

LIBRARY GETS 77 NEWSPAPERS

ONLY THOSE IN GREATEST DEMAND PLACED ON RACKS.

MANY KEPT IN BASEMENT

Librarian M. H. Douglass Offers to Send for Any Newspaper That the Students Wish to Read.

Seventy-seven newspapers are regularly received from different parts of the state by M. H. Douglass at the University Library.

Only those papers which seem to be in the greatest demand are placed upon the racks in the reading room, as there is not room enough for all; the remainder of them are filed in the vaults in the basement of the library.

"If any student misses his home paper from among those on the racks, it may be possible that he will find it among the papers filed downstairs," said Mr. Douglass.

"Furthermore, if any paper in which a student is interested, is not among those received at the library, a special effort will be made to obtain that paper, if the name is reported to me. Of course, this effort may not always be successful, but it is, at least, worth a trial."

In addition to the Oregon papers received, there are a number of others, coming from outside states. The Journalism Department receives a still greater number of papers from various parts of the United States. The Oregon papers are, for the most part, donated to the institution.

Swarthmore, a co-educational Quaker college of 500 students, has refused a tendered bequest of $2,000,000 because it provided that further participation in inter-collegiate athletics be abandoned. The president of Swarthmore, Dr. Joseph Swain, was head of Stanford's Mathematic Department the first two years, and his wife is a Stanford graduate.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—The establishment in Washington of The National University of the United States is the aim of Representative Fess of Ohio, in a bill he introduced January 17, asking for an initial appropriation of $50,000.

The measure provides that the institution be supported by government and individual donations. Its objects would be to advance science and the fine arts, to train men and women for posts of responsibility in public and private service to co-operate with the government's scientific bureaus, and to work in conjunction with public and private institutions of learning of the country. "SOPHS" WORK IN SECRET

Maurice Hyde, Chairman for Class Hour, Promises Original Stunts.

The Sophomore Class hour has been set for March 18, and committees are at work arranging an elaborate program. All the work is being done secretly and neither Chairman Maurice H. Hyde nor his committee will divulge any of the Sophomore plans.

"In form the hour will bear the earmarks of the set example. There will be the traditional oration and the classic numbers in the first part of the program. The second part will aim at originality, and we want this to be a surprise," said Hyde.

Hyde said the recent Junior hour, while good, will stand no comparison with what the second-year men will give.
