DR. E. W. HOPE DISCUSSES FUTURE PLANS FOR DEPARTMENT

CASE SYSTEM IS ONE USED

Law Students May Have Room Fitted Out With Necessary Encyclopedias and Other Reference Books.

"The Law School in Portland will continue to exist, and will not be moved to Eugene," said Edward W. Hope, professor of law, yesterday afternoon in discussing plans for the University Law Department. "All the plans thus far for the next year are still in a plastic state, and no definite action as yet has been taken," continued Dr. Hope.

"The method of instruction is an analytical study, and discussion in class of collections of cases, or what is known as the 'case system,' supplemented by appropriate text-books. The pure 'case system' has been adopted and approved for some time past by leading law schools, such as Harvard, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Stanford and many others. It is claimed for this system that it develops as no other method does the 'legal mind, or the ability to reason and apply legal principles to given facts.

"Possibly, in the near future, a plan may be adopted of fitting up a large room somewhere about the campus, with ample shelves, whereon a well-assorted collection of the essential reports, encyclopedias and text-books, may be at the disposal of law students, and where tables may be placed for their especial accommodation."

This semester Professor Hope is offering courses in sales partnership, agency and bailments. So far 30 men have enrolled, who are taking from one to all four of the courses.

A one-hour lecture course in law for journalists, in which 20 students have enrolled, is also being given by him.

SEVEN TEAMS IN FINALS

High Schools to Settle Debate Championship in April.

The preliminaries being over, a question for the final state inter-scholastic high school debate is now being looked for by the executive committee of the Oregon High School Debating League, of which Professor E. E. DeCou and Professor R. W. Prescott are members. The final debate will be held some time in April, but the exact day has not been decided upon.

The schools eligible for participating in the finals are: Marshfield, of the Coos Bay district; Baker, of the Eastern Oregon district; Klamath Falls, of the Southern Oregon district; Junction City, of the Lower Willamette district; Astoria, of the Lower Columbia River district; Pendleton, of the Umatilla district, and The Dalles, of the Upper Columbia River district.

Professor Prescott, secretary and treasurer of the league, states that the debates will be hard fought, as all the teams are evenly matched.

WOMEN'S BUILDING FUND INCREASED $75 IN WEEK

Eugene Alumnae Give $50 and Delta Delta Delta Is Donor of $25

Two gifts in the last week have swelled the building fund of the proposed Women's Building to $225. The first gift of $50 was given by the Eugene branch of the Oregon Alumnae. In speaking of this gift Miss Ruth Guppy said, "This very generous gift will help us greatly in our effort to raise more money. We appreciate it all the more, too, as this branch is already supporting a scholarship fund at the University." The efforts of the Eugene Alumnae to interest the women of the state for this building have also helped greatly in raising the $225.

Delta Delta Delta Sorority is the second donor of the week, with $25. This is the third of the Sororities to subscribe to the fund.

COACH BEZDEK PLANS FOR GOLF TOURNAMENTS

University Team May Be Organized to Play University of Washington

Intercollegiate golf tournaments will be a possibility of the near future is the prediction of Coach Bezdek and Graduate Manager Walker, who are planning to have a University team organized.

"We had planned to have a small course in condition this spring on the site of the new athletic field," said Manager Walker, "but it was considered a waste of time and money to do so this year, as it would be torn up by the grading of the new field. The plans are now to have a five-hole course on this part of the campus as soon as the new athletic field is completed."

Professors Dearborn and Prescott are holders of trophies won in tournaments that have been held on the course of the Eugene Country club, while Professors Ayer, Thurber, DeCou, Smith, Dallenbach, Registrar Tiffany and Coach Bezdek, as well as several students, are running them a close race for championship honors.

The University of Washington has an eight-hole course on the campus, and much interest is manifested in the game by the faculty and the students of that University, is the report of Coach Bezdek, who recently returned from the conference games in Seattle. If a team is organized an attempt will be made to schedule matches with Washington.

In an effort to make the Junior prom successful financially at the University of Cincinnati, Freshmen will be admitted this year.
