THOUGHTLESS VANDALISM.

During the past week, complaints have been coming in from residents of Eugene living along the mill-race concerning the cutting of shrubbery, by canoeing parties, presumably for the purpose of decoration. It is claimed that not only is foliage taken from the wild growths along the stream, but that also trees specially set out for ornamental purposes have been despoiled of their leaves and branches.

It is difficult of course to fix the responsibility for these acts of vandalism, but in the minds of those who have brought the matter to the Emerald's attention, there is no doubt but that University men are the ones at fault.

Such pilfering is of course thoughtless; it is not done with any wilful idea of causing loss or inconvenience to any one, but this does not lessen the damage which has been occasioned. The temptation to secure appropriate interior decorations for college parties is of course great, but with a little extra trouble, the woods in the vicinity of Eugene can be made to offer decorations fully as beautiful.

The quiet beauty of the mill race is enjoyed and utilized by the students of Oregon, but have they stopped to consider that three-fourths of the charm of a lazy trip up the stream is due to the dense growth of small trees and bushes which line the stream? Some of the property holders have endeavored to enhance this charm and their efforts should be appreciated by the students. Any act that is other than an aid in this direction, is unworthy of the men of Oregon.

REGISTER AND VOTE.

If the sentiment expressed by the delegates to the meeting of the women's clubs held in Hood River may be taken as an indication, the University will at least have an open break in the election on November 4.

This is particularly encouraging because from all over the state are coming assurances of support which show that the opinions expressed in Hood River are a fair sample of the ideas which are being held throughout the length and breadth of Oregon.

Only one danger now lies in the path of the University, and this danger cannot be over-emphasized. The University's friends must register before the nineteenth of the present month and then vote, without fail on election day. The absent treatment absolutely will not work.

DOCTOR GROSZMAN TO LECTURE WEDNESDAY

German Authority on Eugenics Will Give Address in Villard

Maxmillian Groszman, President of the German Social Scientific Society of New York will give a free lecture in Villard Hall at 8 p. m., next Wednesday evening on the subject: "Exceptional Children." This is to be under the auspices of the department of Education.

Mr. Groszman, born in Germany in 1855, came to America in 1876 and was graduated Doctor of Philosophy of the University of New York in 1893. Having been in charge of the Workingmen's School, now the Ethical Culture School, from 1890-1897; having become founder, educational director and member of the board of Trustees of National Association for the study of Exceptional Children, a member of the American Academy of the Science and American Academy of Medicine, Director of Groszman School for Nervous and Atypical Children and having been author of many articles on the problem of children, Mr. Groszman has made a name for himself as one of the foremost authorities on these subjects in the United States.

LEADING DAILIES SENT TO JOURNALISM OFFICE

Prominent Foreign Papers to Be Obtained. All on File for Students' Use

"All are welcome to come and read," says professor Allen of the Journalism Department.

Leading newspapers from all over the country are to be received daily in the Journalism office, and several San Francisco papers are now coming in. The Boston Transcript and State Journal (Madison) send their dailies free. New York and Portland morning papers, New York Evening Post, Boston Christian Monitor, Philadelphia Public Ledger and North American have been subscribed for; also the Toronto Globe, Washington Herald, Chicago Tribune and Kansas City Star. Prominent foreign papers are to be sent for in a short time, such as the London Times, and Globe.

Professor Allen intends to keep most of these papers on file and it will be the duty of the Freshman Journalism students to attend to the files. Others will be cut up and used for discussion in the class room.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Eugene Theatre.

Basco & Brown Musical Comedy company opened a three nights engagement at this house last night with "Who's Who, Or All in a Fog," to a capacity house. The company is headed by A. B. Basco, in the part of Pat McNogerty, an Irish valet, who is without doubt the funniest man in popular price productions and his dancing especially the grotesque is one long continuous laugh and from the rise of the curtain his every appearance kept the audience in an uproar of laughter. Billy Nixon, as Major Puffjacket, a gruff old retired army officer, is well taken and shows Mr. Nixon as a clever character actor. Ed Harrington, as Charles Livingston, in love with the major's niece Laura, has a great opportunity to show his clever versatility, especially his clever disguising himself to represent the Irish valet Pat, which he does in view of the audience, and the mirror scene, where Pat shaves in a mirrorless mirror with Livingston acting as his counterpart provoked great laughter. Miss Naudia Melville, as Laura, the major's niece, is a dainty bit of femininity, very pretty and petite, and her singing and dancing were very clever and was well received by her audience. Miss Minnie Moran as Nancy, the maid, gave this clever actress a good chance to display her ability and her song number, "Be Sure He's Irish," was well received. Miss Billy Vincent, the Ingenue, is clever and talented and her song number with the chorus was well received. Miss Lillian Mayo's song number, "I'm Going Back to Carolina," with the chorus, was well rendered. The chorus girls are all young, pretty and can sing and dance and have created a very favorable impression with the theatre goers of Eugene. The company closes the present engagement Saturday night with a popular price matinee Saturday when any seat in the house will be 10c. No reserve sale for the matinee. Change of bill nightly.
