HELP THEM ALONG

Many boys and girls of undoubted ability finish high school in Oregon every year and go directly to work on account of financial conditions. Some of these young people have a great deal to gain from a course at the University of Oregon.

In spite of the fact that many of the Oregon Student Body are actually working their own way through college, the chance seems very remote to a youngster in a distant corner of the state, who has never faced the necessity of making a living away from home.

Alumni may often render a great service to boys and girls by putting them in touch with actual conditions in Eugene. These conditions, alumni, especially recent alumni, know quite well.

Only a few days ago, a woman who was graduated from the University several years ago, made arrangements, at the cost of a little time and postage, whereby a young man of undoubted talent will find his way cleared of all difficulties except good hard work when he comes to the University next fall. Just what it has meant to see that this boy has his chance, only the future can tell.

Exactly three years after he entered the University of Oregon as a Freshman, H. Lyle Smith received the degree of Bachelor of Science from the University of Chicago. Not only did he receive the degree, but he took general honors and special honors in mathematics and astronomy, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and received the award of a scholarship in the graduate school. He will take his degree of Master of Science next summer.

Smith entered the University of Oregon in the fall of 1911, presenting entrance credits from a small high school in Indiana. For two years he attended the University, majoring in mathematics. Prof. E. E. DeCou, his major professor, while visiting at the University of Chicago, secured a scholarship in that University for Smith, who left Oregon in the spring of 1913 to work in the larger institution.

After five quarters of resident work at Chicago, Smith was graduated with a record which set him apart as one of a very few among the thousands of students who have taken degrees from the University of Chicago.

FEW SEEK CLERKSHIPS

Clarke Is Reader in Oregon House of Representatives for Third Consecutive Time

Salem (Special to Alumni Section)—Among the many clerks employed by the legislature, only some half dozen are graduates or former students of the University.

Harold C. Merryman, '09, an attorney of Klamath Falls, is chief clerk of the ways and means committee in the house. Dudley Clark, '10, is reading clerk for the house. Mr. Clark has held this place under chief clerk W. F. Drager for the past three sessions.

Charles Erskine, a former student and a graduate of the law department of Willamette University, is calendar clerk of the house.

Elmer Furuset, of Eugene, is clerk of the corporation committee.

Glen Storie is clerk for the Umatilla delegation.

Richard Nelson is clerk for the Linn County delegation.

In the senate, Roy Keats Terry, '10, is chief clerk of the judiciary committee.

Another alumnus often seen about the legislature is Evans Huston, '12, reporter for the Daily Capital Journal.

Other former students at work in the State House are E. F. Carleton, Assistant State Superintendent; Geo. G. Brown, clerk of the State Land Board; Clarence Walls, '12, draughtsman in the office of the State Highway Engineer; and Ben H. Williams, '10, statistician for the Industrial Accident Commission.

TWO ARE AT ANN ARBOR—PROFESSOR AND STUDENT

Ann Arbor, Mich. (Special to the Alumni Section)—Two alumni of the University of Oregon are now in the State of Michigan, one as a teacher and one as a student.

Mark Bailey, '88, lives at 1553 Grand Ave., Kalamazoo. He is professor of Latin in Kalamazoo College. Professor Bailey gained his degree of Master of Arts from Harvard in 1891.

Russell D. Calkins, '13, is a student in the new law school of the University of Michigan.

STEELE ELECTED EDITOR OF PAPER IN SIAM

Clarence Steele, '10, has been elected one of the editors of a paper published at Bangkok, Siam, in the interests of the missionary work there. Steele is secretary of the Boon Itt Institute for Young Men at that place.

Curtis Gardner, '08, and Hattie Hyde Gardner, '11, spent the holidays with relatives in Portland, and Kalamazoo, Wash.

Pendleton (Special to Alumni Section)—Among the social organizations of Pendleton, a new one has taken its place this year. It is a man's Pan-Hellenic Club, composed of the members of the national college fraternities living in the city. Among the former University of Oregon students who belong to the organization are Frederick Steiwer and Clarence Bishop, Sigma Nu; Arle C. Hampton, Merle R. Chessman, James S. Johns and Lyman G. Rice, Beta Theta Pi; Glen Scott, John and Westbrooke Dickson, Glen Storie, Nat Kimball and Cecil Cole, Kappa Sigma.

Homer I. Watts, Sigma Nu, and Irwin Brooks, Beta Theta Pi, of Athena, and Arthur G. Means, Beta Theta Pi, of Umatilla, are also associated with the organization, which is composed of about 30 fraternity men representing a score or more of colleges and half that number of fraternities. Weekly lunches are held at the Hotel Pendleton, and about once a month an evening banquet is held.

Geary Kimbrell, who attended the University in the latter nineties, is now city engineer of Pendleton and only recently retired from the position of surveyor of Umatilla County. His wife was formerly Miss Cora Wylie, who attended the University about the same time.

William Livingston, '13, is instructor in science at the Pendleton High School and coach of athletics at that institution. A baby son was recently born to his wife.

John Dickson, ex-'10, is bookkeeper at the People's Warehouse, Pendleton's leading mercantile establishment.

Louis H. Pinkham Jr., '10, erstwhile star tackle and later coach at Oregon, has just come out of the wilds of Idaho, where he spent the summer and fall far from the haunts of man. He didn't know there was a war in Europe for some months after the Kaiser had gone on a rampage. He is visiting his parents in Spokane before entering the mountains again.

Glen Storie, '13, who is farming near Pendleton with his father, is spending a few weeks at Salem as private secretary to Representative R. W. Ritner, of Umatilla County, who is his uncle.
