GLEE PROGRAM BEING REVISED

NEW FEATURES PLANNED FOR RETURN CONCERT FRIDAY

CLUB WORKING FAITHFULLY

Continuous Series of Practices Since Christmas Tour Has Bettered Singing. Gillette Works on New Selections.

The Glee Club in their return concert at the Eugene theatre Friday night will have the same old pep and the same old harmony, but an entire new line of songs than those they gave at the last home concert, according to graduate manager, Dean Walker. The program will also differ from the program given by the club on the road, as several changes have been made.

Albert Gillette will sing a selection from Faust instead of the Toreador Song from Carmen, which he sang during the last trip. Instead of "The Pretty Creature," in Old English, he will probably sing from grand opera.

Professor Lyman will sing at the concert Friday night while at the other home concert he did not appear. He will probably sing "Sweet Wind That Blows," from Chadwick, the same song that he sang on the Glee Club trip. Manager Walker says this number alone will make the concert worth hearing again.

Shaver and Cowden, whose stunt, "Good Old Vaudeville," made such a hit at the last home concert, have assumed an air of mystery as to their new features but there is a rumor that they will spring something new.

"We have nothing to say for the press," said Shaver, Tuesday morning.

"Caught With the Goods," Jerard and Batley's stunt, is also being revised and new "pep" added. Walker predicts that this number alone will be worth the price of admission.

Prof. Ralph H. Lyman is not saying much as to the concert but admitted if the glee club gets out and practices the remaining few days, that it will be an "unusually fine concert."

TWO STUDENTS ARRESTED AND GIVEN REPRIMAND

Appear in Court on the Charge of Disturbing the Peace

Sam Cook, a member of last fall's football team, and Ray Sweeney, late of the University of California, were escorted to the city jail last night by the entire local police force and reinforcements, at the conclusion of a near-riot at the Eugene theatre, in the course of which the members of the Basco Opera company on the stage were pelted with fruit and vegetables. A third captive, also a student and athlete, succeeded in eluding the policeman who had him in tow and made his escape. Sweeney also got separated from his captor temporarily, but he was later recognized in the crowd and apprehended.

Cook and Sweeney were held until the ire of 100 students who had followed them had subsided, and were then released on bail. This morning at 9 o'clock both men were let off by City Recorder R. S. Bryson with a reprimand.

The trouble was attributed by students to exuberance over the completion of final examinations. Thursday evening the Frank B. Rich company was given a reception even more enthusiastic than that of last night. The subsequent performances of the Rich company, although largely attended by the students, passed off without serious disturbance, due to the presence of policemen and deputies who flanked the band on both sides.

In justice to the two prisoners, it was asserted that they were not the ringleaders. Cook, on account of his size, loomed up among his companions and was a likely target for the officers. Sweeney, it is said, did not make an intentional attempt to stem the course of the law. Testimony differs as to who threw the fruit.
