

OFFICIALS FOR GAME CHOSEN

MANAGERS PICK ROSCOE FAWCETT, H. HERDMAN AND SAM DOLAN

LARGE CROWD IS PREDICTED

Numbers Will Be Worn on the Backs of Players During Tussel as Means of Identifying the Men of the Two Teams

The officials for the Oregon-Multnomah football game, to be played on Multnomah field Thanksgiving day, were chosen by graduate-manager Dean Walker and Manager Plowden Scott of the Multnomah Club last week while Walker was in Portland. The officials will be: referee, Roscoe Fawcett, of Portland; umpire, Sam Dolan, of Corvallis; and head linesman, H. H. Herdman, of Portland.

Herdman is principal of Washington High School and is a close follower of football in the Northwest. Dolan is well known in Northwest football, having had a position on the O. A. C. coaching staff for several years. Fawcett, sport writer for the Oregonian, is well known as one of the keenest followers of all sports.

Big Crowd Expected. "Indications are that the Turkey Day game will be one of the largest attended games in the Northwest this year," said Walker yesterday. The splendid showing our boys put up against Washington several weeks ago has the Multnomah crowd scared and they are simply putting forth every effort to win this game. They realize that they will not have the easy chances that have heretofore been to their advantage. This has also revived interest in the game in Portland, and the Multnomah Club, which has charge of the staging of the game, is making preparations for an exceptionally large crowd.

Numbers to Identify. "The numbers will be used on the backs of the players for identification during the game. Multnomah's numbers will run from 1 to 20 and Oregon's will be from 20 to 40. The numbers will be large enough to make them easy to see. I see where the New York papers announce the success of the system as it was used there recently in one of the big games in which the Carlisle Indians played, and I think it will work out here."

The tickets will be on sale at Obak's until Thursday morning. General admission is $1.00. Assistant-manager of football, Tom Boylen, is furnishing the ushers for the game, and any one wishing such a position may secure the same by applying to him. The number is limited.

The team leaves Wednesday morning for Portland.

ARE TO HAVE GOLF COURSE

University Enthusiasts to Organize Club and Play Near Campus.

At a meeting of the golf enthusiasts of the University yesterday afternoon in the reception room of the men's gymnasium, plans for a golf course opposite the I. O. O. F. cemetery were discussed and it was decided to start work immediately so that the links might be in shape by the end of the Thanksgiving vacation.

A club will be organized and a five hole course laid out. If the play warrants it, nine holes will be constructed later. Classes will be started as soon as the links are in shape and it is planned to hold an open tournament some time before the Christmas holidays.

JUNIOR TRADES TROUSERS FOR A WOMAN'S WRAPPER

"Shorty" Howard Loses Corduroys as Result of Freshman Joke

"Shorty" Howard exercised his Junior prerogatives and ordered a pair of corduroys. Needless to say, they were a work of art when finished, for "Shorty" is known as the Whistler of Oregon, and he had the tailor construct the trousers along distinctive lines. Homeward bound with the package containing the Junior's favorite raiment under his arm, he dropped into the domicile occupied by Ben Dorris, Jr., when that gentleman is not engaged in pursuing a possible Oregon advertisement or running the P. E. & E. railroad.

Now the Dorris home is a way-station for Fijis who are too wearied to hoof it to town without a rest. It happened that several festive frosh were there when "Shorty" arrived.

The pride of Clackamas county spent a pleasant hour and then started home, the precious package again under his arm.

Shorty proudly undid the package, and exposed to view a woman's wrapper, blue and much the worse for wear.

"Where in Corvallis are those frosh?" or words to that effect, exclaimed "Shorty," while John Black beat a hasty and horrified exit.

Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, of Portland, and Miss Martha Randall, of Eugene, were dinner guests at the Chi Omega house Thursday. Mrs. Baldwin is head of the Public Welfare Department in Portland.

The Oregon squad leaves tomorrow for Portland where the big annual contest with the Multnomah club eleven is staged. Although it is a matter of tradition for the heavier, more experienced clubmen to best the University players, there has been created this year, the impression that the story may be reversed in favor of Bezdek's pupils, who in the week and a half following the Washington game, have been taking a thorough course in advanced football.

As far as physical condition goes, the team is in the best of shape. The removal of training table from the general plan of gridiron education seems to have made no difference in the fitness of the Oregon players.

OREGON DEBATERS WILL GO AFTER O. A. C. SCALP

Contest With Corvallis School Replaces Utah Debate This Year

Victor Morris, Hoisington, Dal King, Bert Lombard, Hugh Watkins, James Donald, Cloyd Dawson, Fred Hardesty, Allen O'Connell, and Carl Becke were the men chosen for the debate squad at the preliminary try-out held last Saturday morning. About four more tryouts will yet be held in order to choose the teams. The next one will be held the first Tuesday after Thanksgiving vacation, at which time the squad will be reduced to six or eight men. Most all of the men will remain here during Thanksgiving so as to work on the question and prepare for the next tryout.

Coach Prescott is inclined to be somewhat pessimistic over the debate prospects for nearly every man is new at college debating. "The showing this morning was very encouraging and some dark horses were revealed. I believe that with a lot of diligent and conscientious work we will be able to make a good showing, as we have in previous years," was the statement he made Saturday morning after the tryout.

Instead of debating Utah University as has always been the custom, a contest will be held with O. A. C. The Agricultural College has the craving to beat Oregon in forensics as they had in football. It is reported that interest in forensics is very high at O. A. C., and they have an advantage over us, in that they have about eight literary societies.

SENIOR TEAM WINS HAYWARD CLASS CUP

All-Star Players Selected for Series of Games After Thanksgiving

Yesterday afternoon in one of the most closely contested basketball games of the season the Senior girls won from the Sophomores by the score 16-14. The Sophomores fought hard to win the Hayward class cup, but after the game it was presented to Bess Cowden, captain of the Senior team. This is the third year in its history that the class of 1914 has won the trophy. For the Seniors Hazel Rader played a fine game, winning all sixteen points for her class.

On the Sophomore team Jennie Hunter is deserving of special mention, for she played an excellent game as forward. Virginia Peterson, Sophomore guard, played well, allowing her forward to make no baskets at all.

Miss Thomson, Edward Saockley and Homer Jamison who were to choose the all-star team, selected fifteen girls who will play a series of games after Thanksgiving and from whom the real star team will be picked.

Among those chosen were:

- Forwards—Hazel Rader, Bess Cowden, Jennie Hunter and Ruth Pierce.
- Guards—Vera Moffat, Virginia Peterson, Florence Moffat and Vera Webber.

- Jumping centers—Bess Young, Merle Stearns, Charlie Fenton.
- Running centers—Georgia Prather, Jeanette Wheatley and Ruby Steiner.

TONIGHT'S RALLY INDICATION

'O' Men, Coaches, and Faculty Are Listed for Speeches. Effort will Be Made to Ally Students and Instructors.

"All those who believe in the team and want to show it, and those who wish to have the Multnomah game retained as an annual event, will be present at the mass meeting in Villard Hall tonight." The above is the statement of President of the Student Body, Vernon Motschenbacher, who has the program in charge for this evening. "If the men and women do not show up at the rally, it means that they do not favor the Multnomah game, and if such is the case, it will be abolished as an annual game."

Starting from the Alpha Tau Omega house at 6:30, the marchers will gather strength as they go from house to house and will arrive at the scene of action at seven o'clock. The meeting will last an hour.

All the football men who have made their "O" this year will be on the platform with Coach Bezdek and Trainer Hayward. All the men will be called on for speeches.
