

JUNIORS PLAN DANCE OCTOBER TENTH

TO BE IN HONOR OF ALUMNI

Committee at Work Plans to Give Everyone a Good Time

Plans are being formulated for a dance to be given by the Junior class, in the Men's Gym, October 10, in honor of the first annual Alumni Homecoming.

As yet the plans are rather indefinite. However, the committee chairman, Earl Bronough, and his assistants, Charlie Fenton and Margaret Belat, are rapidly perfecting plans.

The alumni are to be admitted free, but a small admission fee will be asked of members of the student body. All students are cordially invited to attend and meet the old grads. A good time is promised.

NEW HEATING PLANT BEING INSTALLED ON CAMPUS

Work has commenced on the extensions and repairs of the University heating plant. A huge ditch is being dug from the Engineering building to 13th street, and this will contain the conduit, which is the feature of the work. This conduit is to be of concrete, replacing the old one of iron pipe and belt coverings. From the conduit, laterals will run to the Men's Gym, the President's Residence, Mary Spiller Hall and the new Administration Building. The present system of laterals which now furnishes heat to the McClure building and the Women's Gym, will be replaced, and a new system of pipes for heating Deady Hall is also included in the contract. No disturbance will be noticed when in about ninety days the new heating plant will be connected up.

Another boiler will be added to the present battery, making a total of four boilers in use.

LIBRARY ADDS NEW BOOKS; ANNEX READY THANKSGIVING

An average of almost twelve new books for each day has been added to the library during the summer vacation. To be exact, 1,191 new books have been acquired since June 12. This makes a total of 50,584 books now in the University library.

The money available for new books in 1914 was but $5,000, or half the usual amount. It has practically all been used.

"The 1915 appropriation for books has not yet been definitely decided," said Mr. Douglass. "It will probably reach $10,000, and we are hoping that it will be $15,000."

The metal stacks for use in the annex have come. The man who is to put them in is here, and will begin work as soon as the building contractors can make way for him.

"When the annex is completed," Mr. Douglass says, "all the books except reference works will be moved into it. Perhaps one or two stacks will be left for magazines. Tables will be placed where the book shelves now are, thus enlarging the badly crowded reading room. The new basement will be used as rooms in which to store public documents and newspaper files."

Mr. Douglass said that he thought the annex would be ready to move into by Thanksgiving, for the walls are up, the roof is almost finished, and work can now go on regardless of rainy weather.

B. B. B. SOCIETY IS ORGANIZED BY SOPHOMORE CO-EDS

The B. B. B. Sophomore girls' society held a meeting Thursday evening in the library for the purpose of organization. The officers of the club have not yet been elected.

The object of this society is to take the place of "Triple A" among the Sophomore girls and to promote good fellowship. The next meeting will be held on October 7.

Owen Whallon will return to school Monday. He has been working in Nampa, Idaho, during the summer.

JUNIORS ANNOUNCE PLAN STILL MORE LECTURES

Genevieve Shaver Elected Secretary to Replace Clara Heissler—Prof. Allen is Class Advisor

Genevieve Shaver, of Portland, was unanimously elected secretary of the Junior class at the first meeting of the year, in Dr. Straub's room, Villard, yesterday afternoon. Miss Shaver was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of Clara Heissler, elected at the regular class election last May, to return to college. Miss Shaver has, during her two years at Oregon, taken an active interest in class enterprises, and is secretary of the Women's Pan-Hellenic Association. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and a graduate of Jefferson High School, Portland.

Professor Eric W. Allen, of the Department of Journalism, was chosen class advisor by a unanimous vote, to succeed Professor E. E. DeCou, who was unable to act in this capacity this year because of pressure of other work.

A class tax of two dollars was levied at the meeting. The treasurer, Charles Collier, announced that the class debt, contracted during the Freshman year, was nearly cleared up, and that, unless unforeseen circumstances occurred, the treasury would have a favorable balance at the end of the year. The underclass mix was discussed by Merlin Batley, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Batley urged all members of the class to take an active part in making the affair a success and hinted at several novel features.

Maurice Hyde, editor of the 1916 Oregonian, announced his plans for this year's annual. He said that the book would be reduced in size as compared with previous publications, and that the reduction in the number of pages would be offset by the quality of the printed matter. He made an appeal to the class to get behind the book by giving it their active support.

William P. Holt, business manager of the Oregonian, announced his plans for financing the book. Holt said in part: "This year's Oregonian is confronted by many financial obstacles, tend to put out a book that will be a but in spite of these difficulties we in credit to the class and University. The present war in Europe has raised the price of printing and binding materials, which will materially advance the cost of the book. A thorough campaign for subscriptions will be carried on among the students and alumni. The price of the book will be the same as last year, as well as the conditions of payment."

President Prentiss Brown outlined his policy for the year and said that the annual Junior informal dance in honor of the underclasses would be given October 10, following the underclass mix.

The band tryouts and election of officers were held Friday evening at 5:00 o'clock in Villard Hall. Maurice Hyde, leader of the band, said that over 35 men tried out, and the vacancies number 25. The result of the tryout will be announced later.
