

WEATHERFORD IDOL OF SOUTH SAYS CONKLIN

PROFESSORS EXPRESS APPROVAL OF MAN Y. M. C. A. SECURES

GOOD RESULTS ARE EXPECTED

Religion Like Politics and Must be Handled With Care, Remarks W. D. Smith

Several of the professors of the University have expressed their approval of the attempts of the University Y. M. C. A. to secure definite returns from the students through so well known a man as Dr. Weatherford. President Campbell, in speaking of the outlook furnished by the Weatherford meetings, said:

"Weatherford is a man of wide experience and successful work. His work in Southern colleges and universities is especially well known and I am sure he will take well with the students here.

"Undoubtedly, the men of the University will be many times repaid for attending his lectures. A man such as Weatherford, coming from a large field where he has met with unlimited experience, will be a strong factor in forming the opinions of college men along spiritual, moral and intellectual lines."

Professor E. E. DeCou, head of the Mathematics Department, says:

"Students while in college are apt to spend a good portion of their time considering material and physical things, while the spiritual and highly intellectual aspects of life are left untouched. This truly presents a very difficult circumstance for a college man if he wishes to succeed after his undergraduate and graduate work.

"I am fully convinced that by bringing such a splendid man as Dr. Weatherford to the students a great good will be accomplished. Dr. Weatherford has reaped wonderful rewards with the college students of the South, and he can do equally as well here.

"The springs of a man's life are bursting forth in his college career and he is forming his opinions and habits. If them ind of a highly spiritual and intellectual character can pour out to the student spiritual aid, it will divert his mind from the material view, and a most satisfactory diversion will this be."

Dr. W. D. Smith, head of the Geology Department, remarks:

"Religion is like politics; we must be careful how we handle it. But if the Y. M. C. A. can get a good man here, one who will not conflict religions, but do first class spiritual and intellectual aid, something indeed will be accomplished.

"In my opinion, the Y. M. C. A. at Manila, in the Philippine Islands, did more for that community than any other society or organization. If the Y. M. C. A. is behind these Weatherford meetings, they will be uplifting and beneficial."

Dr. E. S. Conklin, head of the Department of Psychology, says:

"Dr. Weatherford is a typical Southerner. He has a splendid character, both socially and intellectually. In the Southern and Eastern states, men are idolized, that is they are looked up to as persons to be respected above everyone else. Weatherford is one of these idols. He has gained the respect and co-operation of thousands of students in the South. Men in the West do not idolize, and I do not know whether Dr. Weatherford will take so unanimously with the students of Oregon, but I believe we will break a tradition and will really idolize this man."

"This work is a certain type of evangelism. The Salvation Army would have no effect on college men

JOURNALISM BULLETINS HAVE WIDE CIRCULATION

Illinois University Recommends "The Choosing of a Calling" to Man Wanting Guide for Son

That the publication of the University of Oregon have more than a local circulation was demonstrated by a letter which Dr. John Straub received recently from a Chicago man. The letter requested a copy of "Choosing a Calling."

The writer of the letter was J. S. Jackson, of 1425 Marquette Street, Chicago. He said he had written to the University of Illinois for information which might help his son, just graduated from high school, and that the University authorities had highly recommended that he obtain a copy of "Choosing a Calling."

"Choosing a Calling" was published last year under the direction of the Department of Journalism. It contained articles written by various members of the University faculty, and was circulated mainly among the high school students of the state.

OREGON WINS THREE SUCCESSIVE GAMES

W. S. C. BITES DUST ONCE AND O. A. C. TWICE IN TUSSELS WITH LEMON YELLOW

STANDING OF THE TEAMS
	W.	L.	P. C.
* Washington	11	1	.916
* Wash. State	9	3	.750
* Whitman	3	4	.428
* Oregon	4	7	.363
* Idaho	5	9	.357
* Oregon Aggies	1	9	.100

By Harry Kuck.

Oregon's basketball team has hit her real stride at last. After getting away to a very inauspicious start, the boys have mounted to fourth place, and if Bezdek's five grab the two remaining games of the season with O. A. C. the name "Oregon" will rest third from the top in the percentage table. If W. S. C. beats Whitman twice, then the Lemon and Yellow need win but one game from "Doc" Stewart to cinch the state collegiate title and third place in the conference race.

After seeing his team beat Washington State 32 to 20 Monday night, Stewart journeyed to Eugene the next day to watch the locals perform against the Aggies. The result was a 29 to 23 Oregon victory, and "Doc" is rather optimistic concerning tonight's struggle.

O. A. C. will present a changed front when hostilities start. Sieberts, who starred against W. S. C., will start at his old forward berth, with Phillips, the "rook," who has been leading the Aggie scoring, as a running mate. Dewey and Captain King will play guards, and either Blagg or Mix will do the jumping, probably the latter.

Coach Bezdek will send the same team against the Aggies that beat them last week. He expects them to repeat. The coach says: "The boys are playing basketball now. We started that fateful trip after a week of cramming and examinations, and it's no wonder they didn't show well. We must win tonight's game. I don't believe in putting it off till Saturday."

First O. A. C. Game

Oregon came from behind again at Corvallis and beat the Aggies in a driving finish by one point—21 to 20.

The game throughout was a trifle hard on nerves. It was full of thrillers and two or three points was the maximum margin.

OREGON OUTPOINTS AGGIES IN DEBATE

NEGATIVE DUO WINS UNANIMOUS DECISION, BUT ROADSTERS LOSE TWO TO ONE

VERBAL DUM-DUMS FLY THICK

Question of Government Ownership of Railroads is Bone of Contention Between Colleges

Oregon split 50-50 with Oregon Agricultural College last night in the first double debate ever held between the two institutions.

Although Coach Prescott's wranglers did not succeed in winning both events, they nosed out the Aggies in the matter of points, receiving four of the total of six votes cast by the judges.

With an entirely new and unexpected line of argument to refute, the negative team, composed of Peter Crockatt and Victor Morris, won an unanimous decision over R. R. Reichart and E. H. Reichart, of O. A. C., on the home rostrum.

The question, "Resolved, that the government should own and operate all railroads in continental United States; constitutionality waived," was introduced by Prof. C. E. Edmondson, acting as chairman. The judges were A. C. Schmitt, of Albany; W. R. Rutherford, of McMinnville; and Dr. F. W. Ogburn, of Reed College.

The verbal broil here was declared to be the most spirited heard in Villard in many years. The affirmative team maintained that government ownership is the panacea for the present ills of railroad operation in the United States. The negative arguers assailed government ownership as impracticable and provocative of sectionalism, holding that the interstate commerce commission should be allowed to work out the problem along its present line.

While Crockatt and Morris were out-talking the Corvallis emissaries here, Nicholas Jauregui and Fred Hardesty were putting up a strong argument in the stronghold of Aggie-dom, as is shown by the close decision. Hardesty and Jauregui defended the affirmative of the question.

President W. F. Foster, of Reed College, was the judge who decided in Oregon's favor at Corvallis. The majority was composed of Marshall N. Dana, of the Portland Journal, and Rev. William Elliott, of Portland. The successful Aggie duo was composed of Hiram Currey and G. R. Horner.

GRADUATE STUDENTS

There will be a "graduate section in the "Oregonana" this year. All graduate students, including those who entered as Seniors last fall and are now doing graduate work, are asked to hand in pictures for Oregonana cuts, to Mrs. Lane, Steward's office, by Friday, March 12, with the major subject, former college fraternity and any honors attained since becoming a graduate student. Cabinet sized pictures with dark background are preferred.

All graduate students are requested to meet in Professor DeCou's room, Villard Hall, Tuesday at 4:00 o'clock.

Two new Zeiss microscopes have been received by the Department of Geology. A number of plane tables and compasses for field work are also among the new lot of equipment received by Dr. W. D. Smith, head of the department.

Oregon Club party scheduled for March 13 has been postponed.

STUDENTS TURN DOWN SUBSIDY FOR OREGANA

OTHER AMENDMENTS SUCCESSFUL IN SPECIAL BALLOTING LAST WEDNESDAY

ALL THREE VOTES DECISIVE

Soccer and Glee Club Propositions Get Two-Thirds Easily; Oregonana Fails to get Majority

The Oregonana appropriation amendment, fathered by the Junior class, was defeated at the special election held last Wednesday, by a vote of 189 to 206. The amendment which provided for the awarding of "O's" to the Junior and Senior members of the Women's Glee Club was passed by a vote of 306 to 59. Soccer is now a Student Body activity, for this amendment also passed by a vote of 306 to 89.

William Holt, manager of this year's Oregonana, makes the following statement in regard to future action by the Oregonana committee:

"It is evident from the vote that the Student Body does not care for space in the Oregonana; at least, that it does not care for it enough to pay for it, and we intend to go ahead and leave it out, as we don't feel able to give space to it this year.

"The Junior class has given us instructions to make the book come out even, and we intend to do this as far as possible without the necessity of levying an individual tax on the members."

While soccer has been voted a Student Body activity, letters and sweaters are not to be given to members of the team. However, the graduate manager, with the authorization of the Executive Committee, is empowered to schedule any games without further reference to the Student Body.

At the special Student Body meeting held in Villard Hall just preceding the election last Wednesday, James Donald announced that the li-

EX-STUDENTS AND BRIDE MAKE GOOD ON STAGE

Hal Grady and Harriet Harlow May be Vernon and Irene Castle of West

Harold Grady, ex-'15, and Harriet Harlow, appeared before the manager of the Pantages Circuit some time ago and said: "We want to get married, but before we do, work must be assured us. The manager watched them dance, and after they finished hired them for a 14-week engagement—at $200 a week.

The young couple came to Eugene last Sunday and appeared at the Rex Monday and Tuesday, showing the modern society dances.

Grady has had some experience on the stage. The beginning of his Junior year at Oregon University, he received a cable from Pete Burns (a University of Washington man), to meet him in New York. Grady left Oregon.

He met Racey Kilmer, of Spokane, and Burns, in New York. They joined the Orpheum Circuit, putting on a sketch called "Three Varsity Fellows." They remained on the circuit for about a year and a half.

From Eugene Mr. and Mrs. Grady go to Spokane, from there to Salt Lake, and then to New York.

LAWYERS MAY GET THREE YEAR SENTENCE AT OREGON

"We want to enlarge the Law Department next year," says Dr. E. W. Hope, of the Law Department. "I think one professor at least should be added, and that the course should be made one year longer."

The Administration Department advises that a canvass be made to ascertain the exact number of students desiring to take up law and will advise the Board of Regents, who meet March 13, of the results of their investigation. The inquiry is being made with a view of adding one year to the Law School course at the University, making a total of three years here.

THIRTY CANDIDATES OUT FOR BASEBALL

ALL KINDS OF MEN SEEN AT FIRST PRACTICE ON NEW DIAMOND

MANY OLD STARS SHOW UP

Four Vacancies to be Filled—Outlook Not the Best—But Hopes Run High

By Rex Kay. They're at the pole. Promptly at 3:00 o'clock Monday afternoon 30 candidates answered to the beck of Coach Bezdek and marched out to the new baseball diamond. Bezdek has ordered practice to be held every day from now on.

All kinds of men, giants and mid-gets, were on hand. Captain Johnnie Welch was on deck with all of the other veterans in college. Dick Nelson has really returned and was also among those present. Anse Cornell was on hand and the "bum" knee seems to be no longer "bum." Sam Liewellen, Bill Tuerck, M. Bigbee, all veterans, came out with their well known stock of pep and started the pace for the new recruits.

"Skeeter" and Lyle Bigbee were the only members of the veteran squad who were among those missing. Neither of these men will report for baseball until after the basketball season is over. In the meantime, neither need worry much about losing out—but of course a place is never closed to competition, and some of the "bushers" are said to be thinking fast.

Before the grind started, Coach Bezdek warned all of the men to take it easy in every way for a few days, and not overdo things on the start. Every man was warned to begin training and guard against anything which might tend to give him a bad start.

Batting practice was the curtain raiser. The new field was too heavy and wet for use, so the open field near by was put into use. Very light hitting was the order and the men directed their attention to the matter of form and getting onto the feel of the stick.

Coach Bezdek took the prospective catchers aside and gave them some instruction along the order of foot work and shifting of position. In throwing care was used that no wings went out of commission. "Handle with care" is to be the motto for a few days.

"I am quite well satisfied with the turnout yesterday," said Coach Bezdek. "As compared to last year's squad, the men look lots lighter and perhaps not so good on the start, but size doesn't mean a whole lot with ball players. Some of the new men have good reputations back of them, but that means nothing to me more than that we will look them over with the rest of the fellows who come out."

"I think we will have a little game about Saturday, then we will begin to see who is who."

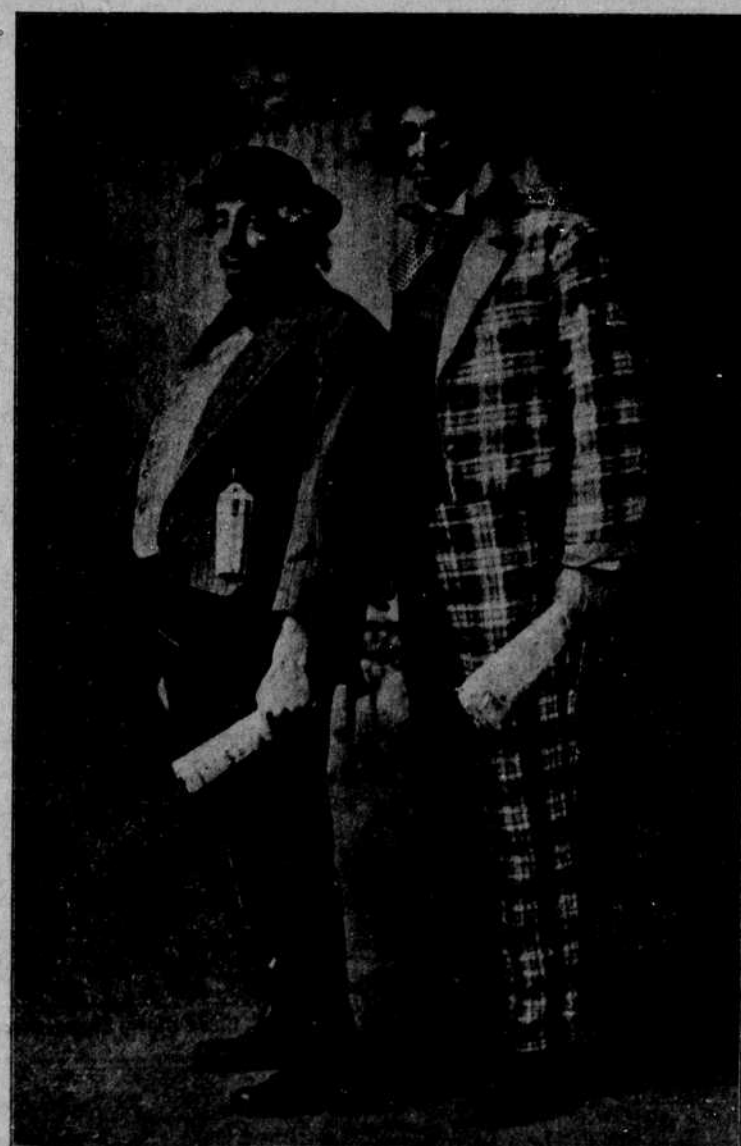

Some of the veterans are expressing the opinion that the outlook is not the best that Oregon has ever had by any means, but all seem confident that there is no real good reason for any real fan to start a calamity howl as yet.

"You can't tell what will happen before the season is over," said Captain Welch. "There are lots of men out and I am expecting things to take on shape before long, but what some of these men can do is still to be seen. It will be a hard year and there will be lots of hard work for us."

Liewellen, Huntington and Earl are three husky men, all out for the job behind the bat. All have had quite a bit of experience and ought to make a strong list of catchers. All have
