Miss Julia Burgess, Principal Contributor, Tells of Places for Women

An illustrated pamphlet dealing with professions available for college men and women, to be distributed among Junior and Senior High school students will go to press this week. The pamphlet will be distributed about the middle of April.

Miss Julia Burgess of the English department is one of the principal contributors. Her article is on professions available for women graduates of the University of Oregon. Among the professions that are open she names teaching, library work, social service, Journalism, officers of juvenile court work, playground work, supervising of physical training and medicine. She says that college women may fit themselves for the professions based on a knowledge of science, such as chemical analysing or a knowledge of art, such as photography, designing and architecture.

Other articles will deal with professions and business open to men graduates of the University. These are to show high school students the great commercial value of a college education.

The pamphlet will contain about forty pages, and several illustrations of the college buildings. The size of the issue has not been decided upon yet, but will be several thousand, enough to reach every junior and senior in all of the high schools in the state.

WRESTLERS HAVE FIRST TRYOUTS

MEN PICKED TO REPRESENT OREGON AT COMING MEETS

5 WEIGHTS REPRESENTED

Varsity Will Send Team to the Northwest Conference Meet to Be Held in Portland on March 20 and 21.

(By Cyrus Sweek)

The varsity wrestlers were matched in their first actual bout, when they met in the final tryout Wednesday afternoon to pick a team for the Conference meet in Portland, March 20 and 21.

Jackson and Sieler, of the 108 pound class, started the bouts. Jackson's aggressiveness and skill matched against Sieler's three pounds superior weight made the bout well worth witnessing. After three minutes and seven seconds of good hard fast fighting Jackson made use of a half Nelson and pinned Sieler to the mat.

The 115 pound match between Fugimaki and Wrightson lasted only one minute and thirty seconds. Fugimaki obtained the fall.

The 125-pound bouts ended in a tie between Martin and Shaffner, after ten minutes of hard fighting. The first of the three bouts under this weight was given to Martin over Schalefe. Time 4.53. The second, between Shaffner and Barnett was won by Shaffner, a fall after six minutes and twenty seconds of fast work.

Friday afternoon the final tryout for the 125, 135 and 145 pounders will be held. There are several entries in these classes.

When Wiest and Whallen stepped to the mat the fireworks began. After about a minute of running about Whallen went to the mat on his knees where he remained until time was called. Although there was no fall during this bout Wiest was given the decision for aggressiveness.

King and Henderson followed Wiest and Whallen to the mat, all of the same weight, 158 pounds. King caught a toe hold early in the game, and was given a fall in two minutes and seven seconds.

The final contest of the 150 pounders ended with King as winner, receiving two straight falls over Wiest. The first bout was hotly contested from the beginning; neither seemed to have the best of it until King pinned Wiest to the mat from a standing position, in two minutes and ten seconds.

Wiest came back and put up a good fight for a short time, but King turned the trick on him in one minute and several seconds.

This tryout decided the men who will represent the Varsity in the 108, 115 and 158 pound weights at the Northwest Conference meet in Portland, March 20 and 21. The tryout Friday will decide who will represent the Varsity in the 125, 135 and 145 pound weights.

"This is the first time for many years that the Varsity will be represented at the conference meet and all we can expect is for our men to go up there and make a good showing. We have men in the making, but they have only been in training a little over two months," said Shockley, yesterday.

Coach Hugo Bezdek was a dinner guest Thursday at the Alpha Tau Omega house.
