

UNDERCLASSMEN JINKS IS FRIDAY

BASKET SOCIAL WILL FOLLOW FRESHMEN-SOPHOMORE DEBATE

WILL HOLD DANCE IN GYM

Arbitration Question Will Be Discussed. Invitations Have Been Sent to Advertise the Debate.

Final preparations for the Freshman-Sophomore debates, dance and basket social tomorrow night are being made by the joint committee of the underclasses.

The festivities will start Friday afternoon with the first debate between the Fresh and Sophs in Villard Hall. The first year men will be represented by Ernest Watkins, Howard McCulloch and McKinley Heim while Cloyd Dawson, William Hoyt and Leslie Tooze will uphold the honor of the Sophomores. The question that will be discussed is: "Resolved, That all international disputes should be settled by arbitration." The Fresh have the negative and the Sophs, the affirmative of the question. Victor Morris, Varsity debater and winner of this year's alumni debate medal; Ben Williams, Eugene lawyer and former Oregon student, and Dr. E. W. Hope of the University faculty, will judge the debate. Each speaker will be allowed eight minutes in constructive argument and the leaders of both teams will have five minutes each for refutation.

Two Debates Listed.

The evening debate will take place in Villard Hall and is scheduled to begin at 7 sharp. The arbitration question will be discussed. For the Freshmen, Milton Stoddard, Nicholas Jauregui and Martin Nelson, will argue that arbitration should be substituted for war as a means of settling disputes between nations. Allan O'Connell, Prentiss Brown and Lamar Tooze, winners of last year's underclass debate, will contend that the plan proposed by the opposition should not be adopted. The judges for the debate will be: Fred Hardesty, Varsity debater; S. D. Allen, local attorney, and Doctor Joseph Shafer, head of the department of history. The debate will last an hour. No admission will be charged to either debate.

At 8:30, the festivities will start in the gymnasium with an informal dance. The Dormitory orchestra of five pieces will furnish music. Programs will be used and the latest music played. The committee announces that there will be several Paul Jones and one-steps. The dance will be free and every Freshman and Sophomore is urged to attend.

To Auction Baskets.

After the dance which will continue until 10:30, the baskets will be auctioned. A bidding limit of 75 cents has been set. Five auctioneers will dispose of the boxes. Each girl attending the social is expected to bring a basket with her name enclosed. The committee desires that the boxes be made as inexpensive as possible. While the boxes are being opened, a short program will be given. The party will be closed by a final Paul Jones.

As a means of advertising the debates, dance and social, printed postcard cards have been mailed to members of both classes. This is the first Freshman-Sophomore mixer that has been held for several years and it will probably become an annual event.

The members of the Freshman-Sophomore committee are: Joe Gilpin, chairman; Frank Beach, Dean Crowell, Helen Wiegand, Louise Bailey, Leo Potter, Rose Price, Jessie Lieser, Hermes Wrightson, Vernon Garrett, Virginia Peterson, Evelyn Harding and Bess Cushman.

CO-EDS PLANNING TENNIS TOURNAMENT WITH O. A. C.

Matches Will Be Played in Eugene Either May 16 or 29

The annual co-ed tennis tournament between Oregon and O. A. C. will probably be held on either the 16th or 29th of May in Eugene.

A letter, asking for one of these two dates, was sent yesterday to the secretary of the O. A. C. tennis club by Bess Cowden, president, and Edna Harvey, manager of the Oregon club, and in all probability one or the other will prove satisfactory.

Preliminary tournaments will begin immediately in order that the Oregon representatives may be chosen. Bess Cowden and Edna Harvey are the only members of last year's squad remaining in college, and will put up a strong bid for places on this year's team. Winifred Bent, a Sophomore from Berkeley, who entered the University this semester, is also expected to show up well in the preliminaries.

STATE SURVEY WILL BE BIG HELP IN MARKETING

Orchardist, Wheat Men, General Farmers, Fishermen, Lumbermen Benefited

A survey of industrial and commercial conditions in Oregon is about to be undertaken by the state University. This vast and important work has been assigned to the University by the board of higher curricula, and will be done under the School of Commerce, which will be opened in connection with the state University next September. Harry B. Miller, of Portland, former consul-general to China, will be chairman of a board of nine advisers, composed of prominent Oregon business men, who will make suggestions for this survey. The nine advisers, follow:

C. E. Spence, Oregon City, master of the Oregon State Grange; A. H. Harris, Portland, editor of the Portland Labor Press; John A. Keating, Portland, vice president of the Lumberman's National bank; W. K. Newell, Hillsboro, president of the State Horticultural board; Robert Strahorn, president of the Portland, Eugene & Eastern railway; C. C. Colt, president of the Union Heat Company of Portland, and a representative of the Portland Chamber of Commerce; R. W. Raymond, manager of the Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest; W. D. Skinner, general traffic manager of the Hill lines in Oregon, and former Consul General Miller.

The twenty-three big football games between Stanford and California have ranged in attendance from 6000 to 21,000, with 298,750 for the aggregate crowd and $602,000 for the total gate receipts and $602,000 for the total gate receipts. The score stands: ties, 5; Stanford, 11 victories, 208 points; California, 7 victories, 206 points.

COST AND EMBARRASSMENT LEAD TO BARRING OF EVENING DRESS

COLLEGE OPINION DIVIDED

Barometer Predicts That the Question Will Be a Live One Statements of Students Are Printed.

Oregon Agricultural College, April 22.—At a recent meeting of the student body, resolutions prohibiting the wearing of dress suits at all college social functions, were passed by the students. The resolutions are as follows:

"Whereas, the practice of wearing dress suits at social functions at O. A. C. necessitates an expense beyond the means of the majority of students, and

"Whereas, in the past considerable embarrassment has resulted from the practice, therefore

"Be it resolved, that the student body place itself on record as being opposed to the wearing of dress suits by under-graduates, at all college functions, and

"Be it further resolved, that anyone so doing shall merit the disapproval of this assembly."

The passage of this ruling has stirred up a furore in the social circles of the college and from the present outlook, says the O. A. C. Barometer, the question will be a live one before it is finished.

Much comment both favorable and unfavorable is being made upon the subject.

College sentiment varies between the following extremes, as quoted by the O. A. C. Barometer:

Louis P. Garbee: "There is no doubt in my mind that the man without a dress suit is at a disadvantage, and I think that the few men who do own them should be willing to sacrifice a little in order that there can be no possibility of class distinction. Personally, however, I don't care whether everybody in college wears a dress suit but myself."

Ray Nicholson: "I'm going to wear full dress and I think that everybody else will that can scrape one up. That deal was railroaded through."

Francis Neer: "Those who argue that dress suits are not in keeping with agriculturists argue outside of the question. This is not an agricultural college, but a technical college. Furthermore, no true gentleman would ever question another's dress as long as he remains within the bounds of decency prescribed by society."

R. M. Howard: "I am thoroughly in favor with the resolutions and believe that they should and will be enforced."

Peggy Atherton: "If men have the dress suits they should wear them and add a little culture to the college, not cultivate the crudeness of a hayseed institution. Because this is an institution where farming is taught is no reason that we should dress as farmers."

Prof. A. F. Reddie, of the Department of Public speaking is spending this week giving readings to the high schools in eastern Oregon. Mrs. J. F. Thorne is directing the rehearsals of "The Professor's Love Story" and the Senior play, during his absence.
