

TEN REQUESTS GRANTED MUSEUM GETS EXHIBIT

Eight of Faculty Members to Give One Lecture Apiece—Dr. Hodge Will Give Two

The Extension Department of the University has granted the following requests for lectures in the towns of Oregon for the coming week-end: Prof. E. E. DeCou, in Sutherlin, on "The World Peace Movement;" Dr. W. D. Smith, in Creswell, on "The Geography of the War;" Prof. F. C. Ayer, in Mill City, on the "Knowledge that is Most Worth While;" Dr. C. H. Edmondson, in Glendale, on "Prehistoric Life in America;" Prof. O. F. Stafford, in Hood River, on "Worlds in the Making;" Dr. C. F. Hodge, in Gold Hill on the 10th and in Jacksonville the 11th, on "Making the Most of Our Bird Life;" Dr. T. Cloran, in Forest Grove, on "Spain and the Alhambra;" Prof. F. S. Dunn, in Thurston, on "A Trip Through Rome;" Dr. J. Straub in Roseburg and Oakland, on "Capitalize Your Brains."

DR. W. D. SMITH GIVES TALK BEFORE GEOLOGISTS

"The Volcanoes of the Philippine Islands," was the title of a stereopticon lecture given before the class of Geology Wednesday morning by Dr. W. D. Smith, head of that department. The lecture dealt with some of the personal experiences of Mr. Smith when he was in the Philippine territory making geological observations. The structure and composition of the volcanic rock was described by the lecturer.

Medics at the University of Tennessee were given a demonstration of the inordinate elasticity of the human body by a human lizard, who was left behind by a visiting circus. Two professors of the department of anatomy lectured while the freak went through his complete repertoire.

FOUR MORE WOMEN JOIN ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

There will be a meeting of the Women's Athletic Association Thursday, December 10, in the Women's Gymnasium, at 5:00 o'clock.

New members of the association are: Ruth A. Westfall, Myrtle Purvance, Helen Phillips, and Viola Peterson. Helen Phillips and Ethel Loucks were elected to the Advisory Board of the Oregon Trail girls.

It has been proposed that the upperclass basketball games be postponed until after the Christmas vacation.

FUNCTION OF COLLEGE IS TO CREATE LEADERS

We should give all honor to these men who redeemed the American education from amateurishness and mediocrity.

"However, our problem of training social leaders is different from that of Germany and England. In politics our system does not demand a highly educated man. It demands a man of personal qualities of leadership with a little common sense. Therefore our universities, to train leaders, must train in a different way than those in the old countries.

"The dominant idea of our universities is to give men a specific preparation for the great callings that largely influence public opinion. And when we hit at something specific we hit harder and stronger than any other nation.

"Now the question up to us this morning is, how shall we take hold of this new system of training social leaders. Let me give you some advice. Keep in mind that for any service you perform, one of the most valuable things is a general stock of ideas, and you get that by outside reading. You must have individual force enough to do this outside reading without being told to do so. Talk shop—talk about your work. By talking shop you concentrate your own ideas, and you must take your own ideas seriously. Learn to write and write well; to talk and talk well so you can step into place when you are graduated and lead rather than sit on the fence or be led.

"So we have a new and most valuable conception of the value of the American university, but if it is to be a success, it is up to you."

The special music of the morning was a tenor solo sung by Paul Sprague.

Newspaper 11 Years Old, Stereotype Mats and Lithographic Specimens Added to Collection

A 111 year old copy of a newspaper has been offered by T. C. Queen, editor of the Dufur, Oregon, Dispatch, to Colin V. Dymont, as an addition to the "Newspaper Museum" of the Department of Journalism. The copy is the issue of the "Herald of the United States," of December 27, 1803, published in Rhode Island. It contains an act of Congress when Nathaniel Macon was Speaker of the House of Representatives, John Brown President of the Senate, and Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States. Oscar Potarupa, of Eugene, has contributed to the "Museum" some lithographic work which he did 25 years ago in Oppeln, Upper Silesia, Germany.

A. C. Phelps, a stereotyper of the Portland Oregonian, has presented some stereotyping mats used with the "wet process," and some aluminum advertising plates.

FIVE ELIMINATED IN PRELIMINARY GAMES

pable of passing the ball and shooting for baskets with some degree of accuracy.

While the Oregon Club team was able to jockey, coax and otherwise get the ball down to its basket, and then stand off their opponents long enough to take ten or fifteen consecutive shots at it, they were unable to score. Both teams did this kind of work in spite of all the deafening encouragement sent out from the rooters.

As compared with all the other games, this was a gentlemanly contest.

Iota Chi-Sigma Nu Game Close

There was not a dull moment during the battle between the Sigma Nus and Iota Chis. Both were fairly heavy and fast. It was anybody's game up to the last minute.

Parsons and Dudley did the work for Sigma Nu, while King was the backbone of the Iota Chis.

The first half ended 2 to 1 in favor of Sigma Nu. Both teams came back in the last half full of fight, and fight they did. Parsons and Teggart fell into football form and played good interference for Dudley, who dribbled the ball around in basketball fashion and made a couple of difficult baskets.

King and Apperson put up a stiff game, dodged and broke up interference almost at will, nearly breaking up the game several times by "near-good" shots from all angles. The board showed Sigma Nu to be winner by a score of 8-7.

At the finish of every game each team gave the other nine raps, and everybody was happy. Some of the players are more or less bruised up and feel that they have been ruffed up—but "it is all in the game," they say.

Sixty-one thousand people can be seated in the new Yale Bowl around the gridiron. It is the largest college stadium in America.

The strongest fight is for center. Brownell, Dudley and Roberts are all about on a par and it is hard to tell which one of the trio will land in the ring for the first game.

Burden & Graham Combination Last or Instep Fit Shoe for Men

You, too, can be comfortable—You, who are hard to fit.

—For we have shoes for just such feet, and know how to fit them.

Should your foot be low or thin through the instep the Burden & Graham combination last will solve your shoe problem.—Two sizes smaller through the heel and instep gives you a snug fit and strong support in the arch of the foot, avoiding the wrinkles and pinching of ordinary shoes at the same time providing support for the arch and comfortable room for the foot and toes.

—A handsome all-round shoe—and so much more comfortable and satisfactory than the ordinary kind.
