

ARCHITECTURE TO BE GRECIAN

IMPROVEMENTS FOR FOUR BUILDINGS PLANNED BY ARCHITECT KNIGHTON

REGENTS PASS ON PLANS

Dormitory to Receive Extensive Alterations. The Engineering Building to Have New Wing. Pre-Medics in Deady Hall.

(By George T. Colton.)

"The new $100,000 administration building will contain special offices for all of the deans, in addition to the offices of the regular administrative departments," said President P. L. Campbell today. "A block plan of the entire university grounds is being prepared by Ellis F. Lawrence, one of the architects, and will be submitted for approval to the Board of Regents at a special meeting this spring. Not only will the location of the new building be then determined, but also the general plan of all future reconstruction."

W. C. Knighton, state architect, was in Eugene last Tuesday. He said, "The new building will be of Grecian architecture, probably of the Ionic type. This style will also be used in designing all future buildings. The new building will be two stories in height, with a basement below. The present plans provide for one floor of classrooms, in addition to the offices. The basement will be used for storage purposes, but can be converted into recitation rooms if needed."

"All of the $75,000 improvements will be finished by the opening of college next fall," says President Campbell.

The four-tier steel stack room connected with the library will be in use and will relieve the present congestion. When the bookcases now in the library are removed, study tables will take their places. M. H. Douglass, the librarian, has designed most of the plans for the stack room. It will be patterned after the latest eastern buildings, and will cost about $30,000. The top floor may be used for study purposes until it is needed for filing books.

Deady Hall will be completely remodeled at a cost of $10,000. It will be used almost entirely by the Biology and Physiology Departments, following the reorganization contemplated for next year.

The dormitory will be improved by adding a sleeping porch, and a new kitchen and storehouse. The dining-room will be completely remodeled. Hardwood floors will probably be put in the reception room. The heating and lighting will be overhauled. The entire cost will be approximately $10,000.

A new wing, 40x-00 feet and the same height as the present structure, will be added to the civil engineering building. It will extend east along University avenue toward the gym. The estimated cost is $15,000.

About $10,000 will be expended in improving the present heating system. This will include an extension main to the new administration building, and also minor changes in the piping and heating of the present buildings. A pump will be installed in the power house to draw back the water after it has exhausted its heat energy.

With the completion of these plans work will start immediately after the close of this semester.

"ARE MEN DIVINE?"—HOWE
Feminists Answer in the Affirmative.

"Are men divine," questioned Professor Howe Thursday afternoon of his class in English living writers.

The class looked foolish, especially the men.

Prof. Howe looked nonplussed; but he picked up courage—and called on a girl in the second row.

"Well—a—Yes! I really do think men are divine."

"So do I," echoed another.

"And I," echoed still another, blushing.

Professor Howe merely blushed, and asked another question.

CHESS CLUB URGED BY MEMBERS OF FACULTY

Dr. Dallenbach and Prof. Howe Say Pastime Should Become Recognized Sport.

Chess, the international pastime, will come into its own at the university, if the efforts of the faculty and students who are interested in the game, are successful. A movement is now on foot to organize a club and have regular tournaments.

Members of the faculty are especially interested in the plan. "I do not feel like starting it myself, believing that the students should take the initiative in matters of this kind," said Prof. Herbert C. Howe today. "We ought to be able to play it like they do in the east, and to make it, if possible, an intercollegiate game."

Dr. Dallenbach, who is an adept at the game, voiced the same sentiment. "I think it would be a very good thing. We ought to be able to form a club and have regular games. I have heard nothing of such a club lately, but I will do my part, should a movement be started."

Dr. Dallenbach is an unusual player. He has a mind so constituted, says Professor Conklin, that he has all the time a visual picture of the board and the possible plays and a remembrance of the past plays of his opponents. He can play the game better blindfolded, since his mental picture of the game is so vivid.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR GIRLS' TENNIS HONORS

Oregon Co-Eds May Meet University of California Team.

With the advent of early spring, nearly all the likely candidates for the girls' tennis team have reported, and are ready to commence regular spring practice.

Bess Cowden, captain of this year's team, was more than optimistic when talking yesterday afternoon of Oregon's chances of winning the girls' inter-collegiate championship. She says Winifred Bent, a Sophomore who entered college the second semester from the University of California, will materially add to the strength of this year's team. Miss Bent has played for one and one-half years at California, and would have made the Varsity team this year had she remained at Berkeley. Last summer she won the Portland women's tournament and comes to Oregon with an exceptionally good record.

"We may be able to play the University of California yet," said Miss Cowden in speaking of the California-Oregon girls' game. "I am awaiting an answer from Frances Jackling, manager of the girls' tennis team at Berkeley. The University of California offered to pay half of our expenses to Berkeley, but the Athletic Council refused their offer. I am now trying to get California to consent to pay all our expenses. If we do go to Berkeley we can play them as many games as we wish, the games to be divided into singles and doubles as we choose. They may not meet our purpose, but I thought it worth trying for."

The first game this season will be with O. A. C. and will be some time in the early part of May, the exact date has not been set. Those who have reported to Miss Cowden for practice are: Edna Harvey, Aline Noren, Hazel Rader, Norma Graves, Winifred Bent, Zella Knox, Edith King and Charlie Fenton.

GIRLS EARN EXPENSES

Nine University Women are Self-Supporting.

Fifteen girls at the university are earning their way through college, either in part or wholly, according to Mrs. E. F. Fletcher, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. Nine of these women are entirely self-supporting.

Mrs. Fletcher says that the demand for help can not be supplied.

Mark A. Paulson, who took a master's degree at the University last year, is superintendent of the Mayville, N. D., schools.

Ben Chandler, captain of last year's baseball team, is connected with the First National bank of Marshfield.

EIGHT FOOTBALL MEN TO RETURN

COACH SAYS NOTHING AS TO PROSPECTS. PARSONS OPTIMISTIC

CHAMPIONSHIP IS AMBITION

"We'll Beat Washington," Says Captain Parsons. Five Old Men Graduate, but Three of These May Come Back.

With the return of eight of this year's "O" men practically certain for next year, the outlook for Oregon's football team points toward a championship. Coach Bezdek, however, maintains his usual non-committal attitude concerning the future, and refuses to say anything regarding the prospects for the 1914-15 season.

Oregon is going to lose five valuable men in Hall, Bradshaw, Fenton, Grout and Caulfield—every one a dependable man. Fenton, perhaps, showed up more than the others, as he has been the Varsity's punter since he made the team in his Freshman year. His shoes will be the hardest to fill. It is barely possible that three of these men may return for post-graduate work—Bradshaw, Grout and Caulfield. Grout was out of the game this year on account of injuries and a late start.

Among the more promising of the second team string this year, some of whom will make the team next year, are Audry, Brown, Garrett, Tuerck, Hendricks, Cossman and Normandin. These men have had the benefit of a year's training under the new coach, and the showing that was made by Oregon's Freshman and second teams against O. A. C., a heavier and more experienced team, was one that would gladden the heart of any coach. In the two games played, one resulted in a tie and the other Oregon won.

With such a return of old players, a good bunch of squad men to draw from, and the incoming of several good "preppers," Oregon should have a team next year that will wipe the conference. An addition to this outlay also will be Dick Nelson of Lafayette, who was registered last fall, and was out for football, but who was compelled to leave college a few days after entering on account of sickness. Nelson stands over six feet, and weighs down to about 195 pounds. He is in college this semester and is out for baseball.

"I have a new system of playing which I will use this year," said Coach Bezdek. "It would have been used this year, but the style of playing used by the other teams made it impracticable. It's a dandy, and I believe that it will make good. I have no idea how the team will look next year. The men will be shifted about as they were last season, and will be put where I think they will do the best work."

"We are going to beat Washington next year," is the first statement of Captain-elect Johnny Parsons. "With the return of many of the old men and the new material that is coming in, I believe that Oregon is going to shine in football next season."

For the men that are not participating in other branches of athletics, spring training will be given in order that they may be in the best of condition for the opening of the season next fall. Practice will start earlier next year, as Coach Bezdek realizes that his team this year was behind the other conference teams by several weeks in practices, and he does not intend that it shall occur during this coming season.

"It takes a coach more than one year to get started," said Parsons. "The second or third year he will get results, but the first he does not usually get the best. Doble is an instance of this. The first year he came out here, his team was held to a tie by Pullman, 6 to 6, and the northern team did not show up nearly so well as it has in later years. It takes time for a new coach to build over his men and to acquaint them to his methods and style, and this cannot be done in one season by any means."

Claude B. Washburne, '13, is assistant cashier of the Junction City National Bank.

BASEBALL HAS GOOD OUTLOOK

MANY VETERANS RETURN. RAW MATERIAL LOOKS PROMISING

BATTING TO BE DEVELOPED

Squad Uniforms Were Given Out Wednesday. Work Will Begin Immediately. Six Pitchers Will Turn Out.

Baseball prospects at the University are better this year than they have been for several seasons, and those in position to know predict a team that will put up some interesting exhibitions of the national game.

Coach Bezdek is pleased at the large turnout, but as this is his first year here he is unable as yet to form any opinion of the personnel of the team. A few evenings have been spent on the diamond, the first practice game being held Wednesday night.

The field is still muddy and the game was for the purpose of giving the coach a line on the old men in their positions. Six pitchers, including Welch, Bryant, Fleming, Bigbee, Tuerck and Ferney are turning out, or will do so as soon as basketball season is over and from this list the coach expects to pick his mounders.

With the exception of Chandler and Mount, left and center fielders, all the men of last year's team are back, and with the incoming new material, a fast aggregation should be gathered together. Among the more prominent Freshmen are Carson Bigbee, crack third-sacker; Nelson, first base; Ferney, pitcher, and Williams, outfield. As no real work

Y. W. C. A. BUDGET WAS $700 DURING PAST YEAR

Funds Being Raised for Piano. The Support of Churches Solicited.

The expense budget of the Y. W. C. A. of the university for the past year was $700. This amount shows a great advance over the budget of previous years, for at no time before has it exceeded $400. This money is raised through the dues of $1, paid yearly by each member of the local association, and also by private pledges of various people throughout the state interested in this work. The Advisory Board of the University Y. W. C. A. has also pledged money.

An effort is being made to raise enough money to buy a piano for the Bungalow. According to present indications it will be installed within a few months.

Mrs. E. L. Fletcher, general secretary of the local Y. W. C. A., speaking of the future plans of the association, said: "We hope to put the Y. W. C. A. on a definite budget basis for the coming year. Furthermore, we are trying to secure the cooperation of the various churches about the state to aid in the support of our social service work."

Carleton Spencer, president of the Student Body last year is Secretary of the University of Oregon Law School, with offices in the Tilford Building, Portland, Oregon.

has as yet been done, it is impossible for the coach to get a line on the new men, and it is probable that a number of dark horses will appear before the season is far advanced.

Captain Fenton is still occupied with basketball, as is also Lyle Bigbee, and they will be out as soon as the present series with O. A. C. is ended. The squad suits were given out Wednesday, and it is hoped by the coach that the outside work can begin immediately.

GLEE CLUB ON LYCEUM CIRCUIT

A. J. PRIEST WILL MANAGE TRIP FOR SEASON OF 1914-1915

NO EASTERN TOUR IN VIEW

Manager Walker May Stage Concert at Heilig Theater in Portland Night of March 16. Contract to Be Made.

An entertainment at Portland on the 16th of March is the latest plan of Graduate-Manager Walker for the Men's Glee Club. The Heilig theater has no contract for that night, and immediately upon discovering the fact, Walker began preliminary arrangements to secure it for the club.

According to Manager Walker the Heilig management demands $300 for the use of the theater for one-night stands, if the contract is made more than two weeks prior to the time set for the club's appearance.

A. J. Priest, head of the Coast Lyceum Bureau, will have charge of the Glee Club's Willamette Valley and Eastern Oregon trip for the season of 1914-15. Manager Walker sent in his signed contract to Mr. Priest last Tuesday. Mr. Priest guarantees to take the club on the valley and eastern trip and return it to Eugene, paying all the expenses.

Rumors that a trip through the east was being contemplated were yesterday denied by Walker. He said, however, that the Santa Fe railroad had been written to, but that so many requests had come from California clubs that the Oregon Club would not be considered for this year at least.
