

TRYOUTS TO BE MONDAY

Prospective Intercollegiate Debaters Vie for Places. Three Old Men Back on Forum

The preliminary tryout for places on the Oregon intercollegiate debate teams will be staged Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, in Villard Hall. Three of last year's men, Bert Lombard, Fred Hardesty and Victor Morris, who won the alumni debate medal last year, Pete Crockett, a member of the team of three years ago, and Nicholas Jaureguy, the University's representative in the extempore speaking contest at the University of Washington last year, will be among the contestants.

"However, no man will get a place just because he did last year," said Bert Prescott, instructor of Public Speaking. "There may be some dark horse in the shed, such as Morris was last year. There are ten places to fill this year, and they will be filled if there are ten men who can do credit to the University of Oregon, but if ten such men can not be found, all the places will not be filled."

The question for debate is: "Resolved, that the federal government shown own and operate all interstate railroads acting as common carriers, including intrastate lines competing with them."

Eight minutes will be given to each speaker, who may defend either side of the question he wishes.

PLAN FOR SOPH DANCE

Sentiment Seems to be Against Formal Dress for Men and Women

Plans for Sophomore dance, to be held December 12, are well under way. Bernard Breeding, the general chairman, states that several important committee meetings have already been held. The decorations committee hints that its efforts will be toward novelty. Several feature dances will be on the program.

Although no admission will be charged, the management feels that in justice to those Sophomores who have paid their class dues and made the affair a possibility, some measures should be taken to exclude those members of the class who have failed to pay dues. In order to avoid unpleasant complications, these should be paid before the dance date, to Frank Sciaefe, Treasurer.

While no definite concerted action has been taken, there seems to be a sentiment among many of the male class members against the festive dress suit, but there seems to be, among the co-eds, just as large a sentiment in favor of that much-discussed apparel, and it is thought that out of gallantry to the fair sex, there will be a large display of "hard-boiled" shirts and "claw hammers."

The athletic hero at Rugby receives his commendation in a somewhat unique way. After his victory in the games he is taken to one of the rooms and in the midst of considerable confusion is thrown upon a bed, while as many students as possible are piled upon him until the bed breaks. This custom is known among the students as "piling."

UNDERCLASS DEBATERS DETERMINE MATERIAL

Object Is to Uncover Talent for Use in Intercollegiate Contests

To determine material for the University debates teams is the object, according to Professor Prescott, of the annual Freshman-Sophomore debates. January 22 is the date set for the contest this semester.

Two teams of three members will be chosen from each class. The selection of the six Sophomores will take place December 12. Jaureguy, Beach, Stoddard, Wilkins and Nelson, of the Sophomores, have signified their intention to try out. The Freshman prospects are McDonald, Thomas, McFadden, Hedges, Sheehy, Neil, Packwood, Cox, Callison, Group, and Moores. December 8, Tuesday, is the day of the Freshman tryouts.

In order that no greater amount of work may be entailed for those who are trying for both the class and the Varsity teams, the question will be "Resolved, that the Federal Government should own and operate all interstate railroads acting as commons, including intrastate lines competing with them. Constitutionality waived."
