PRINTING THE NEWS.

Following the past two or three issues of the Emerald, the information has reached the editor, in a roundabout fashion, that certain news is being left unpublished and that an undue amount of authority is being exercised by certain of the staff in keeping out some kinds of news and publishing others.

It would seem as if such criticism is the result of prejudice as to what news is the most important, or perhaps as to ignorance as to what is really going on in the Emerald office. It is preferable to take the latter view and to enlighten those critics who need enlightenment.

The Emerald, as a student institution differs from other student activities in having no claim on the student treasury for financial aid. This means that the advertising end of the publication must be emphasized and that in preparation for the lean season which invariably follows the Christmas holidays, any possible present income must be taken advantage of. The result in several issues has been the decrease of advertising space at the expense of news space.

In consequence it has been found necessary at times to "kill" some news stories of minor importance, but every effort is made with the diminished amount of space at the command of the news staff, to make what is printed as thoroughly representative of college life as is possible.

The Emerald appreciates such criticism as has been made, appreciates any and all criticism that may be made, as an evidence of interest on the part of the students in one of their own activities. But the Emerald would appreciate infinitely more an out-and-out knock, than one which only reaches the office by a sort of grape vine telegraph.

The columns of the Emerald are at all times open to sincere communications from the students, professors or alumni, whether such communications are in the form of praise or blame, or offer suggestions. A plain straightforward statement will be found much more effective in accomplishing a reform if any is needed, than an intimated criticism which takes the chance of not being heard until the possibility for change is passed.

Only five days more must pass before the fate of the University appropriation is settled, and the attitude of the people of the state of Oregon toward the University, demonstrated. Unfortunately, however, Hallowe'en intervenes before the coming of election day. Cannot the men of Oregon find it possible to spend the evening in some way which will not tend to jeopardize the future of higher education in the state?

MEW MEMBERS VOTED IN BY DRAMATIC CLUB

Prof. Reddie Gives Readings in Portland and Will Begin Salem Series

At a meeting of the Dramatic club held last Tuesday all those that were successful in the tryouts were voted in as associate members of the organization. Jerry Martin was elected treasurer to fill the vacancy of A. McConnell who did not return to school this year. The position of coach was conferred upon Prof. Reddie.

December 12 was chosen as the date for the first production of the play. The name and cast will be chosen later. According to Alfred Skei it is the intention of the club to produce a strong play with a standard reputation for the first offering. A play of a lighter nature will be given during the Junior week-end.

Professor Reddie is in Portland where he is giving readings from modern plays. On Wednesday, October 29, "The Children of Shakespeare" was given to a large and interested audience in the East Side Library. "The Tale of Two Cities" will be given in the Albina Branch Library on the following day and on Friday he will give a reading from "Cyrano de Bergerac" by Edmond Rostand.

A reading of a play recently given by Prof. Reddie in Salem has created such approval there that he was induced to give a series of readings of leading plays during the months of January, February and March in that city.

HENRY MILLER'S VARIOUS CREATIONS.

In the past seven years Henry Miller has appeared continuously and in that long period he has played but four roles. But these roles form a gallery of contrasting types and because of the actor-manager's success in them he has played nearly three seasons each in two of them and two seasons in the others. The characters created by the notable actor range from the serious role of "Stephen Ghent" in "The Great Divide," to the appealing "Neil Sumner" in "The Rainbow." "Stephen Ghent" was a man of the crude West, vital with life and hiding beneath the rough exterior of a prospector the heart of a man. "Neil Sumner" is a man of worldly polish, a bit cynical from loveliness, a seeker for amusement among the fast set, a man of sentiment. Both the rough miner of "The Great Divide," and the polished man of the world in "The Rainbow" are redeemed by love, the first by a wife, the last by the love of a winsome daughter. Mr. Miller will be seen in his newest role at the Eugene theatre on October 30. Many believe it the best part he has played in recent years.
