS SELECTED

Edmundson, Stetson, Caswell,
Lyman, Winegar, Allison,
Thorstenberg, Dallenbach,
Sowers, Hope, Hodge, Michael and Dymont Are Here

Fourteen new members have been added to the faculty since last year, which indicates a real growth and broadening out of the University, for only two of the old faces are missing. The new men should add greatly to efficiency of their respective departments of relieving the congestion of work which has been such a handicap in the past.

Dr. Chas. H. Edmonson, who will be assistant professor of zoology, taught at Emory College in Georgia before coming here. F. L. Stetson, assistant professor in the department of education, last year was superintendent of the Parochial of Seattle. A. E. Caswell, assistant in the department of physics comes here from Purdue. R. M. Winger, assistant in mathematics, has been an instructor at the University of Illinois. W. F. Allison, professor of sanitary hygiene engineering, taught for eight years at the Colorado School of Mines. Edward Thorstenberg, Professor of the newly created department of Scandinavian Languages and Literature, comes to us from Yale, his alma mater. K. M. Dallenbach, instructor in Psychology has not been teaching for a year or so. R. H. Lyman, professor in the School of Music, recently returned from Germany where he has spent the last three years. D. C. Sowers, municipal expert, comes here from the bureau of municipal research, New York. C. V. Dymont, instructor in journalism, is from the Oregon Journal of Portland. Dr. E. W. Hope, assistant professor in economics, comes here from Los Angeles where he has been engaged in business for the last two years. Previous to this he taught at Stanford. C. F. Hodge, professor of civic biology, comes here from Clark University, Worcester, Mass. Graham Michael, an old man at the University, will be an assistant in geology.

All of these men come here with the best of records behind them, and are of the progressive type which is characteristic of the west and the University of Oregon in particular.

15 ARE CHOSEN FOR FINAL GLEE TRYOUTS

Prospects For Good Tenor Section— Club Elects

The two Glee Club tryouts on Thursday and Friday evenings, under the direction of Director Ralph Lyman, reduced the number of 32 new candidates to 15, these to try again next week at the regular club rehearsals. Any man who did not take advantage of the preliminary tryout may also have the opportunity to try for a place at the practice, by reporting to President Stannard or Professor Lyman.

An unusual number of aspirants for first and second tenor positions appeared this year and prospects are bright for strong tenor sections. Those who won a right to the final tryout are: First tenors—Shaver, Phillips, Huston, Rowell and Dyott; second tenors—Cowden, Langley and Dineen; first basses—Pobst, Batley and Mann; second basses—Baker, Reynolds, Brotherton and Ash. Ten will be chosen for positions on the club from this number.

At a meeting of the old members of the Club, Del Stannard was elected Club President to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of Walter Doble, who is enrolled this year at Wisconsin University. Earl Fort-

CAMPBELL SPEAKS WELCOME TO 1917

Straub and Motschenbacher
Also Address New Baby Class.

The first meeting of the Freshman class of 1917 was addressed by President Campbell in Villard hall, Wednesday afternoon. President Campbell welcomed the new class, which is the largest in the history of the University, and urged them to get as much as possible out of their college life.

President Campbell then introduced Dean Straub, whose thirty-five years' experience in the University have well fitted him to become the advisor of the Freshman class. Dean Straub's speech was short and friendly. He promised to give the incoming class a heart-to-heart talk at their class meeting Monday afternoon.

Prof. Lyman, of the University musical department, sang a war ballad, which was well received.

Vernon Motschenbacher, president of the Student Body, was called upon for a short speech, and made a few remarks on the relation of a freshman to college traditions and activities.

"Your studies are important," said President Motschenbacher, "but do not let your studies interfere with your education."

The meeting was concluded with a short address by Miss Ruth Guppy, dean of women.

The next meeting of the freshman will be held in Villard hall Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The election of officers will be the principal business of the meeting.

Miller was elected vice president to take the place of Del Stannard, who was chosen for that position last Spring.

JERARD IS NOT MARRIED

Pendleton Boy Enjoys Notoriety
But Maintains Silence.

"Congratulations. When did you get married? How's the wife?"—are some of the many questions which have been addressed to Bert Jerard, president of the Junior class, since his return to college.

Now Jerard lives in Pendleton—the town famous for her "Let 'Er Buck" cowboys and sagebrush—and the report became circulated during the summer that he had forsaken the single life and had joined the ranks of the Benedicts. The name of the fair one was not learned, although as the story went the rounds a number of conjectures were made as to her identity.

Upon receipt of the news his friends at once deluged him with letters and telegrams, asking for explanations. Jerard apparently enjoyed the notoriety given him by the false impressions and allowed them to go unexplained, and the bewilderment of his acquaintances increased.
