STICK TOGETHER

There is only one way Oregon can escape being effaced in rooting at Corvallis two weeks from today. We will be outnumbered two to one, and we will be in the stronghold of the enemy. Our salvation lies in unity. Not merely sitting together in the bleachers and following the orders of the cheer leaders, but acting as a unit, as one man, throughout the day.

It has been suggested that to promote this end every rooter ride to the game on a special train, to contain no townspeople or co-eds, but solely rooters. In this way all confusion and disorder in the ranks would be obviated; the esprit de corps which is so essential to successful rooting could be developed on the way over, and would be at its height when we arrived at the Athens of bovine culture; we could proceed in a body to the scene of the argument, and meet the Aggies on even terms, so far as organization is concerned.

The Emerald believes the plan an excellent one. No, we do not own stock in either of the railroads operating between the two points. Our efforts are entirely disinterested. We would suggest, however, that the road offering the best proposition so far as rates and service are concerned be favored, and that a student committee make the necessary arrangements. If the game is shunted to Albany or Portland, the plan is equally desirable. The idea is to start together and stick together until it's all over and we hit down Willamette street once more.

SIX ENGINEERS RETURN

Elimination of Course Drives Many Students to Schools Outside of State

Of the engineering students who were registered in the University last year, only six have returned to finish their work and graduate here. This is due to the abolition of the engineering courses last spring.

Those former students who are attending Washington State University at Seattle, are: Paul H. Davis, '16, of Eugene; Frank M. Lewis, '16, of Portland; Victor Moore, '16, of Astoria; and Arthur Runquist, '16, of Portland.

Harlan Peffly, '15, of Boise, Idaho, is attending Columbia University in New York City. Charles H. Renfro, of Eugene, is employed by the Oregon Power Co., at Corvallis, and is taking courses at the Oregon Agricultural College. Taylor T. Black is attending Colorado Agricultural College.

The following have given up school and are engaged in various occupations at Portland: Arthur S. Olson, '16, of Portland; Elliot P. Roberts, '14, of The Dalles; Herbert Ryan, '15, of Gresham; Kensei K. Ogasawara, '17, of Tokyo, Japan; and Alfred L. Lee, '15, of Baker.

The following have their residence in Eugene: Will C. Clubb, '16, of Eugene; Louis E. Furrow, of Eugene; Willard R. Houston, of Portland; Stanley M. Knapp, '16, of Eugene.

Albert Baker '14, of Eugene, is employed in the U. S. Forestry Service in Oregon; Eugene A. Elton, of The Dalles, is employed in North Yakima; Charles W. The registration at Columbia has again increased. The total registration this year, it is estimated will be between 12,000 and 13,000. This includes graduate students.

Miss Oala Henline, '14, of Arkelon, Kansas, has been chosen to fill the vacancy in the faculty of the Drain High School, caused by the death of Miss Lillian Gardner, who was graduated from the University in 1912.

NEW WING TO LIBRARY WILL BE READY SOON

Books May Be Moved Into Fireproof Stacks by Thanksgiving or by Christmas at Latest

"We are hoping everything in the Library will be completed by Thanksgiving, or at least by Christmas," says M. H. Douglass, University Librarian.

The stacks are made of wrought iron and will take the place of the old wooden cases. They will be completed this week. They are used now in all the modern libraries, because they hold tremendous weight, are fire-proof, more compact, and cleaner.

"In fact," says Mr. Douglass, "the addition is just a fire-proof box for books."

The building is being equipped with stacks for about 75,000 books. There are at the present time about 51,000 volumes in the Library. Four or five years later, when the need is greater, the two upper stories will be furnished.

All the volumes in the present Library, excepting the reference books and the periodicals, will be moved into the new addition. All the study tables, save a very few for the use of certain professors, will be in the old Library. More tables have already been ordered.

After the work of putting in the stacks is completed, the forms must all be painted and the shelves hooked on. Before this can be done, however, the wiring and the plastering must be finished. At the present time the conduits are being placed in the neck between the old Library and the addition.

Freshmen at the University of Kansas last week passed resolutions at a class meeting pledging themselves to refrain from cheating in all forms of class work. Members of the class individually and collectively assume the responsibility for the observance of resolutions.

"The largest Freshman class in our history." That is the report that comes from almost all the colleges and universities. The war in Europe is the reason given. Business depression caused by the war allows many young men to go to college who would otherwise be needed in business.
