

U. OF O. GIVES AID TO STATE

WILL PROVIDE EXPERTS TO SOLVE COMMUNITY PROBLEMS

WILL ASSIST TOWNS OF STATE

Extension Department Well Fitted for Co-operative Efforts, Through Lectures, Correspondence.

In a letter to the mayor of each city and town of the state, to each county court and to other officials, the University of Oregon has just offered an extraordinary service. This service is to be absolutely free and is to be performed by members of the University's regular faculty. It is a service that would cost hundreds and perhaps thousands of dollars to each community if outside experts had to be engaged; many Oregon communities, in fact, are believed to have gone without this much-needed service rather than incur the expense.

Bureau officials often do not have time to keep up with the latest developments in the fields of public accounting, city planning, government organization, such as the commission government or city management plan and the treatment of defective and delinquent classes. This department plans to collect the results of the experience of other cities and communities throughout the country and make all this information available for those who wish to know what is the best thought on their respective problems.

Service Communities Can Have. - More specifically, the department aims to do the following for the communities of Oregon:

1. To provide expert information on the problems which are arising in connection with municipal administration, as for example, the problems connected with street paving, street lighting, sewer construction, and sewage disposal, park administration, police and fire protection, water supply systems, and questions connected with the operation or regulation of public utilities.

2. To assist and direct by correspondence, and personal conferences, communities which desire social surveys made, either of all the activities of the community, or of any special phase of its life. Never before have men and women been so conscious of the need of knowing the facts about their communities. All real constructive work must start with a fact basis.

Advice as to Business Methods. 3. To co-operate with boards of county commissioners, city officials, health officers, superintendents of workhouses, county and state asylums, supervisors of the poor, so that the best information and best way of conducting the public business may be placed at the disposal of every public official.

4. To co-operate with county and city treasurers and auditors, and other financial officials, and to give advice regarding the installation of up-to-date methods of controlling receipts and disbursements and modern practices connected with auditing vouchers, purchasing supplies, and letting contracts.

5. To co-operate with voluntary societies such as commercial clubs, improvement associations, welfare leagues, health societies, women's clubs, etc., in working out plans for social betterment programs; and with county superintendents and county school boards with special reference to the finances of rural schools.

No more useful method of presenting ideas has been invented than the exhibit, often in connection with

ALBANY WANTS TO SEE TIE PLAYED OFF

Graduate Manager Favors Contest But Considers O. A. C. Should Make Proposition

"Albany is agitating a return game between O. A. C. and Oregon to play off the tie which was the result of the game played in Albany several weeks ago," says Dean Walker, director of Oregon's student body activities.

"I was supposed to hear from Dr. E. J. Stewart for Corvallis last night, but did not, so I cannot say what the possibilities of a game are. Practically the only date open would be next Saturday. The following week the game with Multnomah is to be played and a game after that would be a post-season game and I think it likely that the faculty would oppose any post-season games. I understand that Stewart will not consider a game for next Saturday on account of the Idaho game which they play the following Saturday.

"I would be in favor of a game if suitable arrangements can be made but think the proposition will have to be made from O. A. C. before any consideration can be taken of it.

"If our team should play the Aggies again I have no doubt of the outcome after the showing made against Washington and personally would like to see the game played. Unless I hear from the O. A. C. authorities it is probable that no action will be taken."

a series of lectures to arouse interest and co-operation. Any municipality in the state that is interested in this method of presenting community needs should consult with the Extension Department of the University.

Professor Sowers Available. The Extension Department is peculiarly well fitted this year to co-operate with the towns of the state in this work, either by correspondences, as it now has upon its regular ences, a sit now has upon its regular Extension faculty Professor D. C. Sowers, who has specialized along the lines of Political and Social Science at Columbia University, New York, and has for some time been connected with the Training School for Public Service, which is conducted by the Bureau of Municipal Research. Before coming to Oregon he had practical experience in various city departments of New York City and participated by co-operating with governmental officials in the preparation of the present budget which was voted on October 31, and carried appropriations amounting to nearly $200,000,000. He is thus especially well fitted to give advice and suggestions dealing with the financial operations of cities, and to advise with local officials regarding the installation of up-to-date accounting systems and the modern methods of business procedure.

Otto Helder has been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Wells as head of the University Y. M. C. A. membership committee. This is a cabinet position.

WASHINGTON 10-7 VICTORY IS NOT THOUGHT DECISIVE

Crippled Oregon Halfback Picks Holes In Dobie's Line For Big Gains. Fenton's High Punts Outdistance Sutton's

(Raeman T. Fleming) The Washington aggregation left a lot of its hard-earned or easily-made money in Portland as the result of the game last Saturday. Before the game they were offering odds that they would beat Oregon by at least fifteen points; but how the mighty have fallen! 10 to 7 is not a victory; it is a comparison. That comparison shows the relative differences in the two teams.

The Washington team had a wonderful ground gainer in Hap Miller. Their backfield weighed twenty pounds more to the man than did the Oregon backfield. Their line was lighter than Oregon's but they did not mass their plays through Oregon line but rather just outside where they could make the additional weight count to the utmost.

Parsons' Wonderful Work. As opposed to this was the spectacular work of John Parsons who picked the holes made for him by the Oregon line in a most uncanny fashion.

Despite his poor underpinning he carried the ball gamely and although he was not as good as he might have been he was still head and shoulders above any other individual in carrying the ball. Cornell, owing to his inability to move his legs as fast as he has in previous games, did not take the ball as much as he has heretofore; but for this he can not be blamed as he was in agony most of the time. Malarkey and Bryant were in the game all of the time for all that was in them.

The real feature of the game was the punting done by Carl Fenton. His kicks were sure and they sailed out for a good average which far exceeded the work done by Sutton. Carl made a game try for a kick from placement from the thirty-five yard line. The ball started right, but it carried off a little. While the ball was soaring through the air the Washington contingent held their breath as they were sure it was going to tie the score again. Thus went Oregon's chance for the game, as the ball then belonged to Washington on their twenty-yard line and there was not time enough left for Oregon to get another try at it.

Touchdown in First Quarter. Washington got their touchdown in the first quarter. Oregon tried a fake kick but it was brought back, referee claiming that it did not go the required ten yards before it was

THANKSGIVING GLEE CLUB TRIP SHORTENED

Portland and Astoria Concerts Postponed Because of Conflicts

The proposed Thanksgiving trip for the Glee Club has been called off as far as Portland and Astoria are concerned, according to Graduate Manager Dean Walker.

"The Portland date was cancelled on account of the big society benefit which is to be held there three nights in succession at Thanksgiving time," said Walker today. "I did not think it advisable to attempt to run competition to their show. The Astoria date has also been cancelled as it would mean too much expense to travel so far for the one appearance."

"However, it is probable that a trip will be taken. I have written to a number of the larger towns in Southern Oregon, such as Grants Pass, Roseburg, Ashland and Medford and may be able to make a trip south at this time. I have also written to McMinnville, Independence and several others north of here and may be able to make that territory. If possible, a trip will be made at Thanksgiving by the club.

"The appearance in Portland will in all probability be made on a later date as I think a good concert can be held there which will benefit the club and also the University. The trip to Portland may be made between semesters, it depending on whether I can get in a good date or not."

PRES. CAMPBELL MAKES EXTENSIVE COLLEGE TOURS

After Speaking in Washington, University Head Travels aEst

President P. L. Campbell, who addressed the National Association of State Universities which recently convened in Washington, will leave Chicago tonight on his return to Eugene. On his way back President Campbell will speak at Baker City and will probably reach Eugene the fore part of next week.

Besides attending the convention at Washington, D. C., President Campbell visited several colleges and universities in the East for the purpose of obtaining latest educational ideas and to line up available men for future additions to the faculty.

Last Thursday President Campbell spent at the John Hopkins University in Baltimore. On Saturday he witnessed the football game between Yale and Princeton. Monday he was in conference with President Lowell, of Harvard University.

The Oregon president had the distinction of being the only college president in the west who addressed the convention in Washington.

It is seldom that several successive days pass without reports of a "police scandal." But one can hear and even read a lot of things that at most are only fractionally true.

OREGON EVEN ON EXPENSES

WALKER STATES SATURDAY CROWD WAS SMALLER THAN EXPECTED

EARLIER SCORES DETER FANS

Thanksgiving Game With Multnomah Will Probably Yield Profit of $1,500 for Oregon, Says Manager Walker.

"Oregon is just about even with the board as far as receipts and expenses in connection with football are concerned," said Graduate-manager Dean Walker yesterday when speaking of his report of the Oregon-Washington game played in Portland last Saturday.

"The amount of money cleared has fallen considerably below my expectations," said Dean, "owing to a much smaller crowd turning out for the Washington game than I expected. The O. A. C. game did not prove as big a drawing card as I had hoped but the big slump occurred at the Washington game. The number of tickets sold was about $2,000 short of the number sold two years ago. I attribute the falling off in the sale of tickets to the difference in scores run up by the two teams earlier in the season which gave Washington much the best of the bargain.

"The Multnomah-Oregon game which will be played in Portland on Thanksgiving Day always draws a good crowd and the amount we will receive from that game over and above expenses will be practically clear profit. Our share will probably be about $1500. At this time we are about $1500 short of what I had expected to clear off of these.

Following is the approximate report of the Oregon-Washington game:

Total Receipts	$6550.00
General expenses	1750.00
Surplus	4800.00
Oregon's Receipts	2400.00
Oregon's Expenses	425.00
Oregon's Surplus	1975.00
