

GROUND TO BE BROKEN MAY 8

WORK ON LIBRARY EXTENSION WILL START ON JUNE 1

S. H. FRIENDLY TO TURN SOD

Governor West and State Treasurer Kay Are Invited. Plans Include Repairs on Dorm, Deady and Villard.

Wallace Caufield is heading a committee which will have charge of campus affairs on University Day of Junon Week-end, and which will have as its special function the conducting of the ground breaking ceremonies for the new University buildings. The other members of the committee are Hawley Bean and Edith Still.

The first sod will be turned by Regent S. H. Friendly at 11:30 A. M. Friday, after which each man present will be accorded the privilege of turning a shovelful of earth in preparation for the erection of the library extension, the first of the construction which will be done in increasing the present size of the University.

According to arrangements made, a stand will be erected near the library which is calculated to seat all the spectators of the ceremony. It is also planned to have drawings on the architects' plans for the new halls which are to be put up during the coming year, and to have these drawings on exhibition in a glass case for the inspection of those interested.

The program will be started with a short explanatory talk by Dean Straub. S. H. Friendly will speak for the Regents, Vernon Motschenbacher, student body president, for the undergraduates, and John Veatch of The University glee club and band are also listed for numbers in the mornings entertainment.

The ground breaking ceremony will follow close on the heels of the regular campus work of University Day, and at the close of the program, the University people and their guests will eat the campus luncheon provided by the members of the Women's League.

Governor Oswald West and Thomas Kay have been invited to attend.

SOPHOMORES OUTFRIVAL MEXICAN CABELLEROS

Last Year's Freshmen Celebrate Straw Hat Day With Ecilat

Now comes the Sophomore hat. Yesterday morning, which by the calendar is the day upon which straws may be worn with perfect propriety and without being too conspicuous, the male contingent of the Sophomore class celebrated the occasion by appearing on the campus wearing Mexican sombreros. The hats were of all sizes and descriptions. There were large hats, small hats, and red bandanas streaming over the back in true Castilian fashion. Some of the wearers, evidently through the instincts of self-preservation, carried small stilletos concealed beneath the folds of the bandanas.

The '16'ers announce that it is their intention to wear the fantastic head-gear for the remainder of the semester.

A roof garden effect was carried out by the Young Women's Christian Association at their Ice Cream Social Friday Night. The Bungalow and lawn were dotted with many small tables set in a background of wisteria and Japanese lanterns. Ice cream and cake were served from eight until ten.

OREGON DOWNS DALLAS BALL PLAYERS BY 11-3

Dick Nelson and Bigbee Brothers Make Majority of Runs

DALLAS, Oregon, May 1.—Oregon's heavy sluggers proved too much for the Dallas aggregation today piling up 11 runs while the home team barely managed to scratch three hits. C Bigbee, M. Bigbee and Big Nelson made the majority of the runs during the first part of the game.

Lyle Bigbee showed his old-time pitching form and the local boys could not connect with his plants even when he tried to give them a show. It was in the fifth inning that two and three errors on the part of the Oregon lads gave them three runs. Altogether it was a slow and uninteresting game.

The score R. H. E.
Dallas 3 3 4
Oregon 11 14 4
Batteries: Dallas—Myers and Sears. Oregon—Lyle Bigbee and Motschenbacher.

SIGMA CHI AND ALPHA TAU CAPTURE GAMES

Oregon Club and Iota Chi Eliminated in Doughnut Series

Two more teams have been eliminated in the Doughnut League baseball series and as soon as the Fiji Sigma Nu game—scheduled for last night—is played off the round robin series will be started.

Wednesday night, by heavy stick work, and superior fielding, the Sigma Chi's took the long end of a 3-1 game thereby eliminating the Oregon club.

Line Up
Oregon club	Sigma Chi
Rutherford	P. Saunders
Casebeer	O. Bryant
Larwood	1st. Koch
Warren	2nd. Avison
Gilfallen	ss. Parcell
Carl	3rd. Early
Lockerby	C. F. Fleming
Clubb	R. F. Boone
Davis	L. F. Vospser

On Thursday night the A. T. O. team with three first team and two second team men in its lineup won from Iota Chi by a 11-1 score. The Alpha Tau's have a strong team and should give any other team in the League a good game. Jackson who has played both in the Dorm and the Iota Chi lineups is thus far best hitter. He has connected safely four out of six times up.

The line up for Thursday's game was:

A. T. O.	Iota Chi
Annunsen	P. Moore
Brotherton	C. Elton
Telford, Nelson	1st. Norcross
Coshow	2nd. Lyons
Williams	ss. Jackson
Welch	3rd. Shelton
Kirk	C. F. Rosa
Lee	R. F. Davies
White	L. F. Dawson

Sigma Nu will play Phi Gamma Delta next Monday night.

PULLMAN, May. 1.—Coach Bohler, Captain Cooke and Alf Crane have gone to Berkeley, Cal., where Captain Cooke and Crane will represent Washington State College in the Pacific intercollegiate championship meet to be held at the University of California May 2. Cook will enter in the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, while Crane will enter the high jump and the hurdles.

2 ARE AFTER PRESIDENCY

BOYLEN AND HARDESTY ANNOUNCE THEIR CANDIDACY

V-PRESIDENCY GOES BEGGING

Secretary's Job Also Unsought. Council Aspirants Scarce. Blackaby and Hendricks Will Contest for Editorship.

With the nominations for student body officers coming off next Wednesday, aspirants for distinction at the hands of the student voters, and applicants for the chances to serve the student body through the medium of these same offices are beginning to appear, but the number who have so far come into the open is considerably smaller than that at this time last year. In many of the positions which are to be filled at the elections a week from Wednesday, there is barely competition, some are not contested, while for two of the most important offices, secretary and vice-president of the student body, there are at present no seekers.

None Want Secretaryship.

For the chief electoral office, the presidency of the student body, two candidates have appeared, Tom Boylen and Fred Hardesty. Bert Jerard who had been mentioned as a probable entry in this race, today announced that he would go out for the executive committee instead.

No would-be secretaries have as yet made any avowal of their intentions, and in fact all down the line, the co-eds seem much more secretive as to their intentions than the men of the University.

Athletic Council Popular.

For three student memberships on the athletic council, there is an overflow of candidates. Johnnie Parsons, Henry Heidenreich, Ray Bryant and "Buck" Bigbee, all varsity athletes are out, and representing among them three of the major sports, football, baseball and track.

Two members-at-large are to be elected for the executive committee, but up to the present time only one man—has seemed desirous of filling either of the two vacancies. Bert Jerard, president of the Junior class, has come out definitely for the place, but it will take at least two more entries even to make competition.

The student council, however, is just as unpopular among office seekers as is the executive committee. Four Juniors, Maurice Hill, Gray McConnell, James Donald and Marsh Goodwin are out for the three senior memberships, Vaughn McCornack appears as the only candidate for the two vacancies for senior women on the council, Claud Hampton and Fred Dunbar are the applicants for the two places open to Junior men, and Genevieve Shaver is without competition so far as an applicant for the one opportunity offered for Junior women on next year's council.

Only two of the positions on the staff of the Emerald are elective, namely, the editorship and the managership. For these, there promises to be close competition. Earl Blackaby, and Lee Hendricks, both of whom have been connected with student publications during their three years' stay at Oregon, have been known for some time as the probable contestants, and as yet no one else has been unearthed who has editorial ambitions.

For the managership, two Juniors, Anthony Jaureguy, and Millar McGilchrist, have expressed desires. Sam Michael has also been mentioned as a candidate, but when approached on the subject was uncertain whether or not he would be in the race.

Gladys Graham of Astoria is visiting Meta Goldsmith.

JUNIOR PROM PLANS ARE NOW COMPLETED

Jaureguy and Blackaby Make Preparations for a Record Crowd

The Junior Prom committees have completed their plans and are now ready to carry them out. The finance committee has drawn up a budget appropriating a certain amount to each committee. "It will take about one hundred and fifty dollars to finance the affair," said Treasurer Anthony Jaureguy, yesterday afternoon. "We expect about 800 people including the visitors and students. All the visiting athletes will be given free tickets, but all the students will be charged one dollar and a half a couple," he said.

"Natural decorations will be used and the color scheme will be yellow and green. There will be no elaborate streamers to obstruct the balcony, so common at other dances," said Earl Blackaby, chairman of the decoration committee. Continuing he said: "We will start gathering ferns greens and other such things Monday so that by Friday morning we will be able to begin fixing up the gymnasium.

"We are trying to work out plans providing for even a larger crowd than last year is expected."

The following patrons and patronesses have been selected: Governor and Mrs. Oswald West; Dr. and Mrs. Bovard; Professor and Mrs. E. E. Decou; Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Bezdeck; Miss Huth Guppy; Professor and Mrs. O. F. Stafford; and Professor and Mrs. W. P. Boynton.

SENIOR PLAY COMES FRIDAY

ANNUAL CLASS PRODUCTION TO BE GIVEN DURING JUNIOR WEEK

"RICH" PLAY IS PROMISED

Entirely New Style of College Play Undertaken by 1914 Class in Their Production of "The Prof and the Soph."

Friday evening, May 8th, the curtain of the Eugene theatre will rise on the most unique production ever attempted by an Oregon graduating class. "The Prof. and the Soph", a musical comedy with a sparkling plot, and teeming with situations that are familiar to Oregon students old and new, will be presented for the first time.

The "Prof and the Soph" was written by Dean Collins—now connected with the "Oregonian"—as his senior thesis in 1910. Succeeding classes thought seriously of producing it but it remained for the class of 1914 to assume its production.

Staggs Is Good Villain.

The plot centers about the love affair of Professor Cleaver, a Latin instructor, and Virginia Gray, the Soph, and the inevitable culmination of the college romance is temporarily stayed by the theft of some examination papers from Professor Stagg's strongly to the Soph's brother, who already has a reputation not of the best. Reggie, the "hard luck" Frosh, who becomes sentimental whenever in feminine company, does some excellent detective work and brings the real villain before Professor Cleaver who dismisses him with a mild reprimand after he—Cleaver—has explained that the papers stolen contained questions of the previous semester's examination. Dr. Pryor, a man of strict conscience, believes nothing should prevent the "meeting out of justice" and when Cleaver explains that the wrong papers have been stolen, believes the explanation incredible. Dr. Pryor is played imitably by Bob McCornack and Ira Staggs in the role of villain is admirable in his work. The characters are all college types, and since the play grew from an Oregon atmosphere it should prove doubly attractive.

Music Well Handled.

The romance between college professor and student the perhaps exceptional is by no means impossible so the "Prof. and the Soph" is an exceptional case of the delimitation of college life.

Fifteen lyrics appearing in the play have been set to music by Frank Harwood, leader of Empress theatre orchestra in Portland. These include solos, quartets and ensemble numbers and the chorus numbers are ably taken care of by senior men and women.

The dancing is in charge of Miss Lewis, and Professor Lyman is directing the music.

The cast has been rehearsing for the last month under the direction of Professor A. F. Redde.

Following is the cast:

The Prof. Professor Cleaver	Willard Shaver
