

OREGON PSYCHOLOGIST CANINE RESURRECTOR

Recent Feat of Los Angeles Physician in Reviving Dead Woman Long
Known to Science

By Clytie Hall.

Resurrection from the dead, which has recently figured as the sensation in many newspaper stories emanating from Los Angeles, lacks the charm of novelty for Karl M. Dallenbach, Ph. D., who in times past was one of the keenest little resurrectors in the business, and who still claims the Northwest championship. Dr. Dallenbach says he can resurrect anything on four legs, but he has never tried a human being, as did the Los Angeles scientist. "The principle's the same," however. Dr. Dallenbach's specialty when he was a student in the Medical School of the University of Pittsburgh, was dogs.

"These experiments have been known to the medical profession for some time," said Dr. Dallenbach yesterday, leaning back in his chair in the Psychological Laboratory on the top floor of McClure Hall, "and form one of the classical experiments for advanced students of Psychology."

"I have myself," the psychologist continued, "restored life to a dog fifteen minutes after the heart had stopped beating and he had been pronounced clinically dead. All signs of life, such as pulsation of the heart and respiration were known to have ceased, for the heart lay exposed so that we were able to observe it, and the windpipe was severed, one end being plugged up. At the end of the fifteen minutes, I started artificial respiration on the dog in the same manner as was used in the case of Mrs. Walter Akens, of Los Angeles. The heart was grasped through the incision and was palpitated by the careful intermittent pressure and relaxation of the hands. In a few minutes the animal began to revive, and had soon become fully alive. When the process of resuscitation was complete the incisions were closed and the dog recovered sufficiently to get up and walk around."

"I have wondered if human beings could not be treated in the same way," concluded Dr. Dallenbach.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY HAS LOST 200 BOOKS

Since 1910 Total of 480 Volumes Have Been Taken and not Returned, Says
Mr. Douglass

Two hundred books, representing, according to Librarian M. E. Douglass, a cash value of at least $300, and bearing titles ranging from Keschwitz's "Commentar zu den Alttestamentarischen Sprachdenkmälern" to Grimm's "Household Tales," were taken from the University Library during 1914 and were neither returned nor accounted for.

A list of missing books that was prepared during Christmas vacation by Miss Margaret Upleger, Assistant Librarian, shows that engineering books were the best represented among the lost volumes.

"In fact," says Mr. Douglass, "our present supply of engineering books is entirely inadequate just because students failed to account for or return books during the year. The change in the books stacks will hereafter materially reduce the number of missing books."

Since 1910, a total of 480 books have been lost. Last year only 47 were missing at the time of the annual inventory. Mr. Douglass believes that a number of the missing books will be returned.

Upon a recent visit to Eugene, one of the Trustees of the Public Library of Seattle, after learning the number of books lost each year by the University Library, said that it represented twice the loss of the Seattle institution, which has more volumes.

The Extension Monitor, published by the Correspondence Department of the University, is now on the press and will be issued in a few days. The Monitor goes free of charge to all correspondence students, and when articles are printed which bear upon the general subjects of interest to high schools, etc., the distribution is more extensive.

Y.W. TO ELECT OFFICERS

Last Meeting to be Held Tuesday at Bungalow, and Miss Mary Mc-
Cornack Will Speak

Miss Mary Gillies, General Secretary of the University Y. W. C. A., makes the following announcement:

"It is hoped that every member of the Y. W. C. A. will be present Tuesday at 4:00 P. M., as this will be the last meeting of the year, and election of officers will be held. At this time Miss Mary McCornack, formerly President of the Eugene Alumnae Association, will give a short talk on "Friendship," and Miss Hopt, of the Pacific Conservatory of Music, will render a solo. Light refreshments will be served.

"At the last meeting, the nominating committee made the following report for new officers: President, Katherine Bridges; Vice President, Claire Raley; Secretary, Marion Reed; and Treasurer, Jewel Tozier. Anyone who may wish to submit other names to be voted upon is at liberty to hand them to Betsy Wootton, chairman of the nominating committee."

STAG MIX IS PLANNED

Men to Celebrate After Examinations
—New Loving Cup
Donated

A big University stag mix is scheduled for Friday night after exams, in Villard Hall. This will be similar to the one given at the beginning of the school year.

"We're going to have one big time," said Charles Koyl, Secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., who is in charge of the festivities. "We'll have a lot of new stunts and the good old ones will be continued. Hot hand will flourish and a new loving cup has been donated to replace the one won by Johnny Beckett. Pre-cup holders, meaning the aforesaid Johnny, are barred from competing. There will be good eats to top off the program, and any man who enjoyed himself at the last mix will have a better time at this one."

Tommy Boylen will probably be Master of Proceedings, and under his rule the cares of exams will be forgotten and joy reign undisturbed.

A field excursion was taken by the class in Geology Saturday morning for the purpose of studying the basalt formations on Skinner's Butte. Various specimens of igneous rock were also gathered by the students on the river near the rock crusher.

The University of Chicago athletic field is now known as Stagg field in recognition of the splendid services of Alonzo Stagg, who for 22 years, since the founding of the University of Chicago, has been in charge of its athletic teams.

Virgil V. Johnson, 36, who for some years was pastor of Grace Baptist Church in the Bronx, New York City, has removed to Rockford, Illinois, to become secretary of the newly organized associated charities of that place.

DR. SCHAFER SETS RECORD IN EXTENSION LECTURES

Dr. Joseph Schafer, head of the History Department, claims the past week has been his record week in Extension work. He says:

"I spoke five different times on four different subjects, aside from taking care of my classes the first four days. During these four days I spoke at the Eugene City Library on "British Imperialism" Wednesday night, and to the students and teachers of the Bible University on "The Relation to the Church of the Rural Life Problem," Thursday afternoon.

"Friday Morning I left for Astoria, and that night addressed an audience which filled the County Court House, on the subject of 'Oregon and Pacific Northwest.' Saturday afternoon I spoke to the Women's Club at Aurora on 'Education and Social Adjustment,' and at 8:00 o'clock that evening on the same theme in Woodburn. After this lecture I managed to get a train south and arrived in Eugene at 1:05 Sunday morning, somewhat the worse for wear, but still fit for business' Monday morning."

EUTAXIANS CHOOSE OFFICERS FOR REMAINDER OF YEAR

Officers for the remainder of the year were elected at the meeting of the Eutaxian Literary Society Tuesday evening, at the Bungalow. Those elected were: President, Beulah Stebno; Vice President, Vaughn McCormick; Secretary, Claire Raley; Treasurer, Helen Johns; Critic, Callie Beck; Sergeant-at-Arms, Lela Cushman. Five names were submitted for membership and passed on by the society.

A recent ruling by the Treasury Department at Washington makes a check on a bank, without money, the same as a promissory note, and as such it must be stamped with a federal revenue stamp accordingly.

Under this decision a check in excess of the amount of money you have in the bank, is commonly known as an overdraft, and must be stamped. Leland Stanford is rapidly becoming one of the large universities of the west coast. Its total enrollment is nearing the 2,000 mark and this fall it admitted 616 freshmen in contrast to 530 freshmen last year.

GERMAN CLUB ELECTS

Shortage of Men in the Society; Two Years of German Needed to be a Member

The German Club held a meeting last week at the Mu Phi Epsilon house, and elected as officers: President, Hazel Ralston; Vice President, Erna Petzold; Secretary, Katherine Bridges; Treasurer, Martin Nelson; Reporter, Selma Baumann.

The semi-monthly program consisted of a piano solo by Ruth Lawrence; reading, Callie Beck; reading, Ruth Wilson; piano solo, Grace Read; and a reading by Selma Baumann.

"The object of this club," said Miss Ralston, "is to foster German spirit and to gain a better knowledge of conversational German. We need new members, and especially is there a shortage of men in the society. The only qualifications are, two years of German, either in the high school or in the University. We want people with lots of spirit and enthusiasm, because everyone must appear upon the program some time during the year."

"The membership now numbers about forty, including three from the University faculty, Dr. F. G. G. Schmidt, Miss Hermione Hawkins and Professor George O'Donnell."

Miss Hawkins will give a lecture on the town of Weimar at the next meeting, which will be in about a month. A matinee dance February 26 is also planned by the "Deutsche Verein."
